Today

Many Happy Returns.
The Bigger the Better.
Wives of Convenience.
Big Boys and Girls.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

YESTERDAY President Coolidge and his wife celebrated the twenty-third anniversary of their wedding. For the first time their son, John, now working for a railroad, was not at home.

The nation wishes them many more anniversaries, with thanks to the President for good hard work and much common sense at a difficult time in the country's history, and thanks to Mrs. Coolidge for taking care of the President and representing American women so admirably in the White House.

IN BRITAIN the Anglo-Persian and Dutch Shell oil companies are gradually uniting. Wise Britain intends to build up an oil power strong enough to fight the world, and especially Standard Oil of America.

THIS country, some years ago, horrified to discover that Standard Oil was worth a thousand million dollars, chopped it up into little pieces. Now the pieces are worth ten times as much as the old Mamma Octopus was worth.

Government should supervise and control business, not foolishly interfere with its growth by treating it as Chinese used to treat the feet of their daughters.

The motto of the United States in everything should be, "the BIGGER THE BETTER."

THE REV. DR. POLING, of the Fifth Avenue Marble Collegiate church in New York, is horrified, as he well may be, by lack of morality aboard some barges in the Hudson river.

The men are paid too little, forcing 16 to live in one cabin, which is bad enough.

But there is worse. On some barges, says the Rev. Dr. Poling, "wives of convenience are supplied to the men." They are not real wives.

AMERICANS are not going backward, PHYSICALLY, at least. Girls are taller and stronger than ever. And among 100 candidates reporting for freshman crew practice at Cornell yesterday, 48 were 6 feet tall; a good sign.

A well-balanced body, of good size, about 6 feet, is the right sort.

In old days, a Napoleon had to be short. If he had been a little taller he would have been killed by the first of the bullets that went an inch above his head.

NO WONDER American boys and girls grow. The nation's food bill is TWENTY-THREE THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS.

Forty-seven thousand, nine hundred and eighty-five factories of different kinds turn out food products, assisted by 20,000,000 farms. And 22 per cent of the food plants produce nine-tenths of the food products. Shiver at that, if you dread monopoly.

IT IS a rich country that can afford to eat twenty-three billions worth of food in a year. Much of it, unfortunately, is wasted.

This country, after all its spending for food, clothing and other necessities, has a "social surplus" of TEN THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS, more than the country needs for its living. That is what builds up values, savings bank accounts and Wall Street prices.

DR. GRATZ, editor of the Epworth Herald, blames American parents for this "unspanked" generation. Says he:

"The youth of today learns lessons of banditry, petting, free love and divorce at the feet of the older generation."

That's a little severe, but parents might find a way to keep young children from smoking, to say nothing of drinking vile bootleg poisons.

Inability of American parents to control their children is a danger to the next generation.

WHAT is the meaning of a clear desk? The answer depends on the man sitting at the desk. John D. Rockefeller "wanted to see a man with his feet on a clear desk, busy thinking up new plans to make money for Standard Oil."

Mr. Rockefeller himself may have had an untidy desk. A man of his power certainly tried to do more than any one man could do.

Never make a hard and fast rule about your employe's desk, clear or littered, or about anything else. Hard and fast rules have caused many employers to lose good men.

IT WAS the night before the first "World's Series" game, in New York, and four thousand sat in line through the darkness, waiting to get a good seat. That is more trouble than a majority of the 4,000 would have taken to get a job, a better job, or to improve their minds.

Cut in Buses Asked

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

Charging that the 25-cent bus fare in Pittsburgh is excessive, the North Side Chamber of Commerce last night adopted resolutions urging a fare reduction by the Philadelphia Company, operating the bus lines.

Action by the city of Pittsburgh on the 25-cent bus fares must originate with the City Council, according to Charles H. Lang, special assistant city solicitor. The law department is powerless to act in a case which would involve large expenditures of public money without authorization.

"The question of the 25-cent bus fares has not been under consideration because the matter has not been brought to our attention by Council," he said.

Mr. Lang pointed out that the burden of proof would rest with the city if it should complain to the Public Service Commission about the rates.

Mr. Lang has been counsel for the city in all of its recent actions against public utility companies. He has been in charge of both the gas and the water rate cases.

Thus far the city councilmen have been placidly allowing the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company to overcharge the public. Council is the only part of the city government which has the power to act against the bus company.

North Side Graft Ring Grip Probed

FAULKNER FACING JURY QUIZ

Is there an organized graft system in Allegheny county? Who sells booze to the roadhouses, the saloons and the joints? Who sells "protection?" And who gets the plunder?

Answers to these vital questions were being sought today as District Attorney Gardner carried on the grand jury investigation of charges by John J. Verona, the anti-administration Hill district leader, that Mayor Kline's administration reeks with graft.

There were 26 witnesses being called one by one. They included Police Captain Nuncie Marino, of the East End, and numerous proprietors of roadhouses, saloons and clubs.

Capt. Marino, formerly was a lieutenant of police in the North Side and as such, was among those mentioned in the letter which District Attorney Gardner received signed "A Citizen." In the letter the writer submitted allegations concerning conditions in the North Side.

Marino was smiling when he left the grand jury room after testifying for only five minutes. It was assumed his testimony dealt with the North Side.

Capt. Harry Mellon, of the Penn avenue police district, who arrested Alderman Verona during a raid on McCaffrey's Smallman street hotel, was called after the airing of the Verona charges. Chester Johnston, of 4210 Penn avenue, also was called.

Matthew Frezonebesky, of 114 Grant avenue, Millvale, who was

GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER

FAVOR HOOVER; NOT OPPOSED TO SMITH

—W. R. HEARST

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—William Randolph Hearst, returning from Europe on the Berengaria today, said he was "inclined" to favor Herbert Hoover for President "simply on the basis of the continuation of the administrative system which seems to have been very successful and of benefit to the country."

"I am really not opposed to Gov. Smith," the publisher asserted, "but I am inclined to favor the present administrative system."

He reiterated statements on the political situation made while he was abroad and said his chain of newspapers would not "go deeply into politics at all, but print the news as impartially as we can."

FOUR HURT IN CRASH NEAR JOHNSTOWN

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 5.—(AP.)—Four persons were injured, one seriously, in an automobile collision on the William Penn highway, near here, yesterday. Roy and Kenneth Elicker, brothers, of Dayton, O., on their way to York, Pa., were arrested. Marlin Owens, 69, of Belsano, with his wife and their daughter, Leora, 25, and Nona Edwards, 21, were hurt.

58,000 SEE SECOND GAME

By JAMES J. LONG,
Staff Correspondent.

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—A rather apathetic crowd of approximately 58,000 witnessed the second game of the world series between the Yankees and the Cardinals here today.

Although arrangements had been made to accommodate a crowd greater than the record number of 63,000, the threatening weather kept today's attendance below that of yesterday, when approximately 61,000 witnessed the opening game.

And of the 58,000 in the stadium, about 99 per cent appeared to view this second fight of the series as "just another ball game." Ordinary plays occasioned no cheering whatsoever, and sparkling fielding and batting feats were rewarded with no more than mild ripples of applause.

Before the Yankees came out for the batting practice, they held a special meeting in the clubhouse and raised a purse of $500 among themselves to be presented to the widow of Urban Shocker, former New York pitcher, who died recently.

RABBIT HANDICAPPED

Rabbit Maranville went through the fielding practice with the index finger of his left hand taped up. A batted ball yesterday aggravated an injury suffered two weeks ago, but the Rabbit said it would not interfere with his playing.

After today's game both teams will leave for St. Louis where the third contest of the series will be

GEHRIG CLOUTS HOME RUN

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The New York Yankees, American League champions, became two up on the St. Louis Cardinals, National League champions, when they won the second game of the world series here this afternoon.

George Pipgras started on the mound for New York and Grover Cleveland Alexander for St. Louis.

Gehrig hit a home run with Durst and Ruth on base in the first inning. The two teams leave for St. Louis tonight where the series will be resumed Sunday. The game in detail:

FIRST INNING

CARDINALS—Douthit grounded to Gehrig. High walked. Frisch walked. Bottomley fouled to Bengough. Hafey struck out.

YANKEES—Durst singled to right. Koenig flied to Hafey. Ruth walked. Gehrig hit a home run into the right field bleachers, scoring behind Durst and Ruth. Meusel was called out on strikes. Alexander tossed out Lazzeri. Three runs, two hits.

SECOND INNING

CARDINALS — Harper walked. Wilson doubled to right center, scoring Harper. Maranville singled to right, Harper stopping at third. Alexander grounded to Lazzeri, who threw high to Gehrig, Wilson scoring and Maranville taking third. Alex reached first. Douthit grounded into a double play, Koenig to Lazzeri to Gehrig, Maranville scoring. High popped to Robertson. Three runs, two hits, one error.

YANKEES—Robertson grounded to Bottomley. Bengough walked. Pipgras sacrificed, Wilson to Bottomley. Durst singled to center, scoring Bengough. Koenig flied to Frisch. One run, one hit.

THIRD INNING

CARDINALS—Frisch singled off Pipgras' glove. Frisch stole second. Bottomley struck out. Koenig threw out Hafey as Frisch took third. Harper fanned. One hit.

YANKEES—Ruth singled to center. Gehrig walked. Meusel got a ground rule double in the stands, scoring Ruth, Gehrig taking third. High threw out Lazzeri, the runners holding their bases. Robertson walked, filling the bases. Bengough singled to right, scoring Gehrig, and leaving the bases full. Alexander was taken out and Mitchell sent to the mound. Pipgras was hit on the leg with a pitched ball, forcing in Meusel. Paschal batted for Durst and singled to right center, scoring Robertson, but Bengough was out at the plate, Douthit to Frisch to Wilson. Pipgras reached second. Koenig popped to Bottomley. Four runs, four hits.

FOURTH INNING

CARDINALS—Wilson was out, Pipgras to Gehrig. Maranville was safe on Koenig's error. Mitchell flied to Koenig, who made a thrilling catch in short left. Douthit fouled to Gehrig. One error.

YANKEES—Ruth doubled to deep center. Gehrig flied to Douthit. Meusel flied to Hafey. Mitchell tossed out Lazzeri. One hit.

FIFTH INNING

CARDINALS — Robertson threw out High. Frisch was called out on strikes. Bottomley fanned.

YANKEES — Frisch threw out Robertson. Bengough popped to Frisch. Pipgras popped to Maranville.

SIXTH INNING

CARDINALS—Hafey flied to Meusel. Harper flied to Ruth. Wilson grounded to Gehrig.

YANKEES—Paschal walked. Koenig struck out. Ruth struck out. Gehrig flied to Douthit.

SEVENTH INNING

CARDINALS—Maranville struck out. Mitchell popped to Robertson. Douthit flied to Paschal.

YANKEES—Meusel walked. Meusel stole second. Lazzeri sacrificed and both runners were safe when Mitchell fumbled the ball. Dugan batted for Robertson and flied to Harper, Meusel scoring after the catch. Bengough grounded into a double play, Frisch to Maranville to Bottomley. One run, one error.

EIGHTH INNING

CARDINALS — Dugan went to third and Durocher to second for the Yankees. High popped to Gehrig. Frisch singled to center. Bottomley struck out for the third time. Frisch stole second. Hafey flied to Meusel. One hit.

YANKEES — Wilson tossed out Pipgras. Paschal popped to Wilson. Koenig flied to Hafey.

NINTH INNING

YANKEES—Unplayed.

Juror Loses Son

Charles Lutz, a farmer of Mifflin township, and a member of a murder jury in Criminal Court, returned with the other 11 jurors from their deliberations today—and learned that his son had been killed during his absence. Lutz collapsed. The verdict he had helped to formulate was acquittal.

The son, John Lutz, was killed yesterday when a tractor with which he was plowing overturned. The mother, ill in their home, saw the tragedy and collapsed in trying to reach her son.

After the acquittal verdict was read, visiting Judge J. Frank Graff called Lutz into his chambers and told him. Lutz collapsed into the arms of a court attache.

Lutz helped to acquit Charles Evans, Negro, charged with murder following the killing of Frank Fisher, a rent collector, in the Hill district last January.

BUTLER-PITTSBURGH BUS PERMIT ASKED

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—Welsh's Bus Transportation Company has made application to the Public Service Commission for the right to operate a bus service between Butler and Pittsburgh, via Bakerstown, over Highway Route No. 8.

WOUNDED NEGRO DIES; POLICE SEEK WOMAN

Robert Bell, 35, a Negro, of 1105 Clark street, died last night in Mercy Hospital of bullet wounds received September 23, when shot during a quarrel in his home. A Negro woman is being sought by police in connection with the shooting.

1 Slain by Ax, 1 by Shovel

GREENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—State police coped with two murder mysteries in Westmoreland county and a probable fatal shooting today, following an outbreak of crime last night.

Troopers are seeking Charles Keefer, 40, of Reduction, and an unidentified woman for the slaying of an unidentified white man near the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks near West Newton early today. Jealousy, state police believe, was the cause of the murder. The man's head had been crushed with a hammer. Keefer, police say, had been living in a shanty with the woman and the victim objected.

The head battered by a shovel, the body of Sam Fillus, 35, of New Kensington, was found in his automobile on the Serpentine road near Vandergrift today. He apparently had been struck from behind.

When Charles Martina, 35, of Scottdale, returned home from work this morning unexpectedly he found his wife with Tony Danco, police say. Martina fired a shotgun point-blank at Danco, nearly tearing his right arm off. Amputation was necessary at Mt. Pleasant Memorial Hospital, where his condition is critical. Troopers are hunting Martina.

SMITH AGAIN TO DENOUNCE "WHISPERING"

Even Peanuts and Pop! :-: Crowds Swarm Sun-Telegraph's Grandstand :-: Come to the Game Today!

Once more today the crowds that swarm to the triangle before the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Building will have comfortable seats to watch the progress of the second game of the world series. It was such a delirious baseball crowd yesterday that venders from all around were attracted and supplied peanuts and popcorn and pop while the Sun-Telegraph's scoreboard kept step-by-step with the opening series game between the Yanks and Cards. The square in front of the Sun-Telegraph Building has been set aside for fans' use and no traffic passes through it. Here are two views of yesterday's crowd, one of which shows the electric scoreboard, in full sight of all who attended the baseball party, as it operated. Today's game starts at 1:30 o'clock.

PGH. FOLK ADD $23,000 TO G. O. P. WAR CHEST

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Twelve Pittsburghers have contributed an additional sum of $23,000 to the war chest of the Republican National Committee, according to the latest report of campaign receipts and disbursements filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives.

Already the Republican National Committee has acknowledged approximately $100,000 in contributions from supporters of the Hoover-Curtis ticket in the city, with Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon and several other big guns of the party yet to be heard from.

Miss Helen Clay Frick topped the new list of Pittsburghers with a contribution of $5,000. The others included H. C. McEldowney, $2,000; R. B. Mellon, $2,000; Roy A. Hunt, 2,000; George R. Gibbons, $2,000; George R. Clapp, $2,000; R. E. Withers, $2,000; Alex Laughlin, $2,000; Henry N. Reed, $1,000; J. W. Oliver, $1,000; William C. McKinney, $1,000, and Ralph E. Flinn, $1,000.

Outside of Pittsburgh only two other contributions were acknowledged for the state of Pennsylvania: Albert C. Lehman, of Blaw-Knox, $1,000, and Vernon F. Taylor, of Indiana, Pa., $1,000.

Contributions from other sections of the state have been conspicuous by their absence since the first report was filed more than a month ago. Only a few have come from Philadelphia, while the others have been scattered and moderate. The committee did not include in its report the names of those making donations of less than $1,000 this time.

The report revealed that during the month of September collections amounted to $1,184,618.07, bringing the total to date to September 30 to $1,733,289.70. Disbursements to date have been $1,406,834.07, it was reported.

58,000 SEE SECOND GAME

played on Sunday. No game is scheduled for tomorrow as the rival clubs will be traveling during the day on the long jump to the Mound City.

Douthit, the first to face Pipgras, sent a grounder to Gehrig, who retired him at first unassisted. After fouling off a number of pitches, High drew a base on balls. Frisch also walked.

PIPGRAS WILD

Pipgras was wild and unsteady. He recovered his grip, however, and made Bottomley foul out to Bengough. Hafey, who struck out twice yesterday, fanned again. Pipgras delivered so many wide balls and such large number of fouls were knocked when he put it over that it required 17 minutes to play the first half of the first inning.

Durst opened for the Yankees with a line single to center. Frisch attempted a one-hand jumping catch, but only succeeded in slowing up the ball. Koenig flied to Hafey just inside the left field line. Ruth drew a pass and the crowd booed, although the walk was not intentional. Gehrig put the New York rooters into an uproar by smashing a home run into the seats in deep right center. Durst and Ruth scoring ahead of him. Meusel struck out. Lazzeri was easy for Alexander and Bottomley.

CARDS TIE THE COUNT

Harper opened the second for St. Louis by getting a base on balls. Wilson doubled to right center, scoring Harper. Maranville followed with a sharp single to right, Wilson stopping on third. Alexander was safe at first on Lazzeri's wild throw, Wilson scoring on the error and Maranville taking third. Douthit hit into a double play from Koenig to Lazzeri to Gehrig, Maranville scoring with the tying run. High popped to Robertson for the third out.

Robertson, the first batter up for the Yankees, grounded out to Bottomley. Bengough walked. Pipgras sacrificed, Wilson to Bottomley. Durst singled sharply to left center for his second hit, scoring Bengough, and putting the Yankees again in the lead. Koenig flied to Frisch, ending the inning.

ALEXANDER ROUTED

Frisch began the third for St. Louis with a single, which was too hot for Pipgras to handle. The Yankee pitcher slowed up the smash and deflected it to Lazzeri and the latter's throw to first was too late. Frisch then stole second. Bottomley struck out. Hafey went out, Koenig to Gehrig, Frisch taking third on the play. Harper met the same fate as Bottomley and went down on strikes, the third one being called. Pipgras had taken a big brace in this inning and fanned two of the Cardinals' best hitters.

Ruth began New York's half with a single past second. Gehrig walked. Meusel's fly fell safe just inside the foul line in left field for a two-bagger, Ruth scoring and Gehrig taking third. Lazzeri was thrown out at first by High, the other runners being forced to hold their bases. Robertson waited and walked, filling the bases. Bengough singled to right, scoring Gehrig, leaving the bases full. Alexander was taken out of the box. Clarence Mitchell, left-hand spitballer, went in to pitch for the Cardinals. Out of 17 men who faced Alexander, 10 got on bases through hits or walks.

MITCHELL GETS CHANCE

Mitchell began by hitting Pipgras, forcing in Meusel. Durst being a left-hand hitter, Paschal was sent up in his place. Paschal singled to right center, scoring Robertson, but Bengough also attempted to score and was out at the plate, Douthit to Wilson. Pipgras held second. Koenig popped to Bottomley. Paschal went to center field for the Yankees.

Pipgras tossed Wilson out. Maranville was safe at first on Koenig's error. Koenig caught Mitchell's fly while on the run in short left field. Douthit fouled out to Gehrig.

RUTH HITS AGAIN

Ruth started the fourth inning by smashing a double to center for his fifth hit of the series and his third two-bagger. His batting average up to date is .823. Gehrig flied to Douthit, Ruth holding second. Meusel sent a fly to Hafey in deep left. Ruth again was prevented from advancing. Mitchell broke down Lazzeri's rap and threw him out at first. It was the first inning in which the Yankees had failed to score.

Robertson made a great diving stop of High's smash and threw him out at first. Frisch was called out on strikes. Bottomley also struck out, this being his second whiff in succession. Pipgras had tightened up and was pitching great ball.

RELIEF HURLER STARS

Robertson was retired by Frisch and Bottomley, to open New York's half of the fifth. Bengough flied to Frisch in short right center. Pipgras popped to Maranville.

Hafey started the sixth with a high fly to Meusel. Harper soared to Ruth. Wilson grounded to Gehrig.

Paschal, leading off for New York in the sixth, went to first on balls. Koenig struck out. Ruth also was called out on strikes. Gehrig flied to Douthit in deep center. The crowd and the rooters were bemoaning the fact that McKechnie had not started Mitchell instead of Alexander.

Girl Saved, Kidnaper Escapes

James Smith, 33, of 551 Smith way, East End, was searching for his 7-year-old daughter who had been kidnaped last night when a sharp, piercing cry reached his ears.

Hurrying to a secluded wooded section in Rosedale street, he saw the kidnaper grappling with the child. The father pointed a revolver at the man and pulled the trigger. The gun jammed, failed to discharge, and the kidnaper fled.

Police were searching for him today. The only tangible clue they have is a cap the fugitive dropped.

The man had accosted little Freda Smith and her playmates a half hour earlier and asked to be directed to Wilkinsburg private hospital. He took Freda by the hand. Her playmates fled and told their parents. A posse was organized.

Freda's shoulder was bruised by the kidnaper's grasp. Otherwise she escaped injury.

Jackrabbit Leaps Into Auto; Movie Director Hurt

CEDAR CITY, Utah, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—Raoul Walsh, prominent Hollywood motion picture director, suffered serious injury to one eye and cuts about the face when a jackrabbit, blinded by headlight glare, leaped through the windshield of the Walsh automobile 15 miles south of here last night. Mrs. Walsh, who was driving the machine from Zion National Park to Cedar City, was not injured. Walsh will be transferred to a salt Lake City hospital today.

Tomorrow Last Day to Register for Election

TOMORROW the citizens of Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne, Clairton and all other cities in Pennsylvania will have their final opportunity to register for participation in the climax of the Hoover-Smith battle on election day, November 6.

To accommodate voters desiring to procure the tax receipts needed to register and vote, the office of Delinquent Tax Collector Walter J. Christy will be kept open until 10 o'clock tonight and tomorrow night. Tomorrow is the last day to obtain tax receipts for voting this year.

HOWE BRANDS G. O. P. LEADERS COWARDS

Republican ward leaders who are "too cowardly to wear Hoover buttons, but obtain all the patronage they want at the courthouse and city hall," were excoriated today by Assemblyman George F. Howe, of Clairton.

It has been no secret, since the presidential campaign opened, that in certain city wards, leaders have made no effort to arouse sentiment for the Republican presidential hope. In wards that are sopping wet, there is strong Smith sentiment among many payrollers and others who depend on Republican patronage for their daily bread and the "sinews" to sustain them when age dulls their political eyes and ears. Their apathy toward Hoover's interests is explained by them on the ground that the presidential election means nothing at all, and that they cannot jeopardize the support they hope to win in the fight for Mayor and other city offices in 1929, by whooping for Hoover.

Here is what Representative Howe said—and how:

"These ward leaders are so cowardly," said Howe, "that they do not even wear Hoover buttons. And that is not all. Go up into the courthouse, look over the men holding good jobs there and see how many of them are not wearing Hoover buttons.

"At the same time the ward leaders I am talking about go up to the courthouse and to city hall and get all the patronage they want while we out in the country districts get practically nothing."

$1,000,000 MEMORIAL FOR RASKOB'S SON

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—The memory of the late William S. Raskob II, son of Chairman John J. Raskob, of the Democratic National Committee, killed in an automobile accident last July, is to be perpetuated in a foundation for the relief and assistance of needy children. Mr. Raskob announced that the "Bill" Raskob Foundation, a charter for which was granted yesterday by the Delaware State Department today, will have $1,000,000 to spend as a memorial to the generous nature of his son.

EX-TEACHER AT ALTOONA AGAIN ASKS OHIO DIVORCE

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 5.—(AP.)—Harold Compton, former Altoona High School music instructor, filed his second suit for divorce against Edna Compton, of Altoona, here yesterday. The first suit was dismissed a week ago because Compton had not been a resident of the state for one year. The Comptons were married at Sandusky, O., September 1, 1927. Compton claimed his wife charged him with intimacy with his pupils and threw knives and dishes at him.

Women Politicians Free in Gaming Charge

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—Fourteen women, declared to be political leaders here, arrested on gambling charges in a police raid on a tea room, were dismissed by Police Judge John H. Morgan with a reprimand to the officers for arresting them without evidence that they had actually bet on a horse race pool.

S. W. Allen, proprietor of the raided tea room, was held on a charge of keeping a gambling house. The women spent 45 minutes in a city jail cell before Allen furnished bail of $25 each. He was released on $100 bail.

Death Car Driver Held

Clair Lingafelt, 7128 Mt. Vernon street, alleged hit-and-run driver, was held on a manslaughter charge by a coroner's jury today following an inquest into the death of William G. Wolfe, Sr., of 3002 Laketon road, Penn township.

Wolf was struck and killed in Frankstown road, on September 23, last. According to testimony, Lingafelt did not stop. He returned later and saw the body in the road, then drove away to get another auto to take the body to a hospital. When he returned Wolfe had been taken to Columbia Hospital by others. He died a short time later.

JURY PROBES N. S. GRAFT

jailed last night for not answering a summons, was arraigned before Judge James M. Drew today. He explained that he thought the subpena called for his presence in Federal Court and that he had gone there. He was discharged, but ordered to pay the costs of his arrest—a few dollars. Another witness, Stanley Kernsner, of 2332 Tustin street, appeared voluntarily today with the explanation that the subpena had not been served on him personally.

MAY QUIZ FAULKNER

If District Attorney Gardner carries through intentions he expressed yesterday, Police Inspector Charles Faulkner, several of his subordinates and Alderman Ray Snyder will be asked to tell what they know of booze rackets, slot machines and protected gambling in Faulkner's district—the North Side.

Subpenas were to have been issued for these men as a sequel to a letter sent to Gardner by a "Citizen," in which the anonymous writer gave addresses of alleged protected gambling houses and linked them with police officials. In this connection, Fritz Roehler, Troy Hill saloon keeper, who boasted of his independance as a racketeer, probably will be recalled.

OTHER WITNESSES

The witnesses who were in the waiting room today to tell what they knew of graft collusion, besides Capt. Marino, were: Charles Caldwell, 205 Electric avenue, East Pittsburgh; Gerry Batto, 140 Middle street, Wilmerding; Joseph Feldman, Versailles; Edward W. Flynn, 415 East North avenue; Edward Quinn, East Ohio street; George Miller, steward of Carnegie Moose Club; Fred Bochert, 36 Greenbush street; William Sterling, steward Elizabeth Moose Club; Thomas Gault, Adrian street, McKees Rocks, saloonkeeper; John V. Bucher, 1927 Beaver avenue; Albert Shaw, Hays borough; James Matthews, Cheswick; Albert Reisdorf, 3014 Landis street, Sheraden; Fred Etter, West View Hotel; Albert J. Sippel, steward of Allentown Turners, 915 Eureka street; —— McLaughlin and —— Wilson, of Homeville; Charles H. Sauers, proprietor of Five-Mile House, West View; Patsy Touro, 6359 Penn axenue; Justice of the Peace James Joyce, of Wall; Jack Sartrat, proprietor of Red Tile Inn, Bethel township; Paul McDonald, 2171½ Atwood street; John Boyle, 1211 Penn avenue; Frank Pelish, 3325 Penn avenue; Mike Dimpfel, of Dimpfel's Inn, Spring Garden road, and Hugh Lyle, of 4410 Penn avenue.

Robert Murray, Republican chairman of the Twenty-third Ward, was quizzed late yesterday by the jurors in connection with the letter. Gardner announced he had found nothing to link Murray with any "racket," and that the North Side chairman had not been incriminated by testimony of any previous witness.

NEXT WEEK BIG WEEK

Just how many indictments may be returned, Gardner was unable to say last night. He said this would be impossible to state, inasmuch as he expects to continue the probe for almost a month to get at the bottom of the alleged vice and graft in the city and county. Next week promises to be the big week of the probe, he said, and everything indicates that witnesses of prominence will be called for questioning.

From an examination of Verona's charges that the Kline administration has been receiving $13,000 a week from racketeers in return for vice privileges, Gardner has broadened the probe's scope to include the entire county.

McKeesport and Versailles furnished a quota of witnesses yesterday. Two were called from Millvale. From the East End came two proprietors of "gin mills," and the former keeper of a gambling house that catered briefly but lavishly to "come-ons" in East Liberty. A dozen saloonkeepers composed delegations from the North Side and the Hill.

Chief George W. Murren, of the county detective bureau, said between 50 and 60 subpenas have been issued for persons to appear as witnesses today. In all yesterday, 31 witnesses were visitors to the grand jury room.

SMITH AGAIN TO RAP "WHISPERING"

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Gov. Smith's plans to invade the Southern border states, which have been occupying most of his attention since his return from the West, have provided some knotty problems in the matter of arrangements, and announcement of the definite itinerary may be delayed a few days.

The Governor, however, plans to leave Albany early next week. As heretofore indicated, his itinerary will probably embrace Raleigh, N. C.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Louisville, Ky.; Sedalia, Mo., and Chicago. Another engagement in Indiana or Ohio is still uncertain, with the possibility that he will not speak in either state. The tentative program is still subject to change.

CHARGE HAMPERING

For strategical reasons, the Democratic schedule makers are keeping their plans strictly to themselves until every date is final and definite. This, they say, has been necessitated by past experiences wherein considerable difficulty has been met in the renting of halls and making radio arrangements, once it became known that Gov. Smith was considering a certain location on a certain date. They do not publicly charge the Republicans with obstructionist tactics, but they do so privately.

Neither is the Governor ready yet to announce what subjects he will deal with in his border line tour. He may deal with tariff and labor problems on the tour, and he may hit the "whispering campaign" again. Gov. Smith is not yet through with that issue, for certain phases of it are almost daily cropping up in new forms, most of which reach him in one way or another.

Gov. Smith has not been able to get in any golf since his return from the West. His 16 days' absence from the Capitol filled his desk with numerous state matters to dispose of. Wednesday he put on his golf clothes in expectation of getting in a round, but he couldn't make it, and yesterday he spent all of the day at his desk in the Capitol tied up on gubernatorial work.

The Democratic nominee will embark upon his second tour in a more satisfied frame of mind than he had when he faced the West. The Democratic situation in New York state was on his mind then. That now has been disposed of with the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt for the governorship and a strong supporting slate. Consequently, the Governor will start next week without one of the chief worries he carried with him on his Western trip.

Nab Girl in School Theft

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—The arrest today of Miss Dorothy Currey, former clerk at the West Chester State Teachers' College, is the result of an embezzlement of a total of $15,252.04 from the school, Dr. John H. Keith, superintendent of public instruction, said today.

Investigation of auditors assigned to audit the institution's books revealed the shortages, he said, and further questioning with the aid of the Attorney General's department revealed that part of this sum at least was sent to J. P. Treacy, of Pittsburgh, a representative of the Teachers' Protective Union, of Lancaster.

BEAUTY EXPERT CHARGES MOTHER-IN-LAW BEAT HER

Two beatings for every complaint she made against the drudgery she had to endure in her mother-in-law's boarding house, was the testimony of titian-haired Marie V. Nepolello, Atwood street beauty expert, before Judge H. H. Rowand today. She is suing Michael Nepolello, former city employe, for divorce, charging cruel and barbarous treatment.

Married seven years ago when she was 16 and her husband 24, Mrs. Nepolello said they went to live at her husband's home on the Hill. Her mother-in-law kept boarders and she had to help with the work. When she complained of the hard tasks, she testified her mother-in-law beat her and when she complained to her husband he did the same as his mother. Once she gave her husband $450 to bank and he "banked" it in a gambling house, she said. Tiring of strife, she said, he joined the Marines.

MISSING GIRL FOUND WORKING AS DOMESTIC

Missing almost two weeks, Evelyn Roedel, 17, daughter of Mrs. Pearl Roedel, Avalon High School art instructor, was found yesterday working in the home of a state employe at Albany, N. Y. The girl, who had disappeared from the home of her grandmother in Utica, N. Y., in an interview, declared she would not return to her grandparent's home, but would go with her mother.

Mrs. Roedel, mother of the girl, has been for four years an art teacher in the Avalon school. She claimed ignorance of her daughter's disappearance when notified by a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph representative last week. Last Friday she went to Utica to aid in the search for the girl.

In leaving Utica the girl put some of her clothing on the bank of the canal, but it was definitely established that she had boarded an eastbound train. Her whereabouts were a mystery until an Albany newspaper man found the girl at work in the home of a state employe.

At the Avalon school today it was stated that Mrs. Roedel was not expected to return until next Monday. She had not acquainted her friends in Avalon with her plans for the girl.

SPROUL TO DEFY BOARD IF DENIED AIR PERMIT

Should the Federal Radio Commission refuse Evangelist John W. Sproul a license to broadcast his sermons from the Glory Barn, the preacher declared today, he will go on the air with his broadcasting station and dare the commission to stop him.

The evangelist has a private station, which, he said last night, was ready for use. He said he awaited only the action of the commission, to which he has appealed from its revocation of his permit previously held.

Seventy persons professed conversion at last night's service. Several others declared they had received relief from physical ills through faith. A 65-year-old man, who said he had been "rheumatic" for years, ran up and down an aisle in the barn. He is John Zebrosky of Carnegie.

Before delivering his sermon last night Evangelist Sproul said he would broadcast his Saturday night sermon from station WJAS. He hopes to reach many who he believes would attend services at the barn if they once listened to one of the services.

His sermon last night was on "Prayer." He said in part:

"A prayerless church is a powerless church. Only an occasional church member spends much time in prayer for the salvation of precious souls.

"Pittsburgh's sick and sinful need God's saving and healing power and we are here to pray down a revival that will bring the needed blessings for all such.

"Sickness is the devil's work. Jesus came to destroy the works of the devil. That is still His work—which He performs in answer to our prayers."

5 Retract Holdup Story

The five men accused of robbing a bank messenger of the $14,501 Ward Baking Company payroll, having repudiated their confessions, today are making one of the most stubborn stands in the recent annals of Allegheny County Criminal Court. With a large battery of lawyers at their table, they have for three days fought every inch of the state's case and today verbal fireworks fairly snapped during the arguments to the jury.

John Otis, Long way; Sylvester Mantz, Forty-third street; Rudy Swiderski, Forty-fourth street; William Murphy, Thirtieth street, and George Schreiber, Arch street, former poolroom proprietor and alleged master mind of the robbery, have denied and countered every move of Assistant District Attorney Roy T. Clunk in Judge Elder W. Marshall's court.

DENY CONFESSION

Mantz took the stand this morning and denied in toto the confession he is said to have signed and which had been read to the jury by Attorney Clunk, after much argument. Mantz said the confession was wrought from him after he had been beaten with a hose and blackjack at police headquarters. In the "confession" he told of having participated in the holdup and of getting $900 from Schreiber as his share.

Otis and Swiderski had preceded him on the stand and claimed alibis, and Otis had likewise repudiated his confession.

Swiderski's alibi was that he had been whitewashing his mother's cellar during the hour of the holdup. His brother and sister corroborated this. Otis said he had been at his home, and his mother testified to this.

The case took an odd twist when Attorney M. M. Mussmanno, representing Schreiber, closed the case for his client without offering any evidence. He maintained no evidence had been offered directly concerning Schreiber, and asked for a ruling that all mention of Schreiber in the Otis and Mantz confessions be disregarded by the jury. Judge Marshall did not allow this, but Mussmanno is to argue the point further at the end of the trial.

TROOPER SHOT DEAD IN WOMAN'S HOME

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Oct. 5.—A coroner's jury today sought to solve the mysterious shooting which claimed the life of Private Victor J. Busch, 32, of Troop D, state police, late yesterday in the room of Mrs. Bertha McCauley Heffner.

All last night state and local police questioned Mrs. Heffner. She insisted, they say, that Busch shot himself accidentally when his revolver was discharged as he was removing cartridges, as they sat together on a sofa. The woman's story, police say, varied with repeated telling.

Busch, attached to Troop D, Butler, has been at the local sub-station since last May with two other members of his troop. He had been calling frequently on Mrs. Heffner, police say they learned.

Mrs. T. J. Burke, with whom Mrs. Heffner roomed, told police that Mrs. Heffner had learned only a few days ago that Busch was married, with a wife and 9-year-old daughter in Meadville. Previously she had supposed he was single. Busch originally came from Philadelphia.

Mrs. Heffner conducted a tea room here for some time, but it was unsuccessful and recently she has been engaged in house-to-house selling.

Sanity Test Sought by Jaworski

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 5.—(AP.)—H. H. Felsman, attorney for Paul Jaworski, wounded payroll bandit awaiting trial for the murder of a policeman, said today that his client would withdraw his plea of not guilty to request the appointment of a commission to test his sanity.

Felsman, after a conference with Jaworski, said there was no intention of establishing insanity as a defense, but instead to evade trial. He said the bullet wound in Jaworski's brain may have rendered him insane and that the appointment of the commission would be mandatory.

W. F. Daniels, Pittsburgh attorney defending Jaworski's brother Sam, in an action pending in Pennsylvania for Sam's alleged participation in the jail break in which Jaworski escaped after having been sentenced to the electric chair, today joined defense counsel here. He was retained by Mrs. Lucille Logan, Jaworski's sister.

SEEKS REWARD

John Zavorski, nemesis of Paul Jaworski, killer, payroll bandit and jail breaker, presented a claim yesterday for the $5,000 reward offered by County Commissioners for Jaworski's arrest.

Zavorski, a ministerial student, first applied to Safety Director James M. Clark for the reward and the latter escorted him to the office of Joseph G. Armstrong, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, which authorized the payment for Jaworski's arrest after he had shot his way, August 18, 1927, from the Allegheny county jail, where he was awaiting execution for murder.

Armstrong said he would submit the claim to his colleagues and that final action would be deferred until a recommendation was received from Samuel H. Gardner, district attorney.

Zavorski, years ago, was leader in a little Ukrainian Church at Butler, Pa., and Jaworski was one of the choir.

Zavorski, in a Cleveland restaurant last month, recognized another patron as Jaworski. He notified police and Jaworski was arrested after a gun battle in which a policeman was shot to death and Jaworski so severely wounded that he was expected to die.

No word has been received here from Cleveland to substantiate the rumor that Cleveland authorities are favorably considering turning Jaworski over to Allegheny county. It was rumored that taxpayers in the Ohio city are asking that the prisoner be turned over to Pennsylvania authorities to spare expense of a trial in Cuyahoga county.

ARMSTRONG APPROVES METROPOLITAN PLAN

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, chairman of the Republican County Committee, declared in favor of the Pittsburgh metropolitan district amendment, which will be voted upon November 6, in a statement today.

Discussing a clause in the proposed bill to the effect that the county commissioners shall be retired, Armstrong said, "I have no objection to that," adding that a measure so beneficial to the city and county should be approved regardless of individual considerations.

His statement reads:

"There have been quite a number of inquiries coming to me not only as chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, but also as chairman of the Allegheny County Republican organization, pertaining to my personal stand on the new metropolitan bill as well as the attitude of the local Republican organization.

"So far as I am concerned, I am for the bill. The best evidence of that fact is that as a member of the Board of County Commissioners I voted for a contribution of $25,000 towards the promotion of this plan, the city of Pittsburgh having also contributed a like amount.

"In my position as chairman of the local Republican organization, in answering inquiries, I have been advising those seeking information that the bill is a good one and will place Pittsburgh in its proper place among the large cities of our country.

"I had been told that the bill would eliminate the county commissioners from office, as well as the burgesses and justices of peace of the various boroughs and townships and the aldermen of our cities.

"These are not altogether the facts in the case. While there is a clause in the bill that says the county commissioners shall be retired, I have no objection to that. I feel that I always have had to take my chances with the others seeking the promotions I was seeking, and if it is a good thing for the great city of Pittsburgh and a good thing for the great county of Allegheny, which I believe it is, it should pass, irrespective of the individual concerned.

"However, I don't understand that it interferes at all with aldermen, burgesses or justices of the peace, but, on the other hand, understand that they are to be elected by their local people to these offices, the same as is done now.

"The foundation of the bill is to give Pittsburgh the proper standing in the way of census, and when the next census is compiled, if this bill is approved, it will place its not lower than fifth and probably fourth among the great cities of our country.

"This is a great business advertisement and attracts industries to cities of this kind and naturally helps every person all along the line, from the working man up to the man in business.

"The framers of this bill, I understand, are willing to give to any person writing them any information requested regarding this bill."

'BOSSY' GILLIS LESS NOISY AS HE STARTS JAIL TERM

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 5.—(AP.)—Andrew Joseph "Bossy" Gillis, spectacular mayor of Newburyport, was behind the bars today, prisoner 48,886. Arrangements were made for him to conduct the executive duties of his office from the Essex county jail.

Yesterday he was sentenced to serve two months in jail and fined $545 because he established a gasoline station without a permit.

The mayor, convicted on numerous charges connected with the gasoline station, had appealed, but later pleaded guilty. He accepted sentence without a murmur. Some of his friends have started plans to obtain a parole for him.

He will be allowed to use a telephone and the prison rule on visitors will be lifted for him, so that he will be able to transact municipal business. Edward P. Bass, council president, will be acting mayor.

"Bossy," once defiant and noisy in his fight to maintain his gasoline station, listened in silence when District Attorney William G. Clark, moving for sentence, called him "a willful, empty-headed youth who has never grown up."

"His election, an accident, has gone to his head, and he needs a hot application of the law to take down that cranial swelling," the district attorney said.

The only work prisoners do consists of keeping the premises clean.

SAY OFFICIALS STOLE BOOKS

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—The Checker Cab Company today asked that warrants charging larceny be issued against Deputy Police Commissioner Stege, State's Attorney Crowe and two assistant state's attorneys.

Seizure of the cab company's records was given as the reason for the request. Judge Olson, of the Municipal Court, told attorneys of the cab company that the warrant would be issued if the papers were not returned.

POLICE CRUELTY PROBE ON

Safety Director James M. Clark yesterday began his investigation of charges that police arrested and cruelly beat innocent residents which were hurled at Mayor Charles Kline by John J. Verona, alderman and political boss of the Third Ward, after the Mayor discharged Verona as police magistrate.

Clark forwarded to James M. Hoey, police inspector of the First district, where the barbaric practices were alleged to have occurred a copy of Verona's charges as contained in a letter to Mayor Kline and Council and requested a prompt detailed report on each specific accusation. Hoey was cited by Verona as one of the offenders.

Verona's letter to Council was referred to safety committee and later forwarded to Clark for an investigation.

Clark said he was determined to establish the merit of Verona's charges. If they were sustained, Clark declared he would bring the guilty policemen before the trial board with a view of authorizing their discharge.

The director stated that he had issued a standing order that police must be firm in making arrests, but that they also must be humane.

COOLIDGE WOULD 'SETTLE' WITH SMASH-UP VICTIMS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 5.—(AP.)—The matter of "settling" for the injuries received by Wilfred Veno, professional hockey player, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Veno, when their automobile was struck by one driven by John Coolidge last week, is said to have been one of the reasons for the visit here of Everett Sanders, private secretary to President Coolidge.

Sanders assured the Venos that the President wished to do everything possible for them, but as far as can be ascertained no definite settlement has been made.

Although Veno suffered a fractured skull, he is mending rapidly, while Mrs. Veno, who was badly bruised, is now reported out of danger. John Coolidge has been an almost daily visitor to the hospital.

G.O.P. WORKERS RALLY HERE

Interest in behalf of Republican national and state candidates produced a large attendance of county committeemen and women workers of the Eleventh Legislative District in Hotel Henry headquarters yesterday. Mrs. A. G. H. Frazier, vice chairman of the county executive committee, presided. George F. Howe, Republican city chairman, of Clairton, and member of the Legislature, and William H. Coleman, chairman of the county executive committee, spoke.

An earnest plea for the election of Herbert Hoover went on the air last night from radio station KDKA. The speaker was W. H. McNaugher.

CHARGE SUITOR'S GUN HIT LAMP, FIRED HOUSE

GROVE CITY, Oct. 5.—Enraged, state police said, when his attentions to 17-year-old Ruth Swogger were resented by her family, Paul Marshall, 30, of Barkleyville, started shooting. The discharge of a shotgun overturned an oil lamp and set fire to the Swogger home. Marshall was arrested charged with threatening the lives of Mrs. H. Swogger and her daughter.

ASKS FACTS ON STATE BONDS

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—A request that the state administration explain the purposes of the five bond issues so that the electorate can vote intelligently on the amendments, has been made to Gov. Fisher by Alba B. Johnson, president of the State Chamber of Commerce.

The governor recently declared his administration would follow "a policy of non-interference." Johnson said:

"It is not my desire to have your administration placed on record as being for or against the ratification of the amendments, but solely to furnish the necessary facts which will enable voters to act intelligently on the several proposals to borrow $138,000,000 for state use. . . . And how it is proposed to spend the money.

"Friends of the welfare bond issue claim state institutions are severely overcrowded while my recollection is that the 1927 Legislature appropriated in excess of $5,500,000 for construction and repairs."

WOMEN HEARD BY GRAND JURY

MRS. ANNA M. FROETSCHEL

The county grand jury, continuing today its probe into alleged city administration protection for vice and crime, has heard two women testify. Mrs. Anna M. Froeschel, 1904½ Brownsville avenue, was the first called.

MRS. MARTHA ANN KENNY

Mrs. Martha Ann Kenny, 913 West Ohio street, was the second woman to be subpenaed in the vice probe. She also testified before the jury. Mrs. Kenny is proprietress of a lunchroom.

SIREN ON POLICE PATROL WARNS INMATES OF RAID

A resounding blast from the Frankstown avenue patrol siren as it drew up in front of 206 South Euclid avenue with a band of raiding police early today enabled several visitors in the place to escape by a rear exit.

This was disclosed in Morals Court today when it was testified that Capt. Nicole Marino, in charge of the squad, had accidentally stepped on the siren control just as the patrol drew up at the curb. As police rushed in the front door, several visitors ran out the back.

Police arrested Peter J. Haller and his wife, charged with keeping a disorderly house and three male roomers charged with visiting a disorderly house. Haller and his wife were held for court by Magistrate A. B. Brandon. The visitors were fined $5 each.

The raiders declared they confiscated 400 bottles of home brew and a basket of assorted liquors.

Mrs. Robinson Put In G.O.P. Auto— By Mistake

CHICKASHA, Okla., Oct. 5.—(AP.)—Mrs. Joe Robinson, wife of the Democratic vice presidential nominee, was taken on a sightseeing tour of Chickasha yesterday by one of the city's staunchest Republican women, Mrs. Powell Biscoe.

Mrs. Joseph J. Miller, a member of the Democratic women's reception committee, explained that in calling up the Democratic women of the city to ask them to lend their cars for the Robinson party, some one had made a mistake and called Mrs. Biscoe.

As requested, Mrs. Biscoe appeared at the station and it so happened that she got Mrs. Robinson in her car. Whether the wife of the Democratic candidate succeeded in converting her escort or whether politics were omitted from their conversation was not made known.

DEMOCRATS TO GO ON PARADE

Meetings in the interest of the candidacy of Gov. Alfred E. Smith were held last night in the Tenth, Fourteenth and Twenty-fourth Wards.

A meeting of the Al Smith Club of Bellevue will be held tonight at 465 Lincoln avenue. The speakers will be Miss Anna Madden, Miss Margaret Reardon and Attorney James L. O'Toole, Jr.

A street parade to boost registration in the East End wards will be held tonight over the principal streets of East Liberty under the auspices of the Eleventh and Twelfth Ward headquarters. The parade will start at 7:30 o'clock from the headquarters at 409 Larimer avenue.

WOMAN ARRESTED FOR "SICKING" DOG ON POLICE

Mrs. Alice Sipper, 28, of 102½ Forty-fourth street, was arrested in Morals Court today, charged with interfering with officers, after it was testified she had "sicked" a police dog on detectives, one of whom was bitten in her home.

Detective Thomas Morgan testified that he and several others went to the Sipper home late yesterday with a search warrant, looking for sugar alleged to have been stolen by Mrs. Sipper's brother-in-law, John Sipper.

Mrs. Sipper refused to admit the sleuths and they had to pick the lock. When they entered, Mrs. Sipper set the dog on them, Morgan said. Detective Michael Carney was bitten on the right leg. His wound was cauterized at Passavant Hospital.

Mrs. Sipper had been summoned today as a witness in the case against her brother-in-law, who was charged with larceny. Sipper admitted at the hearing he had stolen 20 bags of sugar while employed as a driver for the J. Kenny Transfer Company, 101 Carson street. He and Mrs. Sipper were held over by Magistrate A. D. Brandon.

VOTERS IN POLL GIVE HOOVER WISCONSIN

By CHARLES N. WHEELER,
(Noted Political Analyst)

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Wisconsin swings to Herbert Hoover in the Hearst poll figures this morning.

The sttae-wide totals are: Hoover, 15,153; Smith, 15,047, or a Hoover lead of 106.

On September 18, the day Gov. Smith began his speaking tour of the Middle West, the figures stood:

|---|---|
| Smith | 10,812 |
| Hoover | 9,980 |
| Smith's lead | 832 |

Smith's early lead was due to his big vote in Milwaukee, where the poll shows he is going to carry the city and possibly the country districts of Milwaukee county 2 to 1.

The outstate canvass, however, is giving Mr. Hoover a sufficient percentage lead to more than overcome the Governor's popularity in the metropolis, and this is giving Smith the bulk of the Socialist vote as well as a large block of the LaFollette vote of 1924.

Based on today's figures and the percentages as applied to the entire state, Mr. Hoover is indicated a winner in Wisconsin on November 6 by not less than 40,000 plurality.

These figures are arrived at by the following process:

The total vote in Milwaukee county this year, as the canvass so far indicates, will approximate 150,000. Four years ago it was about 147,000.

The Milwaukee poll, which has been completed on the 5 per cent basis, shows:

|---|---|
| Smith | 5,054 |
| Hoover | 2,524 |

This is about 2 to 1. Taking the 150,000 total vote in Milwaukee county on November 6, Smith should poll about 100,000 votes to 50,000 for Hoover, leaving Smith a 50,000 lead with which to enter the outstate territory.

Outside of Milwaukee, this morning's figures for the state give Hoover 12,629, or 56 per cent in outstate territory.

The total vote in the state four years ago, counting some 6,000 scattering, and this includes what was left of the Socialist vote after LaFollette had taken it over in bulk, was around 840,000. The canvass indicates that the total state vote this year will be at least 900,000.

Deducting the Milwaukee county indicated total of 150,000, there remain 750,000 as the probable total vote in November in the outstate territory. Today's tabulations in the Hearst poll give Mr. Hoover 56 per cent of this outstate vote, or 420,000, and Gov. Smith 330,000.

Adding to Mr. Hoover's outstate total of 330,000 his indicated total in Milwaukee county of 100,000 and the final showing in November is 430,000.

So, based on today's percentages in the Hearst poll, the approximate count on the night of November 6 would stand:

|---|---|
| Hoover | 470,000 |
| Smith | 430,000 |
| Hoover's plurality | 40,000 |

Four years ago the elder LaFollette carried the state over Coolidge and Davis with a majority of about 74,000, and a plurality over Mr. Coolidge of approximately 142,000. The entire Democratic vote of the state in 1924 was only 68,000. LaFollette's total was 453,678, and Coolidge's 311,614.

BUSY OFFICER ASKS HELP

Constable Frederick H. Dembaugh, of West Deer township, went before Judge James B. Drew in Quarter Sessions Court yesterday with a petition asking for help in policing the township.

He asked that Benjamin Roose be appointed deputy constable, giving three reasons. He says he has 36 square miles of territory; that there are 5,000 people in the township, and that the coal companies have reduced their police force from five to one man, so the township constable has to keep an eye on the mines. Judge Drew set October 15 for a hearing.

HEAVY REGISTRATION SEEN AT NEW CASTLE

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Oct. 5.—With 8,620 New Castle voters registered on the first two registration days, the Republican county committee is confident that the city registration will reach 14,000 by Saturday, last registration date. Of the 8,620 now registered, 7,913 have signified their preference for the Republican party and 663 for the Democratic party.

POOR CROPS REPORTED IN WASHINGTON COUNTY

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 5.—With the harvesting of apple and potato crops in this district well under way, growers state they are realizing only about one-third of a crop of each. The unusually wet weather of the summer made it impossible to give proper care.

ZEPPELIN TO SAIL FOR U. S. EARLY NEXT WEEK

DIRIGIBLE IS CLEARED FOR HOP OVER ATLANTIC

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND.

(Copyright, 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Special Wireless Dispatch.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Oct. 5.—The mysterious American who booked passage for America on the initial trans-Atlantic flight of the German airliner Count Zeppelin, but who requested that his name should not be mentioned, turns out to be William B. Leeds, young New York millionaire.

This was revealed yesterday when he telegraphed from Marseilles cancelling his passage because business matters prevent his leaving Europe so soon. Leeds especially wishes to visit the international aviation exhibition in Berlin.

Two other Americans, Frederick Gilfallen and Robert Reiner, the latter of Weehawken, N. J., have definitely engaged passage.

The work of clearing the ship for Lakehurst began this morning, some changes inside the airship providing better protection for the crew against the cold, are being made. Half of the crew, and several passengers, including Capt. Rosendahl, who is representing the United States Navy on the flight, are down with colds as a result of the 34-hour flight during which the coast of England was touched. Capt. Rosendahl will be out of bed tomorrow.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commanding the Graf Zeppelin, said he expected to have the airliner gassed, fuelled and provisioned Monday, when a short and final test flight would be made.

The airship will then be clear for Tuesday, and the start for Lakehurst will then be as soon as weather over the ocean is favorable. No decision will be made as to the selection of the northern or southern course until the last moment.

LEGAL RUM AT OHIO'S DOOR

SANDUSKY, O., Oct. 5.—(AP.)—Legal sale of liquor will be established by the Canadian government at Pelee Island, four miles from the Ohio Lake Erie shore, within three weeks, according to Henry Henderson, provincial collector of customs for the island. He stated last night that the Ontario liquor commission has granted a permit for a dispensary to Thomas Pierce, a resident of Pelee Island.

The island is four miles north of Kelly Island, in Ohio territorial waters, and two miles north of the international boundary.

Our Daily Short Story

The Steeplejack

By L. Lamar Matthews.

"GOODBY Fay. I'll always love you," said the boy.

"Goodby, Toby, I'll never forget you," answered the girl.

Then the conductor cried "All aboard!" The bell rang, the whistle blew and the eastbound train pulled out of the little station, leaving the girl looking wistfully after it.

That was five years before Fay Benton arrived in New York—since then her parents had died, leaving her homeless. She was tired of the small town, anyway. Now she was taking care of a rich woman's children on Fifth avenue, New York, and wondering if she would spend the rest of her life at that irksome task.

She had never had a sweetheart since Toby left her in the little town back home. He had written a half dozen times and then his letters stopped. Where he was she had no idea; but his image was in her heart. She had said that she would never forget him and she had kept her promise.

One afternoon she went with small Billy and Suzan up on the roof, where they loved to sit in the sunshine, high above the noise and dust of the city below.

"Look at the steeplejack," she said, pointing to the figure of a man swinging to a steel girder of a building that was being erected across the street.

The children waved joyfully at the man and he waved back to them.

Every day for a long time they returned to the roof where they exchanged greetings with the busy steeplejack.

There was something comforting in his camaraderie; and the girl came to feel a great friendliness for the figure perched on that 20-story building.

One day while Fay was busy in the kitchen Billy slipped away to the roof alone. He immediately opened negotiations with the man on the high steel structure across the street. The young man, who always answered the children's salute, pulled off his cap and waved. This so delighted Billy that he climbed up on the low railing that surrounded the flat roof of the apartment house. There he stood, waving his chubby hand and shouting "Hello!"

Suddenly he lost his balance and toppled over. The steeplejack, watching, saw the little fellow go over the banisters and then stop. His stout linen rompers had caught on a nail, which saved him from falling. The child clutched at the first thing his hands could touch—which happened to be the lower rail of the banister. And there he clung!

The next moment the young man was fastening a rope ladder to the end of a steel beam. He grasped the rope in his hands and stood ready for the startling feat that he determined to risk. Other workmen rushed to his aid.

"Start swinging," the young man instructed. "Begin easy-like and after I get going, let her ride!"

And then the swaying began. Gradually he moved his hands down the ladder, coming nearer the end of the rope at each successive swing. Finally the rope was let out until it could swing from the steel framework across to the house on the other side of the street.

The excited crowd outside attracted Fay's attention, and when she went to see what had caused the people to gather, she saw Billy in that perilous position.

She stood transfixed with horror while the swinging figure high up above the crowd paused above the middle of the apartment house and dropped to the roof.

She rushed inside, slamming the door behind her to keep out the curious crowd. Two elevator boys stood in the hall.

"Come on, both of you," she begged.

When the three reached the roof, they found the young man stretched out in a dead faint, with Billy sitting beside him yelling at the top of his voice.

Fay grabbed the child and hugged him close.

"Pick him up and bring him downstairs," she said to the boys, nodding toward the inert form of the young man.

She led the way into her own room and stood by with Billy in her arms, while they laid the patient on a bed and summoned the doctor.

She had all she could do during the following half hour to pacify Billy and to stop his sister's shrieks.

The curious crowd had scattered; the doctor had revived the patient, bound up his bleeding hands and gone, before Fay Benton had time to pay any attention to the young man in her room.

And then she came and stood beside his bed.

She looked at him. Then she caught her breath and looked again.

"Toby!" she whispered.

He opened his eyes when he heard that.

"Fay! Fay Benton or I'm a ghost!" he cried.

He sat up in bed then, and stared at her.

"Is it really Fay, or am I delirious?"

"It's really Fay, Toby."

And then she bent down and kissed him gently on the forehead.

"I might have known nobody else in the world except you could have done what you did."

"Shucks! That wasn't so much," he replied, "I worked in a circus for three years after I left home, and I've been swinging around on big buildings for the last two years."

Then he added proudly,

"I'm a steeplejack."

"You are more than that," she declared, "You're a hero. Just wait 'till Billy's father hears about your bravery!"

"Gosh, I'm glad to see you," he said after a little silence. "I've been awful lonesome in this big town without anybody of my own.

"I've always loved you, Honey."

"You are just saying what I'm thinking," she answered softly.

Playwright-Actor Is Signed To Write Dialogue for Sound Picture Produced by M-G-M

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright, 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 5.

MR. SHANNON, of the well-known "Shannons of Broadway," has gone Hollywood with a vengeance. Which is another way of saying that James Gleason, author and star of the brilliant stage success, will be on a movie lot for some time to come.

He has just signed a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer contract to write dialogue for Metro sound pictures, and it would be difficult to pick a better man for this brand new sort of picture job.

His first assignment will be the dialogue for Norma Shearer's film, "Angel Face." The action of the picture has already been shot, and the work on the talkie part started today. After this is completed, Gleason will contribute his share of talent to "Haunting Melody," which is to be directed by Harry Beaumont, with Anita Page in the leading role.

The sad death of Arnold Kent who succumbed to injuries received when he was struck by a motor car on Hollywood boulevard, left a vacancy in the cast of Paramount's "Four Feathers." Kent was to have played the role of "Capt. Trench," which will now be acted by William Powell, prince of heavies. Poor Kent had signed for $100,000 worth of insurance in favor of his parents. It was to go into effect at midnight Sunday. Kent was 28 years old.

Nina Quartero, who was discovered by Jimmy Cruze for his picture, "The Red Mark," has been cast in the leading feminine role of "Leathernecks," the Pathe film in which Bob Armstrong, Alan Hale and Bill Boyd are the Three Musketeers of the Marines.

Universal has a contract with Jimmy Gleason and Lucille Webster, his wife, which calls for them to co-star in a screen version of their play, "Shannons of Broadway." The picture is to be made when there is a little time to spare in the lives of the stars. When this will be it is hard to say, what with Jimmy busy at Metro, and Lucille appearing in a local stage version of the play. But anyway, Paul Schofield has the screen adaptation completed, and Wesley Ruggles has been nominated to direct.

If some one of the producers works fast enough he may be able to borrow Evelyn Brent from Paramount for a picture. Evelyn is scheduled for "Tahiti Nights," but this story isn't even being considered before February, and meantime they haven't anything in mind for this charmer.

Ethel Wales, who is back on the Paramount lot in the east of William De Mille's all-audible picture, "A Half Hour," used to be Jesse Lask's secretary when the whole organization had only one secretary to go around, and the Lasky studios consisted of the old barn now tucked away in a corner of the present mighty studio. Nevertheless, Miss Wales hold that barn dear "among my souvenirs," she says.

The latest trial separation in the film colony is that of Lewis Stone and his wife, Florence Oakley, who have agreed to disagree, temporarily at least. The couple met some 10 years back when both were immensely popular as hero and heroine of scores of old-time stage plays in the Belasco theater in Los Angeles. Meantime Florence has signed for a lead in a local stage presentation of "The Royal Family." Also she has taken a movietone test.

Alberta Vaughan has been selected for the feminine lead opposite Eddie Quillan in Pathe's "Noisy Neighbors." Eddie Quillan's whole family is to appear in the picture, which Chuck Reisner will direct.

When Texas Guinan finishes up her sound picture contract with Warner Brothers, it is said that she has an invitation, which looks both pleasant and lucrative, to run down to Havana and take charge of a night club.

Doris Hill, who has been on the Lasky lot more than a year, has signed a nice new contract which may result in eventual stardom. It was given her on the strength of her work in "Avalanche," in which she played opposite Jack Holt.

Alice White made a personal appearance with her first starring picture, "Show Girl," and when she "went into her dance" she just panicked the customers with a red-hot combination of varsity drag, black bottom, Charleston and a few steps Alice has originated. When Alice completes "Bluffers" she gets a New York vacation.

Mae McRea, who once sang at the once famous Chicago Music Hall, is teaching Laura La Plante the technique of the real "coon shouter" of back about 1905. And the song Laura is singing is "Coon, Coon, Coon," if you remember that one.

Victor Nordlinger, Universal's casting director, tells me that Universal spends about $650,000 a year hiring extra talent at $7.50 daily. And now what bright boy or girl can figure out how many extras are employed in Mr. Laemmle's studios?

Artist

Fritz Kreisler, noted violinist, is to open the concert season here, appearing this evening in Carnegie Music Hall. His program includes Greig's sonata in C-minor, two works by Ravel and compositions by Dvorak-Kreisler and Wieniaski-Kreisler.

HOME VOICE METER

JOSEPHINE DUNN

Movie stars can train their voices for the "talkies" at home, through the new device which pretty Josephine Dunn, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, is using. It's a microphone and amplifier, and, in another room, there's a loud speaker. You talk into the "mike" and listeners in the next room listen. If they can repeat back what you said the "talkie" voice is O. K.

PITT REOPENS NEXT WEEK

The Pitt Theater will open its regular season next Monday, after having undergone a series of extensive repairs. The vehicle chosen to usher in the new season is a mystery thriller, "The Skull," which comes to Pittsburgh after engagements in both New York and Philadelphia. Matinees will be Thursday and Saturday.

The first play in which Lynn Fontanne and Alfred Lunt ever appeared in together under the Theater Guild banner will open in the Nixon Monday night. It is Ferenc Molnar's "The Guardsman."

The operetta, "Blossom Time," coming to the Alvin next week, has music adapted from works of Franz Schubert, whose life and romance form the basis of the story of "Blossom Time." Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday.

Supplementing the six acts of Keith-Albee vaudeville in the Davis next week, will be a feature picture, "None But the Brave," a comedy featuring Sally Phipps and Charlie Morton.

HOMER SMITH TRIPS PLANNED FOR SUNDAY

The excursion steamer Homer Smith will make the usual Sunday excursions. The boat will leave at 2:30 o'clock and 8:30 o'clock. Capt. Homer Smith announces that the boat will be kept in Pittsburgh as long as the weather remains fair.

How To Be Beautiful by Maria Jeritza

The Subtlety of Curves

CURVES are once more the fashion. Straight lines never had the indorsement of health and art authorities, and, without doubt, men have always preferred slender, graceful curves to the flat-chested, lipless "boyish figure!"

MARIA JERITZA

But, for a time, Dame Fashion had women half starving themselves, strapping themselves with adhesive tape and rubber, in order to achieve the figure of the lady on the fashion-magazine covers—a lady never seen in real life on sea or land!

It is sad to think of the frazzled nerves irritable tempers and even broken health that resulted from heroic efforts to reduce by existing on strong coffee, spinach, tomatoes and similar foods. Luckily all that is past history. Miss 1928 emulates the curves and graceful beauty of Miss Venus of Milo!

Your hips should be curved, but not rotund. They should measure thirty-six inches if you happen to be five feet four inches tall in your bare feet. If you are more or less than that height it will be as good as a cross-word puzzle for you to figure out just what your hips should measure.

To sit, stand and walk erect is essential to symmetry of the hips. Many a woman who appears thick of waist and hips merely looks stout because she slumps. Whether sitting or standing, straighten your spine and neck, and pull in the muscles of your abdomen until this posture becomes second nature.

Plain, nourishing, well-cooked food is another essential of a symmetrical body. But exercise is most essential of all, and it is the factor of beauty most often neglected. A gym class, a basketball team or even morning radio exercises introduce fun into exercise, through the element of play. You will exercise more effectually if you enjoy the drill.

Running is an amusing exercise, which should shave superfluous pounds from your hips. Few of us have the use of a running track, but all of us can throw the windows open and run round and round the bedroom at a brisk gait.

Run on your toes. When you are tired, rest a bit, then start again. Ten minutes of this exercise daily will help slenderize your calves and ankles as well as your hips. I am sure you never saw a professional runner who was fat. There is no better exercise for losing weight than systematic running.

The very thin girl also needs exercise, but she should take it less strenuously and rest more frequently. Massage with perfumed olive oil helps add weight to scrawny hips and limbs.

Curves are more alluring than angles, because a curve, not a straight line, is the beauty line, of nature. Moreover, the woman with curves is more likely to possess a restful nature and pleasant, merry disposition, than her very thin, nervous sister. So there is sound reasoning back of the present vogue for slender curves and the charm and appeal symmetrical curves suggest.

NEW BUREAU HELPS MANY AFFLICTED

Jobs have been found for 49 physically disabled or mentally infirm persons by the Bureau for the Handicapped during the first five months of its existence, Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director of public welfare, reported to Mayor Charles H. Kline and City Council today. In addition a vast amount of work has been done in visiting the homes, studying the history and background, and interviewing former employers of applicants for aid.

The bureau was organized on April 15 last. From then to September 15 it received 319 applications, of which 74 were rejected either because the applicants were not residents of Pittsburgh or because thy were found to have no handicap. Of those registered 41 were classed as neuro-psychiatric cases, by which is meant they suffered from mental or nervous affliction. Thirty-two had orthopoedic disability; 24 were tuberculous; 23 had defective eyes; 20 had arthritis, nephritis or gastro-intestinal disabilities; 19 had ear trouble; 17 were handicapped by gunshot wounds or from the effect of surgical operations or the lack of them; 15 had lost arms and 15 legs, and the others were handicapped by heart, nose, throat, back and speech afflictions, or by their age.

VARIETY OF JOBS

The jobs in which the handicapped persons were placed are classified in Mrs. Rauh's report as gas service station, clerical, labor, restaurant, driving, salesmen, warehouse, house painting, factory, hotel, beauty parlor, home work, garage, printing, school, furniture repair and hospital work.

Mrs. Rauh says she feels that with the seasonal increased production of some plants in this territory whose managers have signified their willingness to accept the bureau's applicants, the placements will be greatly increased within the next few weeks. Mrs. Rauh also feels, in view of the scarcity of employment for normal applicants during the past six months, that the number of positions obtained for the handicapped through the bureau has been exceptionally large.

DRIVER FREE IN DEATH CRASH

Louis Lubardo, 23, of Monessen, was acquitted of involuntary manslaughter in Criminal Court late today. The charge was based on an automobile crash at Grafton street and North Highland avenue September 16, 1927, in which two men were killed.

Lubardo's machine ran over a sidewalk and crashed into a tree. The victims were Angelo F. Policichio, 21, of 464 Pearl street, and Nicholas Buzelli, 19, of 4703 Lorigan street. Mayor Carl Woodward, Chief of Police John McLaughlin and Councilman John Schad, all of Monessen, appeared as character witnesses for Lubardo.

AFRAID TO GO HOME

Mother is always so cross

"I'll get scolded if I don't go home and I'll almost surely get scolded if I do." Poor boy! Poor mother, who really loves him.

Chronic, stubborn indigestion is to blame for many a real tragedy. Mothers realize that they are unjust and cross, but with a stomach that is constantly complaining, who can be fair and sweet-tempered?

Triner's Bitter Wine is a natural stomach tonic, made of pure California wine, cascara and other medicinal barks. It aids digestion by stimulating the flow of gastric juices and also prevents constipation. Starchy foods yield quickly. Take this pleasing tonic before each meal to warm your stomach and whet your appetite. Get a bottle from your druggist. 75c and $1.25.

BOGUS SEALERS BAR SCALES IN SALES TRICK

Officials of the city, county and state weights and measures department are probing the activities of men impersonating agents of the state Weights and Measures Department who have been condemning scales in many stores here.

More than 50 merchants have made complaints to Murray G. Livingston, city sealer of weights and measures, that the bogus agents had condemned their scales. The next day scale salesmen would call and try to sell their wares.

NEIGHBOR'S DOG BEATEN, O'HARA TWP. MAN FINED

Accused of having beaten a dog owned by a neighbor, Andrew Yandanis, 21, of O'Hara township, was fined $10 by Justice of the Peace James Hernon, of Sharpsburg, last night on a charge of cruelty to animals. The charge was preferred by agents of the Humane Society. The dog is owned by Mrs. V. J. Bush, of O'Hara township.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Doctor's Discovery Reduces it Quickly and Dizzy Spells Disappear.

Thousands who have dizzy spells, sleeplessness, nervousness, shortness of breath, pains in the head and impaired energy have been told by physicians or insurance examiners that they have high blood pressure. The serious results are well enough known to check it at once. High blood pressure caused by overtaxing the heart often brings on serious conditions.

Norma reduces high blood pressure. Often one bottle will do it. Many have so testified. It is a doctor's prescription and is much used by women at the changing time of life who usually have blood pressure above normal. Ask for Norma at May's or any drug store.

PUBLIC CHORUS DIRECTION HIS HOBBY

H. Vernon Porter, purchaser of railroad supplies by day, turns his nights to song with the following results:

More than 175,000 people of Pittsburgh joined him in chorus singing last summer.

Choral singing, from a faltering, spasmodic and off-key jumble, has come into full bloom of harmony and metrical unity.

And—Pittsburgh has learned to take it seriously.

For Mr. Porter, railroad man, has as his hobby teaching people to sing out loud. He has had the experience of directing perhaps the largest choir in the world—12,500 or more voices in West Park, North Side.

And it all started during the war.

"Perhaps our emotions needed expression a little bit more during the period of strain and turmoil," he said. "Or maybe people liked it before but the frankness that war-time brought on overcame their shyness. Anyhow, they of Pittsburgh who attended the band concerts in the public parks began to sing out loud the war songs, and it developed so quickly that song conductors were appointed by the Mayor. So it's now an established fact.

"I've been conducting for about 11 years, and enjoy it a great deal. You can imagine how a fellow feels when more than 12,000 voices sing, in perfect unison and harmony, such a pretty little song as 'Sweet and Low,' 'Let a Smile Be Your Umbrella,' or a gay, marchy thing that has lots of swing.

"Of course it's great.

"And 'Sweet and Low,' I really think, is just about the favorite of the general run.

"I'd hate to say which section of the town gives the best singers, or which the worst. But the South Side parks and concerts are certainly notable for their devotion. The people, old and young, stand sometimes for two hours, just to hear or join in the singing.

"This is especially true of Ormsby, Armstrong, Kosciuszko, and other parks over there. At Kosciuszko, most of those attending are of Russian or Slavish origin. The park is near the railroad. They sing in competition with the railroad whistles and don't often take second place.

"Of course, Schenley and West Park are the largest. I guess about 175,000 people sang at Pittsburgh's municipal concerts during the past season. Not bad!"

ZAIN AD WINNERS' NAMES TO BE PUBLISHED

SUNDAY SUN-TELEGRAPH TO PRINT FIRST PRIZE LIST

The list of prize winners for the first period of the Zain Ad writing contest will be announced Sunday in The Sun-Telegraph.

And Monday, a number of the prize winning ads will be reproduced in The Sun-Telegraph for the interested to see.

But Sunday's the day for the amateur ad writers to see what their jaunts into the field of advertising have brought them. The selections are still being made by the judges who are going over the ads carefully to give every offering in this interesting test a proper valuation.

But the judges repeat that the announcement of the winners should not slow up the writers, and they emphasize the fact that while the first period is spent, there is still plenty of time for others to join in and try their skill—with 195 prizes weekly the compensation.

For the second period, which continues until next Wednesday midnight, will give sufficient time to the beginner to study the rules, to study the concerns affiliated with the contest, and to write often in the chance for the $1,000 final prize and the hundreds of other prizes between now and the end of the contest.

Then there is the $100 prize for each period—and that is not to be ignored. It is evident to the readers of the rules that there will be no shortage of rewards for the clever ideas submitted.

But one thing for the beginners—and that is the size of the paper used. Those who have already sent in ads know that the standard size letter is the ideal size. Slightly smaller sizes will not be objectionable, but the judges are not able to handle small strips of paper, or illegible ads. The idea is the principal thing, and this should be written clearly so that there is no doubt of the meaning.

Be sure to watch for the prize winners in The Sunday Sun-Telegraph, and the prize winning ads on Monday.

Of course, the ads must revolve about the concerns listed. Take Stevenson & Foster Company for instance. They are entered twice, once as printers and once as stationers. Both activities as subject matter are hard to improve on. Printing being one of the greatest industries in the world, and Stevenson & Foster exemplars of the best printing, many interesting bits of "copy" can be penned about them. And this is true of stationery, too. Letter writing is an essential adjunct in civilized life.

And another is Tech Ice Cream, already well known by advertising, with quality products and service and delicious flavors—as well as the little Kiltie Girl—symbols of its eminence. Thousands of families have Tech ice cream on their bill of fare. Read and consider seriously—then write.

And then comes candy, with Reymers the exponent. Everyone knows about Reymers' products, particularly in Western Pennsylvania. They are noted for quality above all things. They have seven stores. Drop in one and study their goods. Find out all you can about them. Then write.

One of the most important developments of modern life it is agreed, is gasoline. Every car owner is interested in the power, the adaptability, the economy of gasoline to his automobile engine. The car and its powerful fluid has entered every life. Amoco Gas is outstanding, and personifies all these elements. Study the values, the potentialities of Amoco gas, then write your ad to the Zain contest editor.

So, study the stores and the rules. Read them both carefully, then write each ad on a separate sheet of paper, at least as large as a postal card, and preferably commercial letter size. Write your name and address on the back of each sheet and also on the back of the flap of the envelope in which you enclose your ads. SEND THE ADS TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

FIRE BLAMED ON BLAST OF STILL

Fire following an explosion of a 50-gallon still on the second floor of a frame dwelling in the rear of 7 Kirkpatrick street, did $500 damage to the place last night, police say. Firemen and police who responded to an alarm report finding 10 barrels of mash. Lieut. George Hook learned the name of the occupant, a Negro, who is thought to have fled after the blast.

MYSTERY MADE OF FORNEY'S PARDON PLEA

U. S. ATTORNEY WON'T SAY GARDNER WANTS WITNESS

United States Attorney John D. Meyer today admitted he had held "confidential correspondence" with the attorney general's office in Washington regarding Alfred W. Forney, slot machine baron, but refused to state whether he would agree to a pardon or parole for Forney.

Forney is in the county jail serving a six-month sentence imposed, along with a $3,000 fine, August 21, in Federal Court, by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, after the North Side millionaire had pleaded no defense to conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws. He was indicted along with 166 others in the federal grand jury rum ring probe.

"I have had confidential correspondence with the Attorney General's office regarding Forney," said Meyer, "but I cannot divulge the nature of it. Any statement must come from the Attorney General's office."

"Does District Attorney Gardner want Forney as a witness before the county grand jury in the graft investigation?" Meyer was asked.

"I do not know. You will have to ask Mr. Gardner that question," replied the federal prosecutor.

An application for parole, said to have been filed in Washington in behalf of Forney, is reported to set forth that Forney, 50 years old, is in ill health and that his physicians ordered him to a sanitarium shortly before he was committed to jail. He also states that he has a wife and child and aged parents and that he always bore a good reputation before being sentenced to jail.

COUNCIL YIELDS PIER RIGHTS TO P. R. R.

After all day conferences yesterday, Council and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company practically adjusted all differences arising out of the latter's proposed construction of new and larger produce yards in the Pike street district, a project that is part of the $13,000,000 improvement program planned by the railroad.

The agreement, which came as a surprise, was reached when Council blocked the efforts of City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt to hold for the city the rights to construct foundations and piers for the proposed viaduct connecting Bigelow boulevard and the North Side between Eleventh and Thirteenth streets.

Waldschmidt throughout the conferences held with the railroad officials had insisted that the city should retain this right. E. T. Whiter, vice president of the road, and his legal staff opposed it and, when Council overruled the solicitor late yesterday, won a complete victory as far as that point is concerned.

Another conference, dealing particularly with construction planned east of Twenty first street, will be held in the Council chambers today. Representatives of the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio railroads and of the Armstrong Cork Company will attend.

As a result of yesterday's meeting the city will pay about $175,000 for the paving of Pike street. Part of the contract ordinance, which must be approved at a regular councilmanic meeting, safeguards plans for a sea wall and boulevard along the Allegheny River, by reserving the right to take 50 feet of land inland from the United States harbor line. In that case, both the B. and O. and Pennsylvania would use a single track for the movement of freight along the river bank.

Woman College Editor Won't Be Scooped

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—Miss VanDyke MacDowell, of Uniontown, editor of the Waynesburg College paper, "The Yellow Jacket," positively will not permit her paper to be "scooped." Students of the college held a straw vote on the presidential election yesterday. James Hughes, student publicity manager, wanted the result for the daily papers, but Miss MacDowell with true editorial instinct flatly opposed this. After what was described as a "heated argument" it was agreed that "The Yellow Jacket" will print the news first.

SCOLDED GIRL FAILS IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 5.—Lida Raines, 13-year-old schoolgirl, who swallowed poison because her mother scolded her for remaining out "too late" with a boy friend, police say, was able to leave the Brownsville Hospital today.

SCOTTISH RITE ELECTS CHIEF AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Quebec, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—Dr. Alfred F. Webster, of Toronto, Ontario, yesterday was elected sovereign grand commander of the supreme council of the Ancient and Accepted Order of Scottish Rite at the final session of the annual meeting here.

Firemen Blocked As Folks Garner Leaking 'Gas'

A thousand gallons of gasoline escaped from a tank truck of the Gulf Refining Company, late yesterday, when it was struck by a street car at Forbes and Stevenson [illegible].

Persons of the neighborhood filled pails and pans with the fluid and hindered firemen who were called out in fear of fire. Streams from hose finally washed the gasoline into sewers.

William Roup, of 1117 Locust street, was driving the truck.

ZANESVILLE MERCHANT KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

NEWCOMERSTOWN, O., Oct. 5.—George Evangrion, Zanesville confectioner, was fatally injured in a collision of his automobile and a car driven by Adam Hothem. He died en route to City Hospital, Coshocton. Four others were injured.

BLUE RACER SNAKE, RARE SPECIES, CAUGHT

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—A small blue racer snake, a species seldom found in this region, was captured by Ray Knight, assistant postmaster at Rogersville, in his garden. He has the reptile on display.

Five years ago, one Howard store in New York. Today Howard means the finest $22.50 clothes in principal cities throughout the East!

Howard $22.50 Clothes

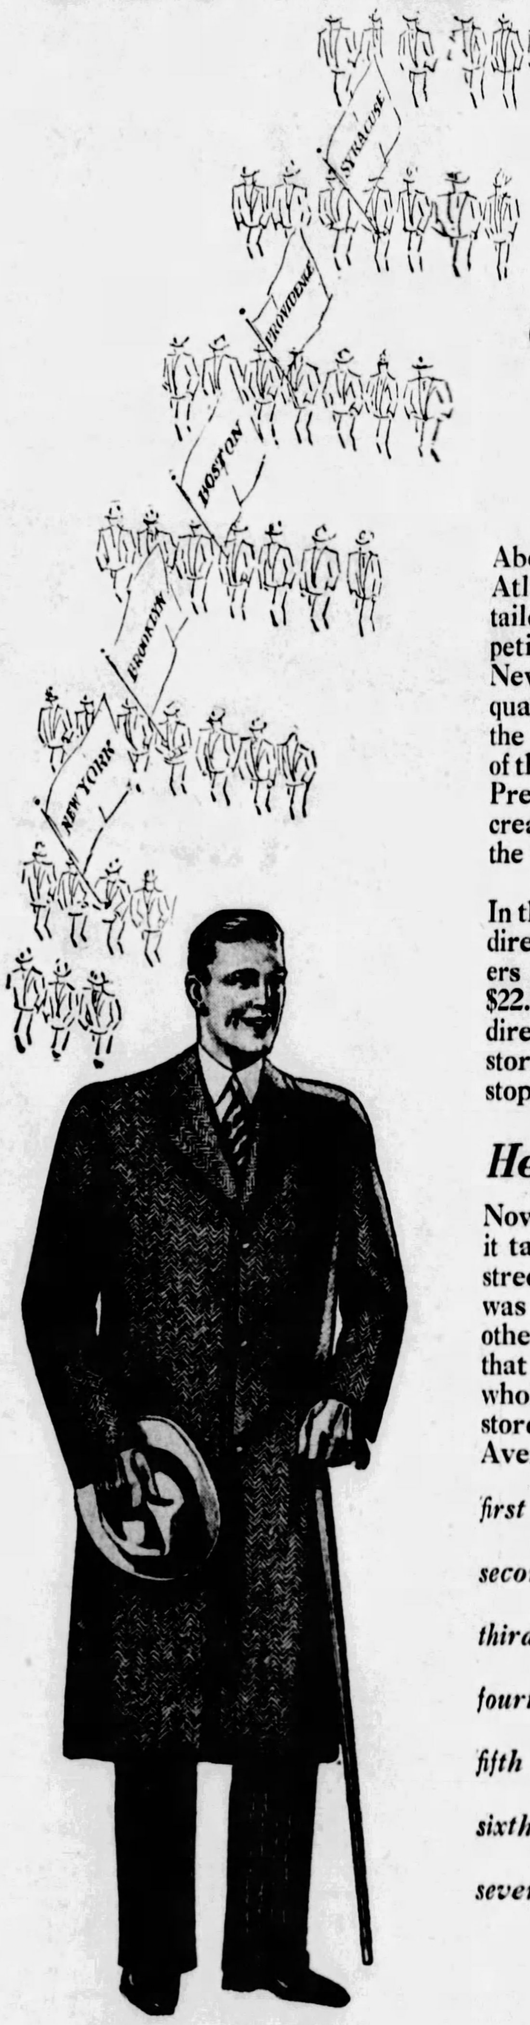
bring a new idea of quality at the old familiar price



About 400 miles east of this man's town, on the good old Atlantic seaboard, there's a place filled with more fine tailors, more low-priced clothing stores, more stiff competition than any other spot in the world. We mean New York. We've been prominent makers of high quality Men's Clothes there for generations. We get the hot tips from London, fine woolens from both sides of the water. Our head designer earns more money than President Coolidge. Our cutters and fitters are the cream of the trade, men you can't find anywhere outside the tailoring establishments of New York City.

In the old days, before we began selling Howard Clothes direct to the man who wears them, we dealt with retailers exclusively, and our wholesale price to them was $22.50 per garment. But one day the boss got all the directors around the table, and the first Howard Clothes store opened its doors in New York to a mob of men that stopped traffic on Broadway.

Here Are Some Howard EXTRAS

Now, in a town crowded with low-priced clothing stores, it takes a mighty good reason to make men block the street trying to get into one particular store. Howard was selling clothes for $22.50 just like hundreds of others. But Howard gave them that wonderful quality that retailers the country over had formerly paid $22.50 wholesale for. That's what crowded that first Howard store. That's what will bring the crowd to 233 Fifth Avenue; that, and these 7 extras:

first Howard Camel Hair Topcoat at $22.50; never matched below $50.

second Howard Satin coat lining replaced if it wears out in two years.

third Howard Tuxedo includes a ribbed, flowered or figured silk vest.

fourth Fifty per cent of all Howard Suits have two pairs of trousers.

fifth Sizes up to 50 stout, and alterations free if you need them.

sixth Fine imported heavy linen canvas and non-pull haircloth used.

seventh Howard guarantees a full refund if you're not satisfied.

Beyond any doubt the most marvelous sale of men's garments ever put on in Pittsburgh. Think of it men! Wonderful suits, topcoats and overcoats at the ridiculous price of $18.00. Think also of the master styles you get at $18.00 or $28.00. It's a sale almost too sensational to believe, and the only reason the Palace is able to offer such enormous values is because some of New York's leading manufacturers agreed to co-operate to make our great Eighth Anniversary Sale the outstanding achievement of our entire career.

Garments in the season's leading materials, the newest patterns, the most popular shades and the most careful tailoring.

WIDOW OF PASS RIDER, CRASH VICTIM, WINS SUIT

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 5.—(AP.)—Sustaining the plaintiff's contention that alleged "wanton negligence" on the part of the engineer took precedence over the restrictions of the pass upon which her husband was riding at the time of the wreck, a jury in Common Pleas Court yesterday awarded Mrs. Elizabeth M. Bowman, of Pottsville, $12,000 damages.

The case was the outgrowth of the wreck of a Pennsylvania Railroad limited at Gray's Station, near Pittsburgh, in 1926. The plaintiff's husband, Charles F. Bowman, was one of the 30 odd persons killed in the crash.

Bowman, general freight agent of the Erie Railroad, was riding on a pass, and counsel for the Pennsylvania Railroad contended that the restrictions of the pass absolved the company from liability for damages.

The plaintiff, who brought suit for $75,000, alleged that the engineer in passing two red lights and a fusee, was guilty of "wanton negligence," which rendered the pass restrictions inoperative.

TAXICAB FORCED INTO TROLLEY BY AUTO

Two persons were injured last night when a taxicab was forced against a street car in West Liberty avenue by an automobile that continued on without stopping to offer assistance.

Carl Davis, 63, a passenger on the Brookline car, suffered a broken left arm and bruises. Windows in the car were broken and passengers showered with glass. John Tanbry, 25, of Resaca place, driver of the cab, also suffered a broken left arm.

Struck by an automobile at Fifth avenue and Amity street, Homestead, late yesterday, Veronica Swatko, 5, of 216 Fifth avenue, suffered a fractured skull, internal injuries and a fractured leg. She is in Homestead Hospital. Police arrested William K. Neill, of 114 West Eighth avenue, as the driver of the machine.

Theresa Wilson, 13, of 622 Second avenue, suffered a fractured right ankle when hit by an automobile at Third avenue and Dickson street, Homestead. She, too, was removed to the Homestead Hospital. The machine that struck her was not stopped.

BUSINESS MEN FORM HOOVER CLUB HERE

A Pittsburgh branch of the Hoover Business League was organized yesterday at a well attended meeting at the Fort Pitt Hotel, J. S. Crutchfield, of the American Fruit Growers, Inc., being made temporary president, and E. P. Goetz, of the H. J. Heinz Company, temporary secretary. Mr. Crutchfield and Mr. Goetz, together with Jesse C. Stewart, of the Jesse C. Stewart Company; G. E. Sutter, of Esenwein and Sutter; Frank Cruikshank, Sr., of Cruikshank Brothers Company, and Thomas E. Perry, food broker, constitute an executive committee which will complete the details of organization. The league is a national nonpartisan organization of business men who are promoting the success of Mr. Hoover for economic reasons.

LEAVE TO REPAIR PORTO RICO 'PHONES

Robert E. McCauley, Walter E. Raum, Donald E. Kneedler and Elias A. Logsdon, all of Pittsburgh, sailed yesterday from New York to Porto Rico to aid in the rehabilitation of the telephone lines of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, which were badly damaged in the recent hurricane which devastated the island. They will be gone for several months.

TEST NEW AXLE IN N. S. PLANT

Tests were made yesterday on new process axles for railroad use at the plant of the Pittsburgh Forge and Iron Company, North Side. About 25 engineers and inspectors of various railroads and industries in the United States were present as guests of the Refined Steel Company. The tests were made by a giant hammer having an impact of 83,000 pounds. The axle broke after 83 blows from the hammer, whereas the ordinary axle breaks before 50 blows have been struck, company officials pointed out.

NEW SHOP FOR PITTSBURGH

The Sweet Sixteen Shop, Inc., of Detroit, is establishing a store here at 521 Wood street. The company, which specializes in dresses for women and girls of all ages, at a uniform price, started business with one tiny shop in Detroit three years ago; now it has stores in New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

RADIO ARTISTS TO BROADCAST HERE TONIGHT

ANOTHER group of artists heard regularly on chain programs will entertain the invisible audience tonight from the third annual radio show being held in Duquesne Garden.

Harry Horlick and the A. & P. Gypsies will be the featured artists tonight and their program will be placed on the air by WCAE at 9 o'clock. Dewey Bergman and his orchestra also will play, a program by that group to be placed on the air by KQV at 8 o'clock. Miss Margaret McLaughlin will be heard as soloist with this group.

The Interwoven Entertainers, presenting dance music of other days, including both the stately forms and the more lively steps, will be heard in the inaugural program of the series on tonight at 8 o'clock, over KDKA. A 13-piece orchestra opens the program with "Virginia Reel" and "Pretty Little Clare," and later will play a quadrille by Strauss, "Volksgarten;" "La Czarina," by Ganne, and Boccherini's "Minuet." A group of rollicking dance numbers representative of old Southern days will be played by a novelty sextet consisting of guitar, accordion, violin, banjo and harmonica. "Rabbit in the Pea-Patch," a traditional folk song of the southern mountains, will be presented by the Pickard family, who are specialists in American folk-music. Another of their numbers will be Foster's "Oh, Susannah!"

Sigmund Romberg's beautiful musical score of "Blossom Time," the popular operetta of yesteryear, will live again in the Cities Service hour to be broadcast through WCAE over the NBC, at 8 o'clock. Sam Herman, virtuoso of the chromatic wooden bars, will be featured in two swift-moving xylophone solos, "Ripples" by Lowitz, and "Sparklets" by Claude MacArthur, long famous as an orchestrator and composer of modern music. Other high spots of the program are a pair of Spanish selections, "La Media Noche," a serenade, and "Seguidilla," by Stoesel. "The Fun Soldier," by Cesar Cui, and popular selections will be sung by the Cities Service Cavaliers.

"Steppin' on the Ivories," by McLaughlin, usually heard as a piano solo, will be presented in a novelty arrangement for piano and voices by the Armstrong Quakers during the program to be broadcast through KDKA at 8:30 o'clock. "Life As a Twosome," the opening number, will be sung by a chorus whose members are Dorothy Miller, Janet Hall, Edith Thayer, Mary Hopple, Randolph Weyant, Victor Hall, Norman Le Moyne and A. R. McAdams. Other numbers by the chorus, with orchestral accompaniment, include Rapee's "Someday, Somewhere," and the concluding selection on the program, "Chloe."

The United Opera Company's performance of Saint-Saens "Samson and Delilah" is to be given at 10 o'clock through WJAS. This opera was to have been presented by the United Opera Company several weeks ago, but had to be postponed on account of political broadcasting. It was first produced at Weimar under the great Franz Liszt, December 2, 1877. It was not, however, until 1895 that it was produced in New York, and then only one performance was given. Oscar Hammerstein revived the opera in 1908, and again in 1911. It was produced at the Metropolitan Opera House in 1915, with Enrico Caruso in the role of Samson, and since that time has enjoyed a well-deserved popularity.

Engineering Refinement

gives you this new kind of Radio . . .

An AC set whose reception matches the marvelous results hitherto attainable only by special, complicated laboratory apparatus.

Balkite has taken all that is known in radio, including its own contributions, and developed a simple, dependable set that gives the quality of service of a fine car.

This is an achievement of engineering refinement. It points the way of future radio development for years to come.

Specifically, here is an AC set in every sense of that loosely used term, a complete unit ready to operate from your light socket. It is AC without hum. It has push-pull audio, complete shielding, power supply for dynamic speaker, a jack for reproducing phonograph records electrically.

Finally, the cabinets are by Berkey & Gay, the most distinguished furniture house in America. They set a new standard in appearance, as the Balkite AC sets a new standard in performance. Your dealer will gladly give you a demonstration.

Joan Hastings Falls in Love With Bill Martin At First Sight

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Joan Hastings, 17 and beautiful, lives a secluded life with her two old maiden aunts in a house long run to seed. Aunt Evvie, discovering that Joan has visited a dance hall, angrily reveals to her the story of her unmarried mother's tragic love affair and death. Joan, alone in her room, clasps to her heart a miniature of her mother and refuses to believe she was anything but good.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

SHE slammed the book shut, and leaned out the window. It was such a gorgeous, springy day! To have to be cooped up in the house all alone, when everyone else is out having a good time! Hilda and Dorothy would be way up by the Power House on the hill now. They'd be getting wild flowers, Indian paint brushes and poppies. Talking about her, too, maybe. They didn't understand. She couldn't tell people all about Aunt Babe and Aunt Evvie and how queer they were. You have to stick for your family a little, even if they are funny.

"I wish my mother had dropped me off the ferryboat, too. I don't blame her for getting drowned instead of coming home to this place when she found out father was dead. I guess she'd have taken me with her if she had known what it would be like for me. But she didn't know, poor little thing—"

Joan's large, gray-green eyes, with the thick, tawny lashes that were like Veronica's, grew tender, as they always did when she thought of her. Poor little dead mother! And her heart melted again, with love for Veronica.

It was down there in the rose garden under the window that Veronica and Peter had met. Joan could see them, just as they must have looked. Veronica in a white ruffled organdie, all billowing skirts and blue sash, with a floppy hat shading her fly-away hair. Peter, tall, dark-eyed Peter by her side. How they must have loved each other! Oh, what a wonderful thing it would be to have someone to love—to be loved, as Veronica was. It wouldn't matter what happened after that. It wouldn't matter if you died then, like Veronica and Peter . . .

"Miss Joan! Miss Jo-an!" Heeley's harsh voice cut into her thoughts like a knife.

"Yes?" Joan scrambled to her feet and opened the door to the hall. "What do you want Mrs. Heeley?"

"I want you to come set the table, that's what I want. A body can't do everythin' all alone in this house. My neuralgia throbbin' like—"

"All right—just a minute till I comb my hair—"

"Mind you hurry—my neuralgia."—Mumble—mumble—

Joan hastily pulled the comb through her short, wavy hair, which Aunt Evvie cut for her at the great peril of her ears every other Saturday night so that it would be neat for church on Sunday. For just a moment she lin-

Sues Sister-in-Law For Alienation Of Affection

Two women married brothers; one of the brothers died and now his widow is being sued, accused of stealing the affections of the living brother.

The suit was filed yesterday by Rosario Castelli, of 1200 Montezuma street. She asks $25,000 damages from her sister-in-law, Francesci Castelli.

Pasquale Castelli is the surviving brother and husband of Rosario, whose affections are involved in the suit.

Rosario claims her husband is now living at the home of his widowed sister-in-law, though all those concerned give 1200 Montezuma street as their address.

THREE HELD IN AUTO THEFTS

Three men alleged to have toured the country in stolen automobiles were held for court, charged with larceny, by Magistrate John W. Orie in Central Police Ctation today. The three are said to have gone from city to city, each time in a stolen car which they would abandon when they reached their destination. They are charged with theft of a dozen cars. They gave their names as Theodore Bennett, 24, of Canton, O., George Rosser 23, of Garfield, N. J., and William McKay 27, of 2716 Larkins way.

GARLAND FIRM IN FIGHT ON FLOOD WALL PLAN

Replying to a statement yesterday by A. H. Burchfield of the Pittsburgh Flood Commission, who criticized his statement that river flood wall for Pittsburgh was not a vital necessity, Councilman Robert Garland last night reiterated his stand against the flood wall program.

"There is less demand each year for a flood wall here," Garland said last night, "and there are many competent Pittsburghers, particularly among the river interests who fully agree with this statement."

Garland was toastmaster at a banquet Wednesday night of the Ohio River Improvement Association when he said that Pittsburgh's greatest need was docks for handling freight and for river transportation. He said the flood walls were not a vital necessity as the flood damage here was trivial. This statement brought a reply from Burchfield who is strongly in favor of the flood walls.

CALLS FLOODS BUGABOO

Replying to Burchfield, Garland said:

"I still maintain that this flood business is a bugaboo. There has been no particular flood since 1907—21 years ago, and certainly all things that could be called a flood since those years may be classed as trivial.

"Many of us have been going along with the flood commission, but when the flood commission seems to believe that the flood wall must be erected as part of the navigation program, this is where many people differ with the commission, and I am one of those.

"We hear of rises in the rivers and impending floods; when the rivers recede there is no flood. This has been our experience for a number of years past, and again I want to emphasize the fact, that in my opinion, for the past 20 years any local floods we have had should be classed as trivial. We have never gone to any outside community for aid like the Johnstown flood and the Galveston disaster—in fact, the generality of our people do not believe this is a flood-stricken community, such as the flood commission seems to think it is.

"If what I said will stir up a demand on the part of some group or organization for immediate preparedness for river navigation next year by putting up one, two or three units at proper locations where the river and rail will meet, then I am glad this controversy is started."

Mr. Burchfield in his statement denied that the flood damage here was trivial.

"Is it trivial," he asked, "to have an estimated loss from floods annually amounting to $1,000,000 or more? Is it trivial that Penn avenue and parts of Liberty avenue as well as Duquesne way and part of Water street and Wood street have become at times the bed of the Allegheny and the Monongahela rivers?

"Is it trivial that basements in the triangle as well as the basements in the lowlands in the North Side are filled almost yearly with slimy sewage and river water, which of necessity has to be pumped out? This condition breeds sickness and disease?"

Montg. Co. Favors Hoover

Montgomery county will remain a Republican stronghold this year, it is clearly indicated by its returns in the straw vote canvass of Pennsylvania conducted by The Pittsburgh Sun-Teelgraph.

A greatly increased volume of ballots received daily from that county gives a definite forecast of the strength of Herbert Hoover over Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

This county has been staunchly Republican, except when Roosevelt captured it in 1912. Its political organization has been ruled for more than 30 years by Charles Johnson, now secretary of the commonwealth. It is generally rural. The countryside near Norristown is mainly suburban Philadelphia and there are many beautiful estates and blue ribbon farms there. Although one of the largest counties of the state, it has no third-class city.

The bulk of ballots from Montgomery county, favoring Hoover, show that the elector voted for Coolidge in 1924. There are some defections from Coolidge to Smith and fewer defections from Davis to Hoover.

The present totals in the Pennsylvania poll, conducted in connection with the nation-wide canvass by the Hearst papers, are: Hoover, 38,821, 31,080 men and 7,741 women; Smith, 26,138, 20,235 men and 5,898 women.

This vote was divided in 1924 as follows: Coolidge, 44,613, 35,637 men and 8,976 women; Davis, 7,098, 5,972 men and 1,126 women; LaFollette, 4,137; not voting, 9,106.

LAYMEN KEEP HANDS OFF BIBLE CLASS ROW

An effort to bring up the Callender Men's Bible class controversy of the South Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, Wilkinsburg, before the laymen's meeting at the annual Pittsburgh conference of the church in McKeesport, was promptly ruled out today.

Soon after 300 Methodist laymen had opened their annual session in the Central Presbyterian Church, Dr. W. A. Arnold, of Wilkinsburg, took the floor and began a recital of the Callender class difficulty which reached a climax last Sunday in the class being barred from use of the church by the trustees.

"You all know the trouble we have had in Wilkinsburg concerning the men's Bible class in the South Avenue Church," began Dr. Arnold.

"Dr. Arnold, this is not the place to bring up this matter," quickly interrupted President P. W. Morgan, of the laymen's association, who presided. "I will have to rule you out of order. It is up to the South Avenue Church to settle its own difficulties. There is no redress here."

Several men leaped to their feet to support Dr. Arnold. President Morgan at once sought an informal expression of approval of his stand.

"I believe I have the support of the large majority of those present," said he.

"Yes, yes," came in almost unanimous volume from the assembly.

"UP TO BISHOP"

Later Mr. Morgan said to newspapermen, "The word of the bishop and his cabinet is final in such matters."

The Callender class squabble resulted from alleged modernistic teachings of the Rev. Dr. S. W. Bell, pastor of the South Avenue Church, to which the teacher and members of the men's class took exceptions.

At the joint service of laymen and ministers, it was announced that the church is short $750,000 in the World's Service Fund, and on motion of the Rev. S. W. Corcoran, of the Church Union, the bishop was empowered to appoint a committee consisting of the superintendent, two laymen and two ministers from each district to solicit subscriptions. Ralph A. Ward, of Foochow, China, suggested an army of 7,500 men, subscribing $100 each.

At the morning session of the conference, student requirements were discussed and it was decided to drop, at the end of four years, students who had failed to pass the examinations. The Rev. W. L. Gamble was received from the West Virginia conference, and T. G. Voorhees, received from Erie conference, and elected to elders' orders.

Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington was given hearty approval at last night's session of the conference when he addressed the conference on dry law enforcement. Steady progress has been made, Pennington declared, with the government officers concentrating on the source of supply rather than the outlet.

EAST LIBERTY HOME AFIRE, HALTS TRAFFIC

The three-story frame home and store of Louis Evanglisc, at 5717 Penn avenue, was damaged $2,000 by fire last night. The blaze, of undetermined origin, believed to have started in the rear part of the store had eaten its way to the second floor when firemen arrived. Traffic in Penn avenue was blocked and a large throng gathered.

Weather Conditions.

The Plains states disturbance moved rapidly northeastward. It is now centered north of Lake Superior; lowest barometer reported, 29.44, at Port Arthur. The disturbance produced thunderstorms during last night over Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Missouri, Western Tennessee and Arkansas. The accompanying rains were light, generally, but sufficient to break the drought in some portions of the wheat belt.

The Atlantic coast high still stretches along the entire coast, but the highest barometer is now in the Northeast. Relatively high pressure extends westward over the southern states to another high pressure area over the plains. Another low pressure area appears over the Canadian Northwest.

There was a change to cooler over the Plains states. Freezing temperatures are reported in North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota.

River Conditions.

The rivers continue stationary at low stages. Stage at Pittsburgh is 9.7 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.7, and Dam No. 6, 7.5. The dams are up.

CITY'S TALLEST POLICE OFFICER, 6 FT. 4, DIES

Clarence E. Timmons, the tallest member of the Pittsburgh police force, died today of pneumonia. Timmons, 47, lived at 1418 Federal street. He was 6 fet 4 inches tall and weighed more than 200 pounds.

Timmons, a former lieutenant, was a traffic cornerman at the time of his death. For years he was cornerman at Sixth and Liberty avenues, but later was moved to Second avenue and Smithfield street. He was widely known as a football star, having played with Washington and Jefferson College and later on the Pittsburgh Lyceum team.

Bouncing Check Lands Dancer In Jail

"Buck" Weaver, the flapper's favorite, faces a three-month stay in jail the result of a bouncing check, a jury having convicted him of false pretense.

Weaver, marathon dance winner, whose technique as a bobber of women's hair, is said to be unequaled, gave Steve Poppas, Frankstown avenue restaurateur, a check for $90. When Poppas atempted to put it through the bank it bounced back marked "N. S. F." Weaver said the check was given only as surety and was to have been redeemed and not offered for collection.

In passing sentence Visiting Judge Alonzo P. Searle, of Wayne county, said the ladies could still have their tresses bobbed by "Buck" if he would make good on the check.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

BY HAVEY J. BOYLE

THROUGH the medium of the scoreboard in front of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph office one can follow the world series games, now in progress, in more comfortable fashion than by actual attendance at the scene of the games. In this we speak by the card for since as long ago as 1919 this is the first world series we have missed. One avoids the train rides—this year quite a long one involving a New York to St. Louis ride and a probable return trip—as well as the discomforts of strange restaurants.

Still, you may discern a tiny tear glistening in spite of the advantages mentioned for attendance at a world series, hard work as it always involved, had certain compensations. The sidelights were always gay. It took on the aspect of a national convention of baseball writers, most of whom are well-known to one another, and after the day's work was done there was much popping-off on two subjects—baseball and newspapers.

IT IS probable that realtors, shoe salesmen, engineers and many other classes get a kick out of talking shop, but only a few can equal the high interest maintained in a discussion of newspapers by newspapermen.

The scoreboard here gives every detail as truthfully as it happens on the field of play, but next year some arrangement should be made for the stay-at-homes to have the baseball writers assemble at the scoreboard at nightfall and there point out the mistakes of the rival managers of the contending clubs, as well as to set afoot whatever reforms are called for by the present state of the newspaper letters of the land.

SPEAKING of newspapers, do you read the want ads? As one who has nothing to sell or buy; as one who has neither lost nor found anything; and finally as one who is not looking for new work nor new help, we read the want ads with as much interest as we read other parts of the paper. Just the other night we noticed that someone had lost a tarpaulin, which struck us as reminiscent of the poor man who had mislaid his bass drum, and the long list of articles lost, obviously articles peculiar to the fair sex, was highly entertaining. The want ads reveal an interesting cross-section of human happiness and sorrow, sympathies, worries and lots of other things.

Women, it appears from many of the ads, lose valuables more often than men. There is a good reason for this. They don't have sufficient pockets—and sometimes no pockets at all. They must carry a handbag, an umbrella, a pair of gloves, and nearly always a package.

If you watch them in a theater, for instance, you will nearly always see their escorts' heads bob up and down three or four times during the performance.

Like the intelligent canine who runs after and retrieves a stick, the escort is gathering up the articles that his lady friend is tossing on the floor with something akin to abandon.

WE SOLVED this problem a long time ago. Upon getting our seat in the theater we carefully pick up all female appurtenances close by and dump them on the floor, and immediately pick them all up again and shove them in a bag we carry for that purpose. Then when the curtain goes up we are all caught up with out work. This is much more efficient than retrieving articles one at a time throughout the evening.

Will Rogers Says

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 5.

Charles Lindbergh holds the world's record for length of time he remained a hero—from the time he lands in Paris till he declared his preference for President.

That took more real nerve for a man with his standing to do than his flight did.

For, with these people that take politics serious, they don't believe there is any way in the world where, if you belong to the opposite party, that you could possibly be any good.

You watch Coolidge. You don't see him coming out for any body, do you?

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

Joan Hastings Falls in Love With Bill Martin At First Sight

ered in front of the old maple dresser. She patted the bright, tawny waves. "I do look like her—a lot. Of course, she had long hair, but—"

"Joan!"

"I'm coming!"

"Try not to rattle the whole house when you come down. Try to walk like a lady, please!" Aunt Babe whined, as Joan ran down the steps into the library, where Aunt Evvie and Aunt Babe were sitting waiting for dinner.

Setting the table was a rite. The heavy silence cloth, the shining damask cloth, the cut glass and silver, all had to be laid as if for a banquet, even though there was to be nothing but codfish and tea.

The teaspoons looked dark. Joan placing them carefully on the table, hoped that Aunt Evvie wouldn't notice. It was her work to clean the silver.

Oh, dear? Aunt Babe and Aunt Evvie were fighting again. The sound of their angry voices came clearly across the hall from the library, Aunt Evvie's bass drowning out Babe's thin treble:

"So I bought the automobile on the spot."

"You what?" Aunt Babe shrilled.

"I said I bought the automobile. You aren't deaf, are you, Babe?" Evvei was shouting. "It's a very good automobile. I could tell as soon as I heard the engine."

"But an automobile—an automobile—what do you want with an—"

"What do I want an automobile for?" Aunt Evvie was trying to mimic Babe. "To go into the real estate business with. That's what for. Somebody has to do something around here. You don't do anything. I'm going to get some land farther up, and sub-divide. All kinds of money in it, Babe. In three months I'll be able to pay back—"

"You've gone and taken out another mortage, Evvie. Oh Evvie, how could you? On our own home, that Papa left us—oh Evvie—we'll lose it—I know we will." Babe was weeping outright now.

"That's all you know. I tell you there's big money—"

Joan didn't wait to hear any more. Aunt Evvie had been raising money on the property and pretty soon it would be all gone. Then there would be another fight. "Anyway, I don't see how we can get much poorer," she thought, and went into the kitchen for the bread and butter.

When she came back to finish setting the table Aunt Evvie's voice was still rumbling along like a steam roller, drowning out Babe's tearful objections.

"So the boy from Gerwin's garage is going to come every Wednesday to clean and oil it, while we're at the Sewing Circle and won't need it. I could do it myself," Evvie was saying, "but after all we have a position to keep up, especially with me going into business.

There was a noise outside. The sound of an auto horn. Aunt Evvie was at the front door in a couple of strides.

"Drive it around here, boy. To the stable!" she shouted.

Joan pushed the red velour curtains aside.

A newly painted touring car, of impressive make, and ancient vintage. And at the wheel, bareheaded and grinning, his freckled face streaked with dirt, was Bill Martin who used to play football at school!

Joan's curiosity was getting the best of her. To think of Aunt Evvie owning an automobile, and Bill Martin—Bill Martin—bringing it home!

She had never spoken to Bill, he was considered rather tough because he lived down in the hollow, and worked on the docks in San Francisco in vacation time. Nobody knew him very well.

What in the world was Aunt Evvie crawling under the car for? Joan raised the window to get a better look.

The window squeaked as she raised it. The boy who had worked on the docks and was going to wash the car on Wednesdays looked up. He saw Joan, silhouetted against the red curtains, a golden, shining thing, drenched in the glory of the sunset. He hadn't had much time for girls. The high school ones were giggling children—the older ones, like Katie in the Waffle Kitchen and Dolores, Gerwin's plump wife—well, he hadn't any time for them either. But this one—this one—

He had forgotten that he had ever seen her before. Forgotten the big woman inspecting the engine. Forgotten that the flaming glory that enveloped the girl was the gift of the sunset.

Joan drew back, her heart beating wildly. She had forgotten the elderly woman and the car, too. She only saw a boy looking up at her from the rose garden.

CHAPTER III.

AFTERWARDS, Joan thought she must have imagined it. It must have been the sun in her eyes that made him seem to look at her that way, and still—and still—he had looked up at her, standing there in the window, with a kind of wonder in his face, as if he were looking at a princess. A princess out of a book.

"He liked me right away," she thought. And when the girls in the school yard gathered in a tight, giggling little roup about Hilda Sedwick, who didn't like her any more, she didn't care—much. "I s'pose they're talking about me again. Making fun of my shoes or something. Well, I don't care—he never even saw them. He just—saw me!"

And the little fire that Bill's one admiring glance had kindled in her heart, warmed her. Sent tingling little shivers racing down her back.

The girls stopped speaking to her. Nobody had paid any attention to her since the day Hilda got mad at her. Hilda was the most popular girl in high school. All the good times centered around the Sedgwicks' big hospitable house on the hill. So long as Hilda championed her she was one of them, or as much one of them as a shabby, old-fashioned little girl in shiny serge and cotton stockings can be one of a group of well-dressed moderns.

Most of them really liked Joan—she was always bubbling over with fun and ideas, but as Dorothy Nailor said afterwards, "It's kind of a relief to be rid of her, 'cause you simply hate to be seen with a frump like that. It makes you feel kind of funny inside."

So Joan was dropped—ostracized, and occasionally sneered at, with the amazing callousness and cruelty that only the teens are capable of. At recess she stood all alone in her corner of the school yard, like a maimed yellow chick, deserted by its fellows.

"We danced three dances—three! Oh, he's the most wonderful dancer. When you dance with him—I can't explain it—but it's wonderful—"

"Uh-huh. Did I tell you what Bert said to me on the way home? Listen—I want to tell you what Bert said—listen—"

"Nile green—all ruffled, with the cunningest little puff sleeves, and the teeniest, tiniest little shirrings of—"

Joan tried not to listen to them, but they shouted so, trying to drown each other out, that she couldn't help it. They had such good times, such awfully good times, and she was so left out. . .

Whenever the loneliness pressed too hard, she shook her hair back furiously and tried to concentrate on Bill.

Bill loved her. Well, if he didn't now, he would pretty soon. Already she was planning the wedding. White satin. No, ivory satin. And her grandmother Van Fleet's rose point veil, with tulle. Lilies of the valley and gardenias, like Hilda's oldest sister, Alice, had when she was married. Hilda could be a bridesmaid. She'd forgive Hilda for being so mean, and they'd be friends again. Hilda could wear nile green, made something like that dress she was raving about—with little puff sleeves.

Buzz . . . the electric buzzer jangling. Recess was over at last.

So Joan got through the first two days of her ostracism, thinking about the boy who looked up at her from the rose garden. Building air castles, wistfully dreaming.

The third day she couldn't stand it any longer. She had to walk past Gerwin's Garage. It was six blocks out of her way, but she could walk downtown, and pretend she had to buy something at the grocery.

Hurrying along the little boardwalk near the ferry, where the big boat for San Francisco, and the little boat for Tiburon squeaked at their moorings, old Captain Horner hailed her. "Hello, Johnnie Hastings, what you doing down here?"

The quick scarlet dyed her cheek. "Oh, I'm—I'm going to the grocery." Her tongue tripped on the lie. She looked at him appealingly out of big, troubled, gray-green eyes.

"Goin' to meet your sweetheart—that's what!" Old Captain Horner, who remembered when she was a baby, chuckled. Veronica's little girl with a sweetie! The very idea. Well, well.

"If course, I'm not!" Joan gasped. She looked at him in horror. How could he have possibly found out?

"Well, you will be pretty soon. Getting prettier every day, Johnnie. 'Scuse me. Guess I'll have to be calling you Joan now, you're such a young lady, or mebbe Miss Hastings! He, he!"

Joan laughed, too, with blessed relief. Oh, the silly she was! Of course, he hadn't meant anything—how could he?

"Goodbye!" she flung over her shoulder. "Goodbye, Captain Horner!"

Now she was almost at the garage. Her steps got slower. Slower still. The boy was out in front, doing something to a truck. His strong brown arms flashed in the sun. A little pulse began to beat in Joan's throat. Should she speak first, or would he? Now he was turning toward her. Panic gripped her. She seemed to be standing still—rooted to the spot—staring. But she wasn't. She was walking right along, walking right by, passing him! She tried desperately to speak, to say "Hello!" nonchalantly, but she couldn't. Her lips were too dry and stiff.

His cap was pulled so far over his eyes she couldn't be sure that he saw her. Anyway, he pretended not to. He turned away from her, and wouldn't look. Joan's heart almost stopped beating. She was suffocating, but her feet carried her right along, round the turn of the road, up the steep road that twisted above the town.

After a while she found herself sitting on the grass, on a hill, all spicy smelling with budding shrubs, and a tangle of creeping vines. Down below she could hear the water lapping on the rocks. Some little birds chirped in a thicket.

She sat there a long time, on the pleasant Sausalito hillside, with the lovely panorama of the bay, the islands and the little boats spread out before her. The sun was setting when she clambered stiffly to her feet, and knew that she was cold. The wind had risen to a gale.

"Well—that's the end of that, all right!" and she trudged on to the house.

Now her defense was down. She had no more rosy dreams to warm the long, dreary days. She wasn't anybody's fairy-tale princess. But she'd be boiled in oil, cut up in little tiny pieces before she'd let them know she cared.

"No, thanks, I don't want to play. I hate basketball. I wouldn't play for anybody!" she cried vehemently, when one of the girls offered to let her play for a few moments until someone else got there.

"What did I tell you?" Hilda said. "There's no use bothering with her—she's stuck up!"

And all the while Joan's heart was crying. "Oh, please, let me play—please take me back. It isn't my fault. I'm queer—I'm not really. It's just Aunt Evvie. Oh, talk to me again—be nice to me again—I'm so lonely—"

Fay King Shows by Contrast That Actions Speak Louder Than Words

By FAY KING

IN A CERTAIN shop, a young woman has made herself quite unpopular with her fellow workers.

She high-hats the other girls.

She constantly refers to the life of luxury in which she was reared. Her conversation is continually of her rich relations and former social connections.

"Aw! That's all ballyhooley!" they say of her behind her back.

In a small restaurant on a side street a dignified young man works as a waiter. He applied for the job and, getting it, does his work willingly and well.

No explanations. No apologies.

They don't know anything about him, but behind his back you hear it said:

"That guy is somebody! Just tiding over a bad break, I guess!"

So it seems that actions still speak louder than words!

ASPIRIN

The whole world knows Aspirin as an effective antidote for pain. But it's just as important to know that there is only one genuine Bayer Aspirin. The name Bayer is on every tablet, and on the box. If it says Bayer, it's genuine; and if it doesn't, it is not! Headaches are dispelled by Bayer Aspirin. So are colds, and the pain that goes with them; even neuralgia, neuritis, and rheumatism promptly relieved. Get Bayer—at any drugstore—with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

Your Sunday Dinner

By PRUDENCE PENNY.

Mint Cocktail
Roast Lamb
Mashed Potatoes Gravy
Lyonnaise Carrots Green Peas
Lettuce with Thousand Island Dressing
Currant Jelly Muffins

A MINT cocktail is a good "starter" for the Sunday dinner. Peel a grapefruit, remove the pulp from the membrane and cut in pieces. Dice six slices pineapple, mix with the grapefruit and put in cocktail glasses. Add the juice from the pineapple, and sprinkle with 12 mint cherries, finely minced.

For the roast lamb, have breast of lamb boned and rolled. Wipe the meat, season with salt and pepper. Cut three small gashes in the meat and insert thin shavings of garlic cloves. Sear both sides in hot fat, add one cup hot water, and baste with this every 10 minutes. If your roast is small, allow 15 minutes a pound plus 10 minutes. If large, allow 30 to 40 minutes extra. Lamb should be served well done, not rare.

LYONNAISE carrots are made as follows: Boil three whole carrots and cut in thin slices. Mince an onion very fine, and fry it in one tablespoon butter. Add the carrots, sprinkle with salt, pepper, and a bit of minced thyme, parsley and bay leaf. Fry 10 minutes and serve hot.

For the currant jelly muffins, sift together one cup each of white and yellow cornmeal with four teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt and two teaspoons sugar. Mix together one cup milk with one well-beaten egg and add to the first mixture. Add two teaspoons melted fat and beat well. Fill buttered muffin tins one-quarter full and place a spoonful of jelly on top. Cover with more batter and bake at 450 degrees. Apple jelly, steamed figs or preserves may be used in the same way.

GRAHAM LOAF—Two cups graham flour, 1 cup white flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup raisins, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ cup molasses, ½ cup sugar, 1½ cups milk, 2 tablespoons Blue Ribbon Malt Extract (hop flavored). Mix dry ingredients, add raisins. Mix soda and molasses, add Blue Ribbon Malt Extract, hop flavored, mix thoroughly, add sugar and sweet milk. Bake one hour in a moderate oven, 350 degrees Fahrenheit.

CREAM OF CAULIFLOWER SOUP—Trim off outside leaves of medium-sized head of cauliflower and carefully separate blossoms. Soak in cold, salted water 10 minutes. Cut the good green parts in small pieces and place in salted water.

Boil the blossoms gently for 30 minutes. Remove and place in soup tureen; sprinkle with grated nutmeg, minced parsley, and, if liked, grated cheese. Add the greens to the water left in the pot and boil slowly for one hour. This should make two cups of strained liquid for the soup.

Melt three tablespoons butter in a saucepan and add 3½ tablespoons flour. Stir to a smooth paste. Gradually stir in three cups scalded milk. Add cauliflower stock and boil slowly until thick. Add one teaspoon salt, half teaspoon white pepper and a speck of cayenne. When ready to serve, pour over cauliflower blossoms.

Garnish with egg beans made as follows: Beat an egg very light; add three-quarter teaspoon salt, half cup flour and stir in two tablespoons milk. Run this dough through a colander into a pan of hot fat and fry until the egg beans are brown. Drain in brown paper.

MARSHMALLOW LOAF—Soak one tablespoon gelatine in one-half cup cold water. Dissolve by adding one-half cup boiling water; add one cup sugar and cool. Beat four egg whites stiff and add cold gelatine. Beat for one minute and divide in three parts. Flavor one part with three tablespoons respberry juice; one with three tablespoons orange juice; and one with three tablespoons melted chocolate. Dust a loaf cake tin with powdered sugar, and when gelatine has stiffened put in one part. Sprinkle with chopped walnuts, then put in other flavors, with chopped nuts between each layer. Set on ice to harden and serve in slices with whipped cream.

CORNSTARCH PUDDING—Heat two cups of milk in a double boiler. Add one-third cup sugar or one-quarter cup strained honey, and stir in six tablespoons cornstarch. Cook until smooth. Pour into a bowl to chill, and fold in one cup whipped cream flavored with vanilla. Serve with fresh or canned fruits or berries.

NOW that the kiddies have started off to school, the old problem of a nourishing luncheon arises. Milk, fresh vegetables and fruits, those vitamin-bearing food necessities, must play their valuable part in the scheme of things.

The vegetables should be freshly cooked for the little ones. Cook enough for dinner if you wish and reheat them for the older folks in the evening, but give the younger children freshly cooked vegetables. Meats, it will do no harm to serve twice cookd.

Invest in some small ramekins. You will find that an individual dish of creamed potatoes, finished in the oven, with a sprinkle of buttered breadcrumbs, will be of much more interest to the child with a finicky appetite than just ordinary creamed potatoes served from the family dish on an ordinary plate.

Scalloped dishes of various types may be served in these small dishes. Tomatoes, for instance. There is nothing finer for the small or large members of the family.

CHOCOLATE DROP COOKIES—One cup of brown sugar, one-half cup of butter, one egg, one and one-half cups of flour, two-thirds teaspoon of soda, one-half cup of milk, one and one-half squares of chocolate. Cream the butter and sugar, add beaten egg and mix well. Then add soda to flour and alternate flour and milk, and finally add the chocolate. Drop from a spoon on a greased sheet and cook in a moderate oven. These are especially good with chocolate icing.

* * *

ESCALLOPED VEGETABLES—Make a cream sauce of one tablespoon of butter and one tablespoonful of flour blended with 1½ cups of milk. When thick and smooth pour over a cup of cooked rice or macaroni and an equal amount of almost any cooked vegetable, string beans, broccoli, spinach, carrots or Swiss chard.

Dear bewildered Madam:

There are so many biscuits and queer biscuit names!

How in the world is a person going to remember the names of the biscuits she wants?

Fortunately, you don't have to.

Long ago we gave our many different kinds of biscuits one family name. We call them Sunshine because they're full of it . . . born in it . . . baked in it.

You only have to remember the name Sunshine. It is the password, at your grocer's, to fine, plump Soda Crackers, luscious Fig Bars, oven-crisp Graham Crackers and many other fine biscuits.

Sunshine .. well worth saying whenever you want BISCUITS

BUTLER LOSES STAR

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 5.—Injuries received in the opening game against Vandergrift two weeks ago will cause Paul Turner, veteran halfback of the Gold and White eleven here to retire for the rest of the season, it was announced yesterday.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by HARRY KECK
SPORTS EDITOR

WAITE HOYT, who pitched the opener yesterday, has been the Yankees' pitching staff recently as much as Burleigh Grimes was representative of the Pirates' mound corps during most of the late campaign. Waite is in the undertaking business and baseball is a sideline with him. When interviewed yesterday he said winning the series from the Cardinals was the biggest undertaking contract his firm had yet undertaken.

IF Lefty Grove only were pitching for the Cards, the series would be a romp for the Yankees. All they'd have to do would be to pitch Henry Johnson and Al Shealy against him in turn and they wouldn't lose a game.

THE boxing business began to look up yesterday when it was definitely established that Gene Tunney actually was married and would continue to do his fighting in private after having taken a liking to such procedure in his bout with Tom Heeney, a few months back. It looks now as if the Lemonation tournament cannot help but prosper, even if Jim Sigman wins it.

PRINCETON is going to abandon the huddle this season. The Society of Grandstand Wise Crackers, the members of which always get a kick out of wondering what the boys are buzzing about, has entered a violent protest. One good feature about abandoning the huddle, however, is that the boys will be able to run off a play or two before it gets dark and becomes necessary for a halfback to steal the ball and dash for a touchdown as the old familar shadows are lengthening on the chalk-marked field and the boys in the press box can't see the numbers and don't know whether it was Joe Spivis or Jim Whoozis who scored and don't care because nobody else knows, either, and it really doesn't matter anyway. With the huddle out, the boys will be able to write their leads in the third quarter and then simply send a correction to the office after the game telling the editors to make the score 42 to 41 instead of 19 to 2, and let it go at that.

THE huddle was a great thing when it was new, but it was getting to be so common that no self-respecting college could continue to use it. Even Ypsilanti and St. Olaf College were subscribing to the system.

BOSTON COLLEGE boasts the youngest big college football coach in the land in the person of Joe McKenney, whose team scored a 38-6 victory over Catholic University in its opening battle last Saturday. Joe is only 23 years old. He was tickled silly over winning so decisively in his coaching debut. He made wholesale substitutions, only five members of the squad failing to get into action, and his team didn't punt once in the entire fray. Only one attempt was made to kick and then a bad pass from the center caused the intended punter to snatch the ball and run with it.

POSTPONEMENT of the George Godfrey-Roberto Roberti fight in Brooklyn Wednesday night because of the illness of Roberti knocked out an all-Pittsburgh preliminary between Marco Polo, of McKees Rocks, and Harry Fay, of Charlerol. That's going a long distance away from home to have an argument.

PITT GAME ON AIR

A play-by-play account of the Pitt-Bethany game in the Panthers' Stadium will be broadcast by KQV tomorrow. The station will go on the air at 2:15, 15 minutes before the start of the game.

Indians Play Mountaineers

By JESS CARVER.

HEADED by at least a dozen intersectional battles, the annual setup weaning process of college football will begin tomorrow, both in this and other grid districts throughout the country. A setup, of course, is never a setup until the game is over, but there are a lot of ball games that bear strange resemblance to pushovers long before the opening whistle blows. The tristate district has three important games slated, none of which will be played before a Pittsburgh crowd.

The most important game of the day from an intersectional standpoint as far as the tri-state district is concerned will be the Haskell Indian-West Virginia University battle at Wheeling. West Virginia, already defeated and with the state title gone flooie, cannot afford to lose to the Indians, else the wolves who were only silenced when Wesleyan was downed a week ago, will set up their infamous howling again. The Indians, dependent upon a good showing in every game for their drawing power, cannot afford to be hammered into peaceful submission by the Mountaineers. The game will be a colorful one, for the Indians have made themselves a national reputation by just the sort of a game the fans will see them play tomorrow.

The Westminster-Allegheny contest at New Wilmington and the Bucknell-Geneva fracas at Beaver Falls are the other two affairs of the most import to the fans of this locality.

PITT, BISONS CLASH

Pittsburgh folks will have an opportunity to see the biggest eleven in the section when the Bethany Bisons invade the Pitt Stadium. Bethany will offer the Panthers their second minor college opposition of the year, and if they do half as well as did Thiel a week ago, and if Pitt does not show a 75 per cent improvement, the afternoon will be long and hard. Bethany held W. & J. even for the entire first half, you know.

Ashland College of Ohio will furnish Carnegie Tech with an afternoon's entertainment. Ashland took one on the chin to start the season from Slippery Rock State Teachers and then turned around and won from the supposedly strong Wooster College team a week ago. All of which, as usual, proves nothing.

The Dukes are in Scranton today, resting up for a sure-to-be tough battle with Jack Harding's St. Thomas College team tomorrow afternoon. The Dukes have a tough day in view, for it was this same St. Thomas club that held the crack Temple U. gridders to a 12-0 score in Philadelphia last week.

Juniata will meet Thiel at Greenville; Grove City opens up with St. Francis at Grove City; Waynesburg invades Little Washington to battle the Presidents and West Virginia Wesleyan travels to New York for a setto with Chick Meehan's New York University Violets, to complete the card for tristate schools.

All of the elevens went through their last hard workouts of the week yesterday and will taper off this afternoon with signal drills for the contests tomorrow.

LEONARD IS HIGH GUN IN WEST PENN SHOOT

Shooting in Class B, Harry Leonard led the gunners at the final shoot of the West Penn League yesterday over the Wilkinsburg gun traps, Leonard getting a 97x100 score for the day to head the procession. A. W. Best of the Homestead Gun Club took the trophy in Class A at the shoot-off after being tied for high gun by Lew Irwin, both having a 96x100 score. C. S. Anderson captured the first prize in Class C with a 91x100 score, with J. W. Farguhar taking Class D honors with a 94x100 mark. Dr. S. H. Holland captured the double-target championship by breaking 45 clays out of 25 pairs.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Garfield, N. J.—Mike Sankovitch knocked out Jack Humbeck, 3 rounds.

At Philadelphia—Theodore (Kid) Snowden knocked out Jimmy McAllister, 1 round; Battling Griffin defeated Eddie Law, 8 rounds.

At Jersey City, N. J.—Dan Billick defeated Jimmy Larson, 6 rounds.

NOTES of the BOXERS

THE indoor boxing season at the Arena in Philadelphia, gets under way a week from next Monday night, with Billy Wallace, of Cleveland, meeting Johnny Judelch, of Philadelphia, in the 10-round main event. Eddie Shea, of Chicago, and Davey Abad, of Panama, meet in another 10-rounder.

Baby Joe Gans, the hard-hitting Negro welterweight, of California, boxes Andy Divodi, of New York, in the semi-final to the 10-round battle between Tommy Grogan and Joe Glick in Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight. Izzy Grove and Hilario Martinez box the windup of a show in Brooklyn tomorrow night.

Dave McConnell, of the North Side, has signed a five-year contract to go under the management of Luke Carney. Dave is 21 years old and scales 137 pounds and is a rangy boxer. He was born in Ireland. After a successful amateur career he turned professional recently and has won five bouts in six starts.

The Twenty-first Ward A. C., of the North Side, stages the first of a series of monthly amateur shows at St. Andrew's Lyceum tonight. Six bouts are on the card.

Tommy Crowley, local junior-lightweight, boxes Eddie Anderson at Indianapolis next Tuesday night and Paul Allen at Louisville, six nights later.

Dan Billick, of Duquesne, scored his second victory in four nights at Jersey City Monday night, defeating Jimmy Larson in a six-round bout.

LEAGUE TEAMS PLAY TODAY

Three City League contests, two of which are intersectional affairs and a host of battles scheduled between tri-state high school elevens comprise an attractive scholastic gridiron card for the week-end. The City League duels lead today's card.

This is the first year since the formation of the league that intersectional games have been arranged for, and it is believed that the games will go a long way towards settling the disputed superiority of the two sections.

Westinghouse will be host to the Allegheny eleven on their own gridiron and Peabody will entertain Carrick on the East End field today. Allegheny, defeated in the opening game of the season by the inspired battlers of Coach Majeski of South Hills, will enter today's struggle decidedly the underdogs. Peabody will be favored over Carrick, though Coach Lyons' gridders are capable of putting up a stern battle.

The only sectional fray today will bring together Perry and Langley on Perry's grid. Perry is regarded as one of the strongest elevens in the district, with a fine chance to win the league title.

South Hills and South met on the former's grid yesterday, the Hills team taking a 19 to 0 victory. The lineup:

| South Hills. | | South. |
|---|---|---|
| Parke | L E | Mervosh |
| Dague | L T | Sellesr |
| Whetsel | L G | Raynovich |
| Brown | C | Dean |

| Currie | R E | Stanish |
| Riske | Q B | Goldstein |
| Davis | L H | Joyce |
| Pritchlow | R H | Rustyn |
| Pietch | F B | Petyk |

Score by quarters:

|---|---|---|---|---|

12 RULES FOR SUCCESS

by GENE TUNNEY
RETIRED HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION

NO. IX.—THE SPIRIT TO DO OR DIE.

MANY lives fail because they lack determination. They lack moral fibre. There is no driving power in their engine of life. Their backbone resembles a shoestring and their nature is pitiably pliable.

Determination is that element of success that gives a man the ability to grasp his aim with an iron grip, keeping the needle of his purpose pointing to the star of hope. The man of determination carries in his presence a power which controls and commands. Determination inspires a sublime audacity and a heroic courage. When Lincoln was asked how Grant impressed him as a general, he replied:

"The greatest thing about him is his cool determination of purpose. He has the grip of a bulldog and the tenacity of a lion and he must win."

When Sheridan found his army retiring before the victorious Early, an officer said:

"Sir, we are beaten."

"No, sir," said Sheridan, "you are beaten, but not this army."

Then, assuming command, like Jupiter, he hurled a thunderbolt for victory.

DETERMINATION WINS

Disraeli, the famous British statesman, was laughed down the first time he arose to speak in Parliament. As he took his seat, as a parting shot he said, "The time will come when you will be glad to hear me." And the time came when he was considered one of the ablest debaters in the British Parliament.

Cyrus Field devoted 13 years of seemingly hopeless drudgery amid scoffs and ridicule and crossed the Atlantic 50 times before he laid the cable that bound two continents together and obtained for himself lasting fame.

The world loves men of determination, with clear purpose, like Paul Jones, who, when they commanded him to surrender, audaciously replied, "Surrender? I have just begun to fight." Determination enabled Benjamin Franklin to dine on a small loaf of bread in the printing office with a book in his hand until he became a world power.

Fulton was laughed at when he proposed to float the Clermont on the Hudson, but his determination turned sneers into the plaudits of thousands.

Bell and his telephone were laughed at as a toy for children, but he stuck to his job and made the world a whispering gallery.

MUST STICK TO FIGHT

The difference between success and failure is a fixed purpose and a grim determination. A man shows his strength, not by falling, but by rising every time he does fall. No man ever made a success of life by refusing to take punishment.

This is of primary importance in the ring as it is in life, the ability to absorb punishment and still keep going. A man with a fighting heart never gives up, no matter how skillful and strong a rival faces him. Determination keeps him going. The ring has many thrilling stories of men with superb physical equipment, keen, alert and skillful, but who failed miserably as boxers because they had not the fighting heart.

The same rule obtains in any walk of life. Failures are stalking past us on life's pathway—depressed and dejected, hopeless and helpless—because they lacked determination—the fighting heart. It is a valuable asset to any young man to laugh at punishment and defeat and still go on.

That was a great expression borne in the World War, and now coined into the literature of world life—"Carry On." This is another element in the building of a true and successful life.

COGSWELL CAPTURES S. A. R. GOLF TOURNEY

W. H. Cogswell, of the Hannastown Country Club, near Greensburg, captured the one-day golf tournament of the Ambridge Chaper Sons of the American Revolution tournament, held at the Ambridge Country Club yesterday, even though he was not playing at the top of his game. He scored a gross 90, being out in 42 and home in 48, to cop the low gross honors. Dr. H. R. Decker, of Longue Vue, ranked second with 47-44—91.

Dr. J. B. Garvin won the low net prize with a 80, while Maj. Weaver Rogers was second with a net 75.

Col. Franklin T. Blackstone, of Ambridge, chairman of the Pennsylvania Society, S. A. R., golf committee, won the kickers' handicap, having a net 79. Dr. A. W. Mellott and Dr. C. G. Hughes also shared in the awards. F. M. McIntosh, of Ambridge, won the consolation prize.

Sunny Jim Bottomley Alone Shines At Bat

SUNNY JIM SOCKS HOMER FOR ONLY TALLY

Sunny Jim Bottomley, fence-busting first-sacker of the Cardinals, was the only member of his team to successfully solve the slants of Hoyt, who, incidentally, was the Yankees' only consistent winning pitcher during the season, turning in 22 victories. Bottomley made the Cards' only run on a drive into the right field bleachers in the seventh inning and also lashed out a single and walked once in four trips to the platter. Douthit fanned once and got a base on balls in four times at bat.

FANS TWICE

Chick Hafey, who batted .339 for the Cardinals during the regular season, was a bust against the masterly pitching of Waite Hoyt of the Yankees in the first game of the World Series at the Yankee Stadium yesterday. He failed to get a hit in four times at bat and fanned twice.

FLASH FIZZLES

Frankie Frisch, the Fordham Flash, was unable to break into the hit column against Hoyt. He fanned in one of his four times at bat. All of the Cardinal sluggers pictured here batted .300 or better during the regular season, their averages being given in parenthesis after their names in the pictures. George Harper got the only hit off Hoyt aside from the two credited to Bottomley. Andy High fanned twice, keeping company with Hafey.

Cardinals Face Uphill Fight to Win World Series After Yanks' Win in Opener — Waite Hoyt, in Splendid Form, Uses Brainwork—Redbirds Fail to Support Sherdel—McKechniemen Likely to Unleash Attack —Babe Ruth Still Dangerous.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—There is an uphill fight ahead of the Cardinals in the world series as a result of their defeat at the hands of Waite Hoyt and the Yankees in the first game of the title struggle yesterday.

Getting the jump in so short a series as this best-four-out-of-seven competition is quite an item in favor of the club that succeeds in doing the trick, as the Yankees did yesterday. It puts the Hugmen in such a position that they need only to break even in six games later in order to capture the big honors, whereas for the Cardinals to win out it will be necessary for McKechnie's men to win fourt out of six.

Waite Hoyt

In other words, New York will be required to play only .500 ball in six games in order to grab the title and the long end of the money, while St. Louis must travel at a gait of .667 to win out after the unsuccessful start.

HOWEVER, the task confronting the Redbirds is not an impossible one by any means, though admittedly a tough one. It has been accomplished before, and by the Cardinals themselves, among others.

Two years ago, when the same two clubs were contending for the world championship, the Yankees not only won the first game, but took three of the first five contests. Needing only one more victory, and scheduled to have in the sixth and seventh numbers of the series, whatever advantage there is in playing at home, the Gothamites looked like sure winners, only to

EASY GAME TO LOSE, M'KECHNIE SAYS

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—For perhaps the first time in the history of the World Series, the champions of the American and National Leagues played a ball game yesterday and both were perfectly satisfied with the way it turned out.

"That was an easy game to lose," Manager Bill McKechnie of the Cardinals announced as his team trotted into the dressing room, silent, but no means downhearted at the 4-to-1 victory of New York's belting beauties.

"Waite Hoyt pitched a marvelous game. There was nothing we could do about it. He was just in there, and right, and that's all there was to it. Little Lefty Sherdel pitched a great game, too, and his own brand of hurling would have won nine out of 10 contests. Hoyt deserves to win. Don't think this series is on the chutes, though."

The little fellow who once played ball on the Yankee club warned all within the hearing. "The Yanks won the first game of the 1926 series, too, but the Cardinals won the championship. Pete Alexander will be in there tomorrow and there'll be another story."

The American League champions took victory as calmly as though they had been favorites all along with the pre-series dopesters.

"Looks like the cripples did pretty well," crowed the clouting king of them all, Babe Ruth.

CUBS WIN OUT IN FOURTEENTH

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—The White Sox and Cubs battled for 14 innings yesterday, the Cubs emerging winner, 5 to 3, to make it two straight in the series for the city baseball title.

A three-run attack in the fourteenth gave the Cubs the game after they had knotted the score at 2 all in the ninth on an error by Art Shires, White Sox rookie first baseman. The score:

CHILLY SAUCE

BY CHILLY DOYLE

Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Out of the welter of sensible gossip and hokum printed on the current championship comes Waite Hoyt with a slab performance that upset everything, not to mention the writers. The journalists are flabbergasted in their efforts to write an epic on a contest, which, had it been played in the Baker Bowl, probably would have resulted in the ground-keeper waking up the fans to get them out of the park after the final put-out was made.

Aside from the socks propelled by Sunny Jim and Bob Meusel, the first game of the world series was almost devoid of thrills. Rabbit Maranville's circus catch of a foul near the left-field stands was a three-alarm feature, but from the moment of this thrill in the third inning the methodical movements of the players in the field became quite monotonous.

Years ago the Giants and Yankees staged titular battles that made the welkin ring, and the scraps between the Pirates and Senators of 1925 were packed with excitement. But the initial scrap of the present set was a disappointment so far as baseball art is concerned.

True, the clever slab-work of Waite Hoyt was pleasing, and there are many fans who take keen delight in watching a good pitcher do his stuff. But for everyone who likes to see a silent offensive, there are twenty who love to see hard smashes pounded to different parts of the field. When this occurred the other seven players have a chance to do something. The Dinwiddie Reds could have handled most of the chances in today's game, and the field umpires had so little to do they were scarcely noted by the fans.

All of this coming on the heels of the columns printed regarding the power of the Cardinals was quite disconcerting to National League fans. What a sad spectacle at the plate were Douthit, High, Frisch and others.

And if the first game brought any banter or by-play between the benches it must have been offered with Maxim-silencer effect. Perhaps the affairs will

N. Y. SLAB ACE TIES MATTY, PENNOCK

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—The boy wonder of Flatbush is maturing into a right-handed pitcher who seems to have designs upon the world series pitching records of such masters as Mathewson, Bender and Pennock. In turning back the St. Louis Cardinals with three safe hits and one earned run in the 1928 opener, Waite Charles Hoyt increased his six-year string to five victories and only three defeats.

The Yankee ace thus matched in victories Pennock, who has lost none, and the immortal Matty, who divided 10. He now needs only one more triumph to equal the record figure of Chief Bender, who won six and lost four in a long and honorable career from 1905 through 1914.

The one-time "Brooklyn schoolboy" now has an earned-run average of just 1.72 for 68 innings of pitching in nine games over a six-year span. No pitcher in so many games, save Matty, with 1.02, has a better earned-run mark. Pennock crowds Hoyt with 1.90 in seven engagements, one of which was hurled 14 years ago for the Athletics.

Hoyt has pitched five complete games, given 19 passes, fanned 38 and allowed 63 hits and 22 runs, 13 earned.

SEALS, SENATORS TO PLAY OFF COAST LEAGUE TIE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—The Pacific Coast League officially ended its 1928 season yesterday with San Francisco and Sacramento's Senators tied for first place in the second half of the season.

A series beginning tomorrow will be played to determine the second half winner. San Francisco won the first-half race and if it beats out Sacramento in two out of three in the coming series, will be declared the 1928 champions and receive a $15,000 bonus hung up by the league.

If Sacramento defeats the Seals for the second half, the two teams will meet in a seven-game series, splitting the bonus on a 60-40 percentage.

DIEGEL AND ESPINOSA LEAD IN PRO TOURNEY SEMI-FINALS

RECORD BROKEN AGAIN

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—(AP.)—For the second time in two days the trotting record for the local track was broken when Peggy Perkins, owned by W. M. Hepburn, of Jersey Shore, set a new mark of 2:07½.

GROGAN MEETS GLICK

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—Tommy Grogan, slugging Omaha lightweight, faces the hardest test of his sensational career tonight when he takes on Joe Glick, Williamsburg pants presser, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

SARAZEN TWO DOWN TO LEO AT 9TH

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—Gene Sarazen started poorly today in his semi-final match with Leo Diegel in the national professional golf championship tournament, taking fives on each of the first two holes and losing them both, as Diegel made par fours.

Walter Hagen

Diegel, victor over Walter Hagen, the champion, yesterday, appeared to be well on his game while Sarazen did everything a great golfer ordinarily doesn't do. His first drive was in a trap and this lost him the opening hole.

Trouble awaited Gene at the second hole where his drive was in rough, his second hit a tree and his third went over the green.

This match was an all New York state affair, as Diegel represents the Fenimore Country Club, White Plains, and Sarazen the Fresh Meadows Club, Flushing.

ESPINOSA LEADS

In the other semi-final, Al Espinosa, of Chicago, stood 1 up on Horton Smith, blond 20-year-old professional from Joplin, Mo. They halved the first hole and Espinosa took the second when Smith rounded a brassie into the same tree that Sarazen found in his way.

Diegel held his 2 up advantage over Sarazen as they finished the first nine holes. Both were making many errors, particularly on the greens. Sarazen took 40 to go out and Diegel 38, three over par.

After dropping the first two holes Sarazen got one of them back at the third as Diegel took three putts. They halves the next two. At the sixth Diegel again brought his lead to 2 up when Sarazen's second was bunkered and it took him four to get on and six to hole out.

The seventh, eighth and ninth holes were halved.

M'KECHNIE

"We'll do it some more. Four games is enough for this series."

The Bambino, yanking off his socks in a hurry so as to beat some one to a hot shower, chuckled over the three hits he gathered during the day.

"I was sure due for some," he said, "that first double off Sherdel was a fast ball over the outside corner, the second a nice slow ball inside. I guess that Sherdel is a cousin of mine after all."

Miller Huggins, the mighty atom who directs the husky Yanks, seemed more in need of restoratives and violet ray machines than any of the crippled warriors on his staff. Worn and tired, Miller dressed as quickly as he could and got away from the sight and sound of baseball. He said either George Pipgras or Tom Zachary, the veteran southpaw, would pitch today.

There was a heart-ache for Sherdel in the home run, Bob Meusel smacked to settle the issue in the fourth inning. The little southpaw was quite disconsolate.

"All day," he said, "I fed Meusel low balls on the outside except just once. My control slipped and I tossed him a curve that broke high on the outside. You saw what he does to that kind of a ball.

"Those Yankees are a trouble-some club. They had me in a hole all the time. I never could get ahead of them and take a chance wasting slow balls to get them biting."

Hoyt, when he is needed again in this series, probably will not feed a high fast ball to Jim Bottomley again. The Cardinal first baseman buried a pitch like that so deeply in the right field bleachers for the one St. Louis score that even Hoyt, calm and methodical, as he is was not disturbed.

"I suppose I did pitch a good game," said Hoyt as he scrambled for a shower. "But I did better when I shut out the Giants with two hits in the second game of the 1921 series. But did you see that stop and throw Koenig made on Frankie Frisch in the ninth inning; greatest play I ever saw."

Once out of the showers, Hoyt lined up his shaving tools for the ceremonial that follows every crucial game he pitches. With the rest of the players jeering good naturedly, he scraped away a 36-hour growth of beard.

"I'm not superstitious," he said in apology. "My face smarts shaving. If I didn't wait until after the game it would take my mind off my work."

have some pep now that the first fight is over.

The attendance was fine, but it was not a record-breaker. The day could hardly have been nicer, yet there were empty seats and it is likely there will be more empty spaces today. The Sun-Telegraph recently printed an item to the effect that the attendance might drop off a bit as a result of the preponderance of high-spot baseball dished up in New York in the past month. The record performances of the Yankees and Athletics, together with the recent scraps between the Cardinals and Giants, gave the followers of the sport a lot of feverish baseball. When the clubs switch to St. Louis the ardor of the fans in that section is likely to eclipse the enthusiasm manifest here.

LONG'S SPORT COMMENT

see the Missourians come from behind with a rush and pull the series out of the fire by winning the last two contests.

PRIOR to last fall, when the Pirates were knocked off four times in a row, the team winning the first game of the world series was beaten out four years in succession. From 1921 to 1926, inclusive, the winners of the opening tilt were defeated in the series in five out of six consecutive years.

In 1903, Pittsburgh won three of the first four games, and then lost four in a row. In 1921, the Yanks not only won the first two games from the Giants, but shut them out both times, yet the McGrawites came back and won five of the next six meetings. In both of these seasons the clubs were playing best-five-out-of-nine.

IN 1923 against the Yankees and in 1924 against the Senators, the Giants started off with a victory and then lost out. In 1925, the Senators beat the Pirates in the first game and increased their advantage to three victories in the first four meetings, but just as they were trying to reach a decision as to what style of championship emblem they would select, the Buccaneers took a new lease of life and swept them off their feet in the next three games.

Jim Bottomley

SO IT does not necessarily follow that the National League representatives are going to lose the series merely because they dropped the first game. Before the series started, the edge that was generally conceded to the Redbirds over their opponents was based on the fact that they would be found better fortified than the Yankees in the long run, particularly in the matter of pitchers.

It looked as if the Yanks would shape up as at least equal to the Cards for a game or two, but indications were that as the series progressed the better condition of the St. Louis club, and its greater strength in the box, would gradually tell in its favor. Perhaps that dope will yet hold good.

IN JUSTICE to the National Leaguers, it must be said that Hoyt probably would have beaten any club yesterday. Always rated as one of the best money pitchers in baseball, the Yankee star, in the first game of the sixth world series in which he has participated, more than lived up to that reputation yesterday. He used a fine curve ball with discretion and good control, and though his fast ball did not look like a world-beater, he pitched it outside to some batters, and inside and high to others, to such good advantage that McKechnie's men could do nothing with it.

HOYT pitched a smart game, besides, and was ever alert to take advantage of a St. Louis batter. The Cards were criticized for taking too many strikes instead of punching at the ball, but this seeming flaw in the Mound City team's attack was due in no small measure to Hoyt's smartness in out-guessing the hittters and putting the ball across the platter when they were anticipating a different kind of pitch. This was particularly noticeable in one of the two occasions on which he struck out Chick Hafey. The first two pitches having been called strikes, Hafey thought the next one would be wide, but Hoyt crossed him up by sending it squarely over the pan while Chick stood stock still with his bat on his shoulder.

IN ANOTHER instance, Taylor Douthit stepped out of the batter's box while Hoyt was preparing to let the ball go. It was a third strike, and though Douthit and other Cardinals kicked vigorously on the decision, contending that it should not be called a strike because the batter was out of his box at the time of delivery, Umpire Owens was correct. It has become a custom in the big leagues for the pitcher to refrain from throwing the ball when the batter steps outside his lines, and in line with this custom, the umpires sometimes refuse to call a ball or strike if the hurler goes through with his delivery. But under the rules, the pitcher is within his rights in delivering the ball, and if the batter steps out of his box he does so at his own risk.

THE St. Louis attack is not likely to remain muzzled for any extended period. The Cards appear to have developed a habit of not hitting behind Billy Sherdel in world series games. Yesterday's contest was the third post-season number he has pitched in two years against the Yankees, and in the three games, one of which was a 10-inning affair, the Redbirds have scored a total of only four runs for the clever left-hander.

Babe Ruth

Sherdel pitched splendid ball after Bob Meusel made his home run in the fourth inning yesterday. He bowled over the next 10 men in a row, and would have retired the eleventh had not Maranville fumbled Dugan's grounder for the only error of the game. It was a waste of effort and a brace too long delayed, however, as Meusel's smash had put the game on ice for the Yanks. A typical Meusel feature, by the way. New York critics do not rave about Meusel, as a rule. They say he doesn't hustle and that he lends little color to the team, but in many a pinch during the season it is this same player who does something out of the ordinary to lift his club out of a hole.

BABE RUTH probably would be dangerous even if he had to be pushed up to the plate in a wheel chair. He played on one leg during the last week or two of the season and was still limping yesterday, yet he cracked out two doubles and a single for three of his club's seven hits and scored two of its four runs. The Bambino is to be feared as long as he can swing a bat, regardless of the condition of his underpinnings.

This is his ninth world series, but judging from his performance of yesterday he is likely to be as great a power as ever for his team, even though he had not been expected to shine with his usual brilliance this time.

SPEAKING of dangerous hitters, Jim Bottomley commands almost as much respect as Ruth on the part of opposing pitchers. Whether it is a world series or an exhibition game, Bottomley goes up there with the same old care-free, but powerful swing that makes him one of the best hitters in the big show. It was his home run smash into the right-field seats that saved the Cardinals from a shutout yesterday, and by making a single on another occasion he placed to his credit for the day, two of the St. Louis club's three hits.

THE system of counting spectators at the Yankee Stadium keeps visiting patrons guessing. Even the home critics were puzzled yesterday, when the paid attendance was announced officially at 61,425. On September 9, the Yanks and Athletics played a doubleheader that was announced as having drawn 85,625 persons, the largest crowd in the history of baseball. Later it was given out that the paid attendance had been about 82,000, though it was learned yesterday from a man close to the Philadelphia American League club that the A's were paid on a basis of only 76,000. Yesterday, shortly after the game started, the park appeared to be filled to capacity, except for the fact that there were not so many standing in the rear of the grandstand or in the aisles. It seemed certain, judging from the figures given out for previous big gatherings, that the attendance approximately 70,000, or enough to break the previous world series attendance record of 63,600, set at th second game of the 1926 event, yet the official figures given out after the game showed less than 62,000. If 85,000, or 82,000, or even 76,000 were in attendance on September 9, those who sized up yesterday's attendance may be pardoned for wondering where the managment put all the extra thousands.

Series Betting Odds Switch To Yanks

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The New York Yankees today were quoted 7-to-5 favorites to win the 1928 world series as a result of their victory in the opening game.

Even money was being wagered on the second game today.

TIRES AND TUBES

HERE'S THE REASONS!

There is a twofold reason why we have decided to take this loss on the vast stocks of Tires and Tubes in our Downtown Store.

1st—Our East Liberty Warehouse is overflowing with direct factory shipments, commitments which we had contracted to take, and therefore have no room to stock additional merchandise.

2nd—While we have enjoyed a huge business, selling thousands of Pittsburgh motorists, we realize that there are thousands who have not yet found the sure economy in buying Sea-Gate Tires, and we know that the sacrifice and loss we are now taking will bring future benefits. We advise and urge immediate purchase at these sacrifice prices.

ACCORDING to the advance style pictures, a girl won't need much in the way of clothes this winter—not much at a TIME, anyway!

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Two Midnight Evaders Surprise Madge

FOR a stunned half second I made no reply whatever to Lillian's startling news that two men were stealing toward the farmhouse from the orchard. Then with a realization of what must be the objective of the mysterious marauders, I turned toward my desk and with swift but trembling fingers gathered up all the papers which could in any way betray the work I had been doing upon the code paper I had copied from Princess Olina's miniature case, and thrust them with the paper itself deep into my desk and locked it. Then crossing to the window I opened it and tested the bars which I had had put upon it some time before.

"This will be the safest place for the papers, don't you think so?" I asked, turning to Lillian as I finished—I really had taken but a few seconds for my precautions.

"Yes, and for you, too," she replied. "Don't you forget that if they really are bent upon getting into the house it's y they want. You stay right here and keep your door locked. There are enough of us outside to repel all invaders. I don't want to call for the county constabulary, and I'm sure it won't be necessary. These gentry evidently figure that Dicky's away, that Jim's in bed on the third floor, and that they have a clear field. When they find out that Jim is very much on the job and has another man here with him, and that we're awake, they'll draw off in good order, I'm sure."

"Where's Junior?" I demanded, my mouth dry, although I knew what her answer would be, and how foolish was my terror.

"Katherine has him with her in her room, which is also safely barred. You know Junior never has slept in a room without bars since the time Grace Draper spirited him away."

"I know," I said, shivering as I always do at the remembrance of that awful time. "But I hate the feeling of being locked in with all you people risking—"

"Risking nothing!" she returned. "The men aren't even near the house yet. Everything is locked and bolted and the lights all out except yours, and the usual all-night light in the hall. We're just going to let them get close up to a door or window, and attempt an entrance. Then, gently but firmly I shall impart the news that we're all ready for them, and then I'm sure there'll be a scurrying for cover which will amuse you."

Jim's voice sounded cautiously from the hall.

"Oh, Mis' Underwood, can you come here a minute?"

That Lillian was in charge was patent, and I did not think of demurring further when she closed the door behind her with the words, "Lock it!" I obeyed her, and then sank down in the nearest chair, my foolish fears having their way with the nerves already frayed from my night's vigil over the code characters.

A sound as of gravel thrown against my window panes brought me to my feet in suddenly augmented terror. Reaching out my hand to the lamp, fortunately within my reach, I switched it out.

I could distinguish two figures, one leaning against the wall as if ill or extremely fatigued, the other stooping to the gravel walk from which, even as I looked, he picked up some small pieces and sent them upward against my window.

There was not much light, but I could see that neither figure possessed the massive frame owned by both the Transvanians in the shack. Besides those men would not herald their approach by signaling me. With my throat pulsing in sudden uncontrollable excitement I shaded my eyes and looked down again. I could not distinguish the outlines of the figure leaning against the house, but surely I knew that other lithe tall figure tossing the gravel against my window! And where he was there also, I knew, was—

With a rush of thankfulness I sent my voice down in a whisper that carried all my soul in it.

"Father!"

NOW is the time when all good girls and true seek the aid of their powder and cream boxes in order to prepare for a perfect Winter Season without a blemish or mark on their lovely sunburned selves.

All Summer long they have spent the time acquiring a coat of the fashionable tan, but now that Fall is here with its gaieties and dances and dinners and teas, one wants her skin to be lovely and white and unmarked. Especially in the evenings when she wears all the frilly things with which she hopes to emulate the well-known moth and attract all to her side.

So now she must get busy and repair the ravages of Old Sol. So hie yourself to the beauty shop and get a lot of cunning little jars and lovely things and fix yourself all up in readiness to meet Love. For if he's missed you this Summer, he may find you this Fall, so you must be prepared.

Wants to Know

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been a steady reader of your column for some time, and since your advice, I know, helped others, I am going to ask you to help me. I am a girl in my teens, considered very popular, and am not bad looking. My question is that I am in doubt about going with a certain fellow whom I love dearly. He is a very fine fellow and is quite settled, and is not like some boys who are always out hunting a wild time. My sister and this boy's brother have been keeping steady company for some time. In fact, they are engaged to be married. Now, Miss Gale, both these boys are very nice chaps and my question is: Is it wrong for two sisters to go with two brothers? Miss Gale, I would hate to drop company with this boy, for I think there is no one like him. Please let me know what you think about it, whether it is right or wrong. Both of these boys are liked by my parents. People have told me that it is wrong for sisters and brothers to marry, that either one or the other will have bad luck, but, Miss Gale, I am not superstitious, but I'm just a girl that

WANTS TO KNOW.

Of course, there is no reason in the world why two sisters shouldn't go with two brothers, my dear.

Disgusted Wife

DEAR MISS GALE:

You certainly do give wonderful advice, so I am writing a few questions. Would you please answer them? I am a married woman, have been married nearly three years. Here is my problem, Miss Gale. My husband drinks, and when I tell him to stop it he will not. He just keeps on drinking. I just despise the sight of any drink, and he won't quit until he gets good and sick and then when he gets over it he gets mad at himself for spending all his money for drink, but, Miss Gale, it won't be long till he starts again. I am so disgusted, Miss Gale, I just feel like running away some place and never coming back. He is just terrible when he drinks. He wants to fight always. Miss Gale, should I leave him or try to put up with it? I just can't stand it much longer, for it is getting on my nerves. Please do not tell me to try and talk with him, because I did and it didn't do any good. So, Miss Gale, please tell me what I should do: leave him or stay for the baby's sake?

A DISGUSTED WIFE.

Tell him you can't stand his conduct any longer, and the threat may make him brace up a little. His remorse afterwards is a good sign, but he needs to be awakened to the fact that he is undermining your health with this constant worry.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A CHARMING AFTERNOON DRESS.

Crepe satin is good for this design, the reverse side of the material answering for trimming. Georgette crepe is also nice.

The pattern is cut in five sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38-inch size will require 3¾ yards of 35-inch material, together with ⅝ yard of contrasting material for facings on the jabots and cuffs. The width of the dress at the lower edge with plait fullness exended is about 56 inches.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidneys disorders.

Healthful Feeding for the Year-Old Child

OUTSIDE of meal time, a perfectly normal baby needs little actual attention. Of course the mother won't run away and leave the little thing. Now and then it must be attended to, but the rest of the time it just needs quiet. The more it is left to itself the better.

DR. COPELAND

Regularity in feeding, cleanliness and quiet—these are matters of chief importance. Sleep will fill in the rest of the 24 hours.

After the child passes the first year of life, it enters upon a new period of existence. Busy as the dear mother thought herself to be taking care of her lovely infant, she will realize that those were days of leisure compared to her life during the nursery and pre-school days.

Everything in sight, certainly everything within reach, is regarded by the youngster as its rightful possession. Reaching and grabbing, and the efforts of the mother to control its activities, result in conflict between authority and desire. Now is the time in the life of the baby when a sensible system of discipline must begin.

But it is not of discipline I would speak. That is somewhat out of my line. I do want to discuss the feeding of the child of this age. After the tenth month of the infant's life, it begins to get considerably more than milk. By this time the weaning is just about accomplished. The youngster is getting cereals, whole wheat crackers, stale bread, baked potato. Pretty soon meat broths and a little egg may be added to the diet. Small quantities of fresh vegetables will be welcomed.

During the last two months of the first year, the infant will be getting about five meals a day. They are given at intervals of four hours. But even with the added articles, the chief food continues to be milk, orange juice or tomato juice in small quantities, perhaps an ounce or two every day, will be an important feature of the diet.

We come now to the second year of life. Now the child should be encouraged to chew things. Buttered crusts of bread and good-sized chicken bones may be given. These will help to develop the jaws and the chewing habit.

Four or five meals a day are required at this age. The child is "sleeping the clock around," as my father used to say. It sleeps from six o'clock in the evening till six the next morning. But there will be the demand for an early breakfast.

The fruit juices are valuable foods. They contain the mineral salts so essential to tooth and bone development. All the berries, fresh ripe peaches, oranges, strained to get rid of seeds and fibre, supply desirable juices. These may be given an hour or so before the second feeding, from one to three or four table-spoonfuls at a time.

We have much to say about infant feeding, but I do believe we say too little about the feeding of the older child. That is why I have spoken of this today.

Answers to Health Queries

T. J. Q.—What will cause the skin to tan instead of burning and becoming excessively red?

A.—The skin is probably very tender and easily irritated—after being sunburned several times you will probably notice that the skin will begin to turn brown after a time.

A. T. Q.—Is it possible to reduce stout legs?

A.—It is difficult to reduce weight in any part of the body without reducing the weight in general. Exercise, such as walking and dancing may help.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, October 6

THE sidereal configurations for this day, although not hostile, are not very helpful. The employment is under hazard, there is sign of small worries and anxieties as well as deceptions. The mind may be cautious, morose and depressed, particularly in its attitude toward domestic or romantic affiliations. It would be wise to refrain from crossing swords with superiors or those in authority.

Those whose birthday it is may not expect a very important or active year. They should be careful of employment and should take pains not to cross those in authority. Also there may be petty trials and inharmonies, especially in domestic or affectional contacts.

A child born on this day, although cherishing home and affectional ties, may be disposed to small worries and friction. It may not find all harmonious or prosperous in the employment.

Indigestion

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali, which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade-Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Some Most Interesting, If Not Very Numerous Events, Taking Place Despite Serenity of Social World

IN spite of the serenity of the social world, there really are some most interesting events taking place. They are not so numerous, to be sure, as they will be around the holiday season, but are surely delightful. Haven't you ever noticed that during mellow Indian summer there is nothing hectic about social life? The gold and scarlet foliage and amethyst-tinted hills seem to fill everyone with a golden calm, and the feverish activity of a snappy winter day is just unknown in autumn.

Out-of-door activities and debut parties and weddings are all taking place this month. Speaking of debuts reminds me I've just heard of a new entertainment to be given for a debutante. Miss Edna Sutton, of Fifth avenue, will give a luncheon on Friday, October 19, in the Allegheny Country Club for her debbie cousin, Oliveretta Sutton. Oliveretta is the daughter of Mrs. Stansbury Sutton, of the Alder Court apartments.

She will be presented to society, —don't you remember?—at a tea her mother will give in the Pittsburgh Golf Club on Thanksgiving afternoon.

IT'S not a bit surprising that horse lovers are taking advantage of October's bright blue weather for just one hunt after another. Now the Sewickley Hunt Club will hold its first hunt of the season tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. When the huntsmen return tea will be served in the clubhouse.

THE William Bacon Schillers will entertain with a dinner dance this evening in the Allegheny Country Club in honor of the junior William Bacon Schillers.

By the way, the senior Schillers will have as their guests for the week the James Browns, of New York.

AND still folks are going to New York for a few days. Mrs. Taylor Allderdice is in Gotham now, I heard the other day, but will be back, of course, by the end of the month to present her debutante daughter, Jane.

And Mrs. Donald S. Rodgers has joined a group of friends at the Barclay, and will remain in New York a few days.

Another New York visitor is Mrs. Simon T. Patterson.

EVERY year of late a death in the family of some debbie has shortened the season for her. Last year parties for Marjorie Babcock and Margaret Brainard were cancelled when we were only half way through the bud season, don't you remember, because of deaths in their families? Now the Charles Frederick Holdships, of Sewickley, have withdrawn their invitations for the reception at which they were to present their daughter, Margaret, on Tuesday, because of the death of Mr. Holdship's brother, George Irwin Holdship, of Sewickley.

THE marriage of Miss Millo Tinstman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Tinstman, of Scottdale, and David W. Loucks, of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Loucks, of Scottdale, was solemnized Wednesday afternoon in the Tinstman home by the Rev. George R. Haden, pastor of the Scottdale Methodist Episcopal Church. The bride wore white satin with a tulle veil arranged in cap effect, and carried a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Frances McKeever, of Braddock, was maid of honor, wearing orchid georgette and lace and carrying yellow rosebuds, while frocks of yellow organdie were worn by the ribbon bearers, Sara Margaret Sherrick and June Vogely, nieces of the bridegroom. Mrs. James Dunlap, of Canonsburg, cousin of the bride, played the wedding music and Aaron D. Studybaker, of Dayton, O., was best man. A reception and dinner followed the ceremony and later, Mr. and Mrs. Loucks left for a motor trip through the Carolinas. They will be at home in Wilkinsburg after December 1.

THE marriage of Miss Portia Morrow, daughter of Mrs. Esther Morrow, of Brookline, and Harold Speer Wiegel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wiegel, of Brookline, was solemnized last night at 8:30 o'clock in the Morrow home by the Rev. J. J. McIlvaine, pastor of the Brookline Presbyterian Church. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Gerald Morrow, wore white taffeta trimmed with pastel flowers, and her tulle veil was arranged in cap effect with orange blossoms. She carried white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Frieda Wiegel, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor, wore rose taffeta and carried pink roses. J. Lynden Morrow, brother of the bride, was best man. A dinner and reception followed the ceremony. After a motor trip through the Shenandoah Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Wiegel will be at home with the latter's mother.

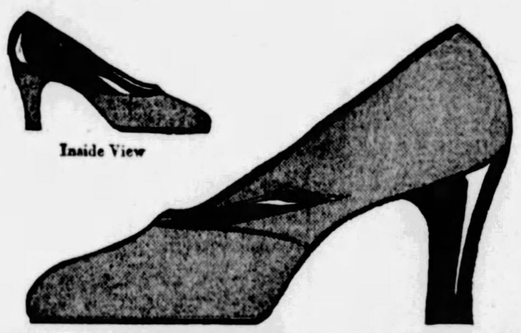
made in PARIS by MAROUF
. . . reproduced for you by NEWARK for $4.00

The soft daintiness of black suede . . . the lustre of patent leather. Just as Marouf designed it..... $4.00



Inside View

"How charmingly original," said lovely Paris women when Marouf made for them this double-faced pump. No style of the season in Paris makes milady's foot seem smaller... daintier... than this intriguing combination of black suede and patent. But now you can purchase this very same shoe in any Newark store! Because Newark buys Marouf's $40.00 originals and reproduces them for you for $4.00.

An expert's eye cannot tell them apart—but Newark's reproduction costs one-tenth as much! Because Newark sells direct to you from Newark factories through Newark stores. Eliminating the middleman! Eliminating the outside dealer! Charging one small profit instead of the usual three!

BANK CASE QUASHING ASKED

The trials of former officials of the Brotherhood Savings and Trust Company may be late in starting Monday, the day set for the opening of the case, in as much as arguments will be heard that morning on a motion to dismiss the indictments against the defendants.

The motion was prepared by the late Attorney Rody P. Marshall and presented after his death. When the commonwealth demurred, arguments was ordered.

Attorney Roland A. McCready, William J. Kelly and J. L. Nelson, former bank officials, are charged with embezzlement in connection with the $320,000 bond deal, and Frank Redman, broker in the alleged transaction, is charged with larceny by agent.

Charles Knapp, who pleaded guilty to larceny for walking off with the money, recently was released from the Western Penitentiary after serving an 18 months' sentence.

Will Wall Street Create Stir to Aid Republicans?

—By B. C. FORBES—

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.

WOULD a "scare" in the stock market cause many indifferent or undecided voters to reason that they had better bestir themselves and vote to continue the Republican party in power at Washington?

At least some of the influential financiers attending the American Bankers' Association convention think it would, should anything of the kind occur in Wall Street.

That something may occur is regarded as not impossible, to say the least.

THE formal proceedings of the convention have been tame. You had to get behind the scenes, you had to have confidential confabs, to find out the intimate thoughts and ideas and policies of our controllers of the country's purse-strings. Bluntly, most bankers are apprehensive that Wall Street will bring on trouble; but they hesitate to speak out publicly.

The address made by Roy A. Young, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, was a classic instance of using words to conceal thought. Interest in what he would have to say was intense. Bankers, brokers, business men eagerly awaited his pronouncement.

He said nothing. Either he was muzzled by the Washington powers that be or, more likely, he muzzled himself.

Gov. Young had begun to earn a reputation for outspokenness, for fearlessness and incidentally for sound leadership. But on this occasion all he delivered was an admirably lucid little essay on the A B C's of banking and the Federal Reserve system. And so what was expected to be a high-powered shell proved to be a dud.

Politics, presidential elections are responsible for more than making strange bed-fellows.

YOUR local bankers as a result of their national get-together will be quite as ready as before to supply funds for regular business. But if you have been borrowing to play the stock market you will probably find them disposed to discourage application for additional accommodation; they may even suggest that you get into more liquid condition.

OPTIMISM over the business outlook for the balance of the year is widespread, genuine, confident. Bankers from certain agricultural states are none too cheerful and you hear of more or less unemployment. But generally speaking the country is regarded as rationally prosperous and as likely to continue so.

Scarcely a word of doubt is expressed concerning the outcome of the election.

THE suggestion made by retiring president, Thomas R. Preston, that an international bankers' association be organized may take shape.

Finance is now international. For that matter so are trade, commerce, economics, agricultural markets, industry, shipping, aviation, statecraft, education, science, art, invention, almost everything. Already there are various international associations, including an international chamber of commerce.

An international association of bankers would be in harmony with the universal trend.

WITHOUT any formal organization, America has already established very intimate relationships with foreign banks. Gov. Benjamin Strong, of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, acting in close contact with the Federal Reserve Board, has been the leader in establishing an unofficial body composed of the heads of the Bank of England, Bank of France, Reichsbank, etc.

Through this relationship, cooperation has been effective in formulating important international financial policies and practices including the guidance, so to speak, of large-scale international movements of gold. The public have been permitted to learn little of all this because of a fetish for secrecy on the part of Europe's bank heads and of Gov. Strong.

SHOULD the proposed international bankers' association develop into an influential body, its activities would be conducted in the open. That would be essential and American. The American public have come to learn that when international affairs are hedged about with secrecy, we too often come off second-best.

ANY organization calculated to further international contact understanding and friendship is to be welcomed for, after all, education forms a surer foundation for peace, prosperity and happiness than does ignorance.

Besides, we Americans have become investors in foreign securities to the tune of billions. Some of us are investors only in our role of taxpayer to Uncle Sam. Others have voluntarily invested in foreign bonds and stocks.

Therefore it is fitting that we become internationally minded and let us hope, internationally wise.

HIGH SCHOOL TRUANT WIRES HOME SHE'S WED

TILTONVILLE, O., Oct. 5.—Charlotte Hinkle played "hookey" from the Tiltonville High School yesterday and when her parents learned of her whereabouts she was Mrs. Claude Ayers. She telephoned her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hinkle, that she had been married at Wellsburg, W. Va. The young couple are now on a wedding trip. Ayers is employed in the Yorkville mill.

MAN HELD ON CHARGE MADE BY TWO GIRLS

Testimony of two girls caused Joe Sarin, alias Scott, 32, of 114 Miltenberger street, to be held for court by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today. Betty Jackson, 25, and Jennie Bruno, 18, both giving the Miltenberger street address as their home, testified they turned over their earnings to Sarin. The were detained by police.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—In brisk trading, corn ran up today to above season high-price records established hardly 24 hours before. Arrivals of corn in western markets were reported scant, with demand unusually urgent. Opening at ¼c to 1⅛c advance, corn later showed material further gains. Wheat started ⅛c to ⅜c higher, but subsequently reacted. Oats were firm. Provisions also had an upward trend.

At noon corn was ⅛c to ⅝c net higher and wheat unchanged to ¼c off.

With various important market centers in the west reporting inability to find any old corn in their territory, and with old corn being shipped back west from here, sellers of corn future deliveries found themselves at a decided disadvantage much of the time today. In this connection, it was pointed out as significant that feeders were taking new corn at prices much above terminal market bids.

Wheat gave evidence of sympathy with corn market strength today, but failed to hold gains well in the face of rain reports from India, where previously drought has been so severe that wells and rivers throughout a large part of the country were drying up. On the other hand, Canadian advices today told of frost damage becoming more apparent as later fields are threshed, damage to quality and also to yields being greater than was looked for.

Missouri Pacific Railroad Company

First and Refunding Mortgage 5% Gold Bonds, Series "G"

Due November 1, 1978

Coupon bonds in $1,000 denomination registerable as to principal, exchangeable for fully registered bonds and re-exchangeable under conditions provided in the mortgage. Interest payable May 1 and November 1.

The bonds of this series will be redeemable at the option of the company, as a whole or in part, upon ninety days' previous notice, on any interest date on or after November 1, 1933, and on or before November 1, 1973, at 105% and accrued interest, and thereafter at their principal amount and accrued interest plus a premium of ½% for each six months between the redemption date and the date of maturity.

The issuance and sale of these bonds are subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

For further information regarding the company and this issue of bonds, reference is made to a letter dated October 4, 1928, from William H. Williams, Esq., chairman of the board of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company, copies of which may be obtained from the undersigned, and from which the following is quoted:

The purpose of this issue is to reimburse the treasury of the company for capital expenditures heretofore made, to provide in part for the company's improvement program for 1929 and for other corporate purposes.

The first and refunding mortgage bonds are secured by a first lien on 3,409 miles of railroad of the company together with valuable terminal properties, depots and bridges, and, subject to $125,181,500 principal amount of prior liens on various parts of the system, for the retirement of which first and refunding mortgage bonds are reserved, on the remaining 3,372 miles of the directly owned lines of the company and the appurtenances thereof, a total of 6,781 miles of railroad. They are in addition secured, subject to certain of said prior liens and in respect to part of the equipment subject also to outstanding equipment trust certificates, by lien on all equipment owned by the company, which, on July 31, 1928, had a depreciated book value of $74,416,227 over outstanding equipment trust certificates, and on $23,703,000 par value of preferred stock of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company, on which dividends at the rate of 5% per annum are being paid.

After giving effect to this financing, there will be outstanding in the hands of the public $137,840,500 principal amount of first and refunding mortgage 5% bonds, being at the rate of $40,434 per mile on the 3,409 miles of railroad on which the bonds are a first lien. The aggregate of the prior liens and the first and refunding mortgage bonds outstanding will be $263,022,000 principal amount, or at the rate of $38,788 per mile on the 6,781 miles of railroad subject to the mortgage, without making any allowance for the other valuable property on which they are a lien. The prior liens may not be increased; they may be acquired or deposited under the first and refunding mortgage without impairment of lien, but until so deposited they may not be renewed or extended.

Following the first and refunding mortgage bonds the company has outstanding $51,350,000 principal amount of general mortgage 4% bonds due March 1, 1975, $71,800,100 par value of preferred stock and $82,839,500 par value of common stock, having a total present market value of approximately $184,000,000.

In addition to its directly owned lines the company owns 87¾% of the stock of New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Railway Company, which is pledged to secure $13,156,000 principal amount of the company's 5¼% secured serial gold bonds, and over 68% of the stock of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company. New Orleans Texas & Mexico Railway Company in turn owns all the stock of International-Great Northern Railroad Company. Including these companies and their subsidiaries, the system operated by the company aggregates 12,590 miles and extends from St. Louis on the East to Kansas City, Omaha and Pueblo on the West and to Memphis, New Orleans, Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, El Paso, the Rio Grande Valley and the Mexican border on the South and West. The company also owns an undivided one-half interest in the common stock of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad Company.

The gross income of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company for the year ended December 31, 1927, applicable to the payment of interest on funded debt and other fixed charges before Federal income taxes, amounted to $20,723,265, while such charges amounted to $16,199,269. For the eight months ended August 31, 1928, such income was $15,495,888, as compared with $12,324,895 for the corresponding period of 1927, an increase of $3,170,993.

Application will be made in due course to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE ABOVE BONDS, SUBJECT TO ALLOTMENT, at 99¼% AND ACCRUED INTEREST TO DATE OF DELIVERY.

The undersigned reserve the right to close the subscription at any time without notice, to reject any application, to allot a smaller amount than applied for and to make allotments in their uncontrolled discretion.

The above bonds are offered if, when and as issued and received by the undersigned and subject to the approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the issuance of the bonds and their sale to the undersigned and to the approval by their counsel of all legal proceedings in connection therewith. Temporary bonds or interim receipts of the company will be delivered against payment in New York funds for bonds allotted, which temporary bonds or interim receipts will be exchangeable for definitive bonds when prepared.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

New York, October 5, 1928.

PROFIT-TAKING HALTS ADVANCE IN ARKANSAS GAS

GENERAL LIST STEADY WITH CHANGES NARROW

The upward movement in Arkansas Gas was halted during the early trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today with profit-taking putting the brakes on the movement, but failing to bring any sizeable reaction.

A few thousand shares were offered on the opening and were taken at 3¾ as compared with the high of 3⅞ recorded yesterday afternoon. Absorbtion of the stock at 3¾ was followed by further offerings which brought a further small fractional recession. Selling was attributed to traders who accumulated the stock on its recent setback to around 2½. Yesterday's top prices showed very acceptable profits from a percentage standpoint and it was thought today's offerings came from sources desiring to cash in on the stock bought in the range between 2½ and 3. No news was available other than the report of a big well having been brought in on property adjoining the Arkansas holdings in the Yates district, Texas.

The miscellaneous manufacturing issues were steady and only slightly changed. Carnegie Metals firmed up to 20 after having sold a fraction under that figure yesterday and the day before. Suburban Electric Development was handled at 19, unchanged. The building stocks were firm.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 2 to 8 points under Southern selling and liquidation promoted by a favorable view of the weather news and the rather easy showing of Liverpool. There was some trade buying and covering at the decline which caused rallies of a few points right after the call, but the demand was not active and prices soon sagged off again. December sold down to 18.88c and March to 18.70c with the market showing net declines of about 5 to 8 points at the end of the first half hour. There was a fair volume of business at the start, but trading later was quiet, much of it being attributed to further evening-up in preparation for the government crop report of Monday. A private report issued today placed the crop indication at from 14,200,000 to 14,700,000 bales, compared with a range of 14,500,000 to 15,400,000 reported last month. Private cables reported a dull market in Liverpool, but a fair turnover in cotton cloths for India and the continent.

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

Soviet Uses Capital's Business Methods—Auto Output Spurt Helps Plate Glass Industry.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE great Russian experiment in Socialism is arriving at surprising results. It started in pure theory and, as hard facts were encountered, concession after concession was made to actualities. It began by disregarding the property. It ended by finding that personal property is indispensable.

THE economic survey of the State Bank of the U. S. S. R., fiscal agent of the existing Russian government, gives an interesting picture of Russian economics.

IT IS surprisingly like a report of the department of commerce of any purely capitalistic nation. The August issue starts with a description of a hydro-electric plant on the Dnieper River to have a capacity of 600,000 kilowatts, which will be unequaled in any part of Europe.

THE survey proceeds to a discussion of wholesale business, price movements, the purchasing power of the currency and bank credits. That does not sound much like Socialism.

But the crowning blow to the ideas underlying the revolution can be seen in a stock market report. The quotations given are confined to state loans, 11 out of 13 of which selling above par.

ONE by one the Marxian tenets have been abandoned until today the Bolshevist government has recognized the necessity of practically every phase of capitalism. It is comparable to all other governments except in the fact that it is still engaged in an exceptionally large number of industrial enterprises for its own account.

THE spurt in automobile production in the past three months and the continued high rate of building activity have resulted in a sharp upturn in plate glass production. Activity was at a lower rate than in 1927 early this year but increased demand for plate glass for several months now leads to the belief that 1928 will equal the record year of 1926. Production in the first eight months of this year was 81,315,334 square feet, compared with 77,315,493 square feet in the previous year. August output was 11,473,697 square feet, compared with 10,615,978 square feet in August, 1927.

THE local stock exchange was busy yesterday. Transactions reached 34,521 shares. Most of the trading was in Arkansas Natural Gas, which was active on reports of newly developed production and passible mergers with other natural gas organizations.

OF particular interest was the fact that practically all of the trading in the new stock of the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company has been on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange instead of in New York, where the stock is also listed. The business of the local exchange has been reduced in the past by the fact that the primary market for the most active local stocks has been transferred to New York. Pittsburgh has seasoned many good stocks only to lose them to the greater market in the East.

BULL markets bring forth wild rumors. When a stock begins to advance there is a tendency to ignore the real features in a company's outlook for rather ridiculous surmises. The funniest rumor was a report that A. M. Byers is to acquire the Warren Pipe and Foundry Company and to exchange stock on a share for share basis. The fact that there is a spread of over 100 points between the stocks was forgotten by the inventor of the story. This was in addition to the fact that the businesses of the two companies are unrelated.

Price 100 and Interest

A letter from Mr. Roger M. Andrews, President of the Company, is summarized by him as follows:

The Company: The Times Publishing Company publishes the Detroit Times which has had one of the most remarkable growths in the history of American newspapers. Its present daily evening net paid circulation is more than 300,000, with the exception of Saturday, and its Sunday circulation more than 325,000.

The Company owns in fee or controls under long term leases valuable metropolitan Detroit real estate and plans to erect a thoroughly modern six-story building to be used in its entirety for the operations of the Detroit Times.

Security: These Debentures will be the direct obligation of The Times Publishing Company and in addition will be unconditionally guaranteed as to the prompt payment of principal and interest by William Randolph Hearst.

Purpose of Issue: The proceeds from these Debentures will be used for the construction of a modern six story building to house the newspaper organization of the Detroit Times, for the purchase of new equipment, for the retirement of obligations and for other corporate purposes.

Assets: The balance sheet as of July 15, 1928, as certified by independent auditors, giving effect to present financing, shows total assets, after deducting all liabilities except these Debentures, of $4,511,132, and net current assets of $704,659. Circulation and good-will having a substantial value are carried on the balance sheet at $1.00.

Earnings: Net earnings of The Times Publishing Company before depreciation, amortization, Federal Income Taxes and interest have been certified by independent auditors as follows:

|---|---|
| December 31, 1926 | $376,343 |
| December 31, 1927 | 390,359 |
| July 15, 1928 | 588,981 |
| Average | $461,103 |
| Maximum annual interest on these Debentures | 150,000 |

The Company has recently increased the price of its evening paper from two cents to three cents, resulting in an increase in net earnings, the entire benefits of which are not reflected on the above earnings statement.

Control: All of the outstanding capital stock of The Times Publishing Company, except directors' qualifying shares, is owned and controlled indirectly by William Randolph Hearst. The publishing interests of Mr. Hearst consist of a chain of twenty-eight newspapers serving eighteen important cities extending from coast to coast and a group of seven nationally known magazines, which together, comprise the largest publishing business in the world.

Mr. Simon F. Rothschild, President of the Company, has furnished the following information regarding the business of the Company and this issue of its Debentures:

"The Abraham & Straus store, now the largest department store in Brooklyn, is the outgrowth of a business founded over 60 years ago. The present management has been associated with the business for the past 35 years.

In order to meet the expanding needs of the business, it is proposed to erect, in successive units, an entire new modern store building, the major portion of which will be on leased land, the lease of which is about to be extended and its terms modified, among other things, to increase the rental and to give the Company an option to purchase. The first unit, of eight stories and two basements, will cover about 40% of the store's present ground area, and with equipment and fixtures is estimated to cost about $7,450,000. The proceeds of the present issue of Debentures will be used toward defraying part of this cost, and it is expected that the balance necessary will be supplied by the Company out of accumulated earnings.

The net sales, and the consolidated net profits after depreciation but before deducting Federal income taxes, as certified by Messrs. Touche, Niven & Co., Public Accountants, were as follows:

| Years Ended January 31, | Net Sales | Net Profits As Above | Times Int. Req. on This Issue |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1926 | $24,382,925 | $1,398,303 | 4.93 |
| 1927 | 25,226,520 | 1,681,332 | 5.93 |
| 1928 | 25,571,149 | 1,780,968 | 6.28 |

For the six months ended July 31, 1928 of the current fiscal year, net profits as shown by the Company's books were substantially in excess of the net profits for the corresponding period of 1927.

The certified consolidated balance sheet as of January 31, 1928 giving effect, as of that date, to the sale of these Debentures shows net assets, after deducting reserves and all liabilities other than this issue, of $15,571,563, or over $3000 per $1000 principal amount of these Debentures; and current assets of $13,808,331 comparing with current liabilities of $1,187,722."

The above summary is subject to a fuller description of the Company and its building program set forth in the offering circular, copies of which may be had upon request

The Company has agreed to make application to list these Debentures on the New York Stock Exchange

Price 101 and accrued interest, to yield 5.40%

A part of the above $5,150,000 Debentures is being reserved for sale to stockholders

This offering is made in all respects when, as and if issued, and delivered to and accepted by us and subject to the approval of our counsel. We reserve the right to reject any and all subscriptions in whole or in part, to allot less than the amount applied for and to close the subscription books at any time without notice. It is expected that delivery of temporary Debentures or of interim receipts will be made on or about November 12, 1928, at the office of Lehman Brothers, 16 William Street, New York, N. Y., against payment therefor in New York funds.

HEAVY PROFIT-TAKING UNSETTLES MARKET

STOCKS REACT AFTER OUTBURST OF STRENGTH

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—Heavy week-end profit-taking unsettled today's stock market after an early outburst of strength had carried more than a score issues to new high records. Lowering of the call money rate from 7 to 6½ per cent and the announcement of another import of $5,000,000 in gold kept the selling movement in check.

Withdrawal of the Southwestern merger plan brought about some selling in the stocks of railroads in that territory, but the losses were held to a point or so. Reading showed independent strength, moving up 3 points in expectation of heavy coal shipments in the last quarter.

Coty was the individual feature, soaring 20 points to a new high record of 292. Allied Chemical moved up 6½ points to 206½. Hupp Motors 4½ to 78⅛, American Zinc 5 to 51½ and Keith-Albee preferred 4 to 102½, all new high records.

New peak prices also were established by Barnsdall "A," Universal Pipe, National Cash Register, Lambert, Pressed Steel Car and General Ice Cream.

General Motors ran into further selling, presumably as a result of the bearish Raskob statement yesterday, falling from an early high of 216¾ to 214. Radio fell back 4¾ points and Victor Talking Machine and National Cash Register canceled their early 3-point gains.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Money Easy, Stocks Erratic.

The money market eased back today, but the market was highly irregular, reflecting on one hand the Raskob views regarding the unwarranted levels at which stocks are selling, and on the other hand the fact that there are many powerful operators in the market who take an entirely different view of the situation. It was said the Fisher brothers and Arthur Cutten, of Chicago, were in the latter camp, and probably W. C. Durant. They supported all of their favorites as the more timid followers sold out on Mr. Raskob's suggestion, and in certain sections of the market new pool work was discernible. This was especially true in the so-called Whelan group, which includes Pressed Steel Car and Universal Pipe. Market students believe the money situation will reveal slow but consistent changes for the better in the next few weeks. The period of stringency around October 1 was passed without great difficulty and is not expected to be evident again soon. With a good supply of funds at what the Street considers reasonable rates under prevailing conditions, this should be a market factor from time to time.

M., K. & T. Merger Abandoned.

The attempt to merge the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad with the St. Louis Southwestern and the Kansas City Southern, instituted before the Interstate Commerce Commission more than two years ago, by L. F. Loree and associates, today was formally abandoned. In a petition to the commission signed by President Haile, of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Company, it was declared that recent changes in stock market valuations of the companies contemplated as constituent to the merger had markedly changed so that the stock exchanges planned could not be carried through. It was said further that the commission might not be able to find the terms offered fair and reasonable as among the stockholders concerned. The petition detailed recent proceedings under the Clayton act in which the commission refused to allow Mr. Loree to serve as a director of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Company because of his status as an official of the Kansas City Southern Company. Reviewing the facts and the objections arising to the merger both from communities in the territory and from other railroads, it was explained that the directors of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas had resolved to withdraw the application and terminate the proceedings.

Reserve Banks' Statement.

Consolidated statement of condition of the Federal Reserve banks on October 3, shows increases for the week of $15,200,000 in holdings of discounted bills, of $46,600,000 in bills bought in the open market, of $1,600,000 in United States government securities, of $22,000,000 in Federal Reserve hot circulation, and of $33,700,000 in member bank reserve deposits, while cash reserves declined $19,700,000. Total bills and securities were $63,300,000 above the amount held on September 26. The ratio of reserves of the Federal Reserve System for the week ended October 2 stood at 66.8 per cent, against 68.5 per cent the week before and 74.9 per cent on October 5, 1927. The ratio of the New York Federal Reserve Bank of October 3 was 63.5 per cent, against 67.4 per cent on September 26 and 74.2 per cent October 5, 1927.

New York Bank Rate Unchanged.

The New York Federal Reserve Bank made no change in its rediscount rate of 5 per cent.

Municipal Borrowing Drops.

State and municipal borrowing during September totaled $63,357,354, the smallest figure for any month in five years, against $69,977,038 in August and $116,311,420 in September last year, according to The Bond Buyer.

General Tire Sales Expand.

The General Tire and Rubber Company sales for September showed an increase of 23 per cent over the same month last year and 10 per cent over August this year. The plant is at capacity production.

Cotton Crop Estimates.

An average guess of 86 members of the New York Cotton Exchange as to showing of Monday's government cotton report is 14,150,000 bales. A prominent New England crop statistician estimates the crop between 14,200,000 and 14,700,000 bales.

Atchison Bonds Approved.

The Atchison Railway has been authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission to issue $14,691,000 California-Arizona lines first and refunding mortgage bonds to be sold at not less than 98½ per cent of par and accrued interest and use of proceeds to reimburse the treasury for advances made to the California, Arizona and Santa Fe Railroad.

September Auto Output Smaller.

September automobile production is estimated at 460,000 cars, including the entire industry and output of Canadian factories making cars of American design, according to the National Auto Chamber of Commerce. This compares with 489,758 in August and 271,649 in September, 1927. Nine months' total was 3,692,563, or within less than 21,000 of the previous high record.

Big Pennsylvania Railroad Inquiry.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is asking bids on 260,000 tons of rails for 1929 delivery. With the exception of the 300,000 tons authorized for purchase during the current year, the 1929 figures are the largest in the road's history. The rail order, with track fastenings, will involve approximately $17,600,000.

Window Glass Holding Well.

This week shows continued strength in the window glass industry, says the National Glass Budget. There has been a very satisfactory volume of business done in moving this product that the manufacturers' storage houses to those of the jobbers. This may be credited to a disposition on the part of distributors to stock up before October 1 prices become effective. The result is that stocks in the hands of jobbers are somewhat above normal. A good volume of business will be done during the fall season, but stocks will be considerably reduced before inventory time comes. It may be taken for granted that the October 1 prices are responsible for a larger September business than normally, but by the same line of reasoning October and November business is likely to be smaller. The demand continues to be much greater than the amount produced and this condition will hold for some weeks to come. Production figures are nearly the same as reported last week and demand shows some increase. Men well posted on the import situation are of the opinion that there will not be as much window glass brought into the United States this fall as came a year ago during the same months. Indications are that imports of heavier grades will continue high.

Loans at New Peak.

Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve member banks in New York City on October 3 showed an increase of $45,270,000 during the week to a new high record of $4,569,978,000. This compares with previous high record on June 6, 1928, of $4,563,240,000. On September 26, 1928, loans totaled $4,524,708,000 and on October 5, 1927, they were $3,395,253,000. Detailed figures compare as follows (000 omitted):

| | Oct. 3 '28 | Sep. 26 '28 |
|---|---|---|
| For own account | $ 929,901 | $ 819,508 |
| For out-of-town acct. | 1,682,077 | 1,673,943 |
| For others | 1,958,020 | 2,001,259 |
| Totals | $4,569,978 | $4,524,708 |

Principal changes during the week were an increase of $80,395,000 in loans for own account, an increase of $8,114,000 in loans for out-of-town banks and a decrease of $43,239,000 in loans for others. Demand loans constituted $3,917,490,000 of the total compared with $3,841,095,000 on September 26, while time loans amounted to $652,488,000 against $683,115,000 a week ago.

Pig Iron Output Up.

Output of pig iron in the United States averaged 102,077 tons for the 30 days of September, a gain of 897 tons a day over August and 9,579 tons a day over September, a year ago. These figures are from compilations by Iron Age. Total production in September was 3,062,314 tons, against 3,136,570 tons for the 31 days in August, and 2,774,949 tons for September, a year ago.

Goodrich Rubber.

Based on current operations and in the absence of any further downward revision of selling prices on finished commodities, profit of the B. F. Goodrich Company for the second half of 1928 is estimated at approximately $8,000,000 after interest and depreciation, but before provision for federal income taxes. Deducting estimated federal taxes at the rate of 12½ per cent, net income would approximate $7,000,000, equal, after the period's dividend requirements on the preferred stock, to about $8.26 on approximately 702,000 shares of common stock currently outstanding. This result would compare with net income in the second half of 1927 (before deduction of reserves) of slightly more than $9,900,000, equal, after preferred dividends, to $9.46 a share on 602,216 shares of common stock then outstanding.

May Withdraw Katy Deal.

Competent observers say there is reason to believe that present proposed plan to merge the Missouri-Kansas-Texas, Kansas City Southern and St. Louis Southwestern will be withdrawn in the near future. Official action toward this end is expected before October 22, the date set for hearing on the plan before the Interstate Commerce Commission's bureau of finance at Dallas. Under the plan an exchange of Kansas City Southern and Cotton Belt stocks for Missouri-Kansas-Texas issues was proposed. For a share of Kansas City Southern common it was proposed to give 1½ shares of Katy and for Cotton Belt common 2¼ shares Katy.

United in Bastian Blessing.

United Cigar Stores Company of America will acquire a substantial interest in Bastian Blessing Company, it is announced by L. E. Blessing, vice president of the latter company. United Cigar has agreed to purchase all soda fountain requirements from the company for a period of 10 years. Bastain Blessing stockholders will vote to increase common stock from 107,500 shares of 127,900, part of proceeds to retire some preferred.

SCHOOL BOYS HIKE TO SEE SERIES; POLICE GET THEM

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—John DiJoseph, 14, and Arnold Perico, 15, Greensboro school boys, went to New York to see Bath Ruth hit a home run in the world series. But fate prevented them from seeing the Big Bam smash out two doubles in the Yanks' opening clash with the Cardinals.

The boys were being entertained by the police while 61,000 fans yelled themselves hoarse. The boys hitch-hiked to the metropolis and were picked up by police in answer to a radio appeal sent out by their parents.

DEATH ROLL

Morton A. P. Purvis.

Morton A. P. Purvis, 57, for many years a North Side contractor, died yesterday in his home at 2555 California avenue. He was born in Beaver county, but had spent virtually all his life in Pittsburgh. He was an elder of the Eleventh United Presbyterian Church. He was a member of Stuckrath Lodge No. 430, F. & A. M.; Allegheny Chapter No. 217, Royal Arch Masons; Scittish Rite; Syria Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S.; Syria Temple Automobile Club; Manchester Commandery; Knights of Malta and Islam Grotto No. 35. He leaves his wife, a son, two daughters, his mother, three brothers and four sisters.

John Kevan.

John Kevan, 91, died yesterday at the residence of his son, W. W. Kevan, 315 Lincoln avenue, Bellevue. Mr. Kevan was born on a farm near Hookstown, Beaver county. For 60 years he had been a resident of the Pittsburgh district and until his retirement several years ago was engaged in the sewing machine business in Sixth street. He leaves three sons, W. W. Kevan, of Bellevue; J. P. A. Kevan, of Chicago, and J. W. Kevan, of New York; 10 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

CYLINDER BLAST KILLS REYNOLDSVILLE MAN

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Oct. 5.—Edward C. Burns, 69, former sheriff of Jefferson county and postmaster at Reynoldsville for two terms under President Roosevelt, was killed late yesterday when a cylinder of a threshing machine he was operating blew out and a piece of metal crushed his skull. He was a pioneer resident of Reynoldsville.

Pa. Cash in Hand Now 60 Million, Official Says

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—(AP.)—Pennsylvania has a cash balance in the treasury of $60,000,000, "the largest in the history of any state in the union," John C. Dight, director of the Bureau of Publication at Harrisburg told members of the Poor Richard Club yesterday.

Dr. Dight pointed out that Pennsylvania's income amounts to about $160,000,000 a year, or about $25,000,000 more than the annual expenses.

He said the Highway Department this year would receive more than $5,000,000 from the gasoline tax license fees and other revenue, but that only between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000 would be available for new highway construction.

Flood Wall Opposition By Garland Challenged

A. H. Burchfield, of the Flood Commission of Pittsburgh, takes issue with Robert Garland in the matter of a flood or "sea" wall as part of the proposed river and wharf improvements for the city, and also to Mr. Garland's alleged statement that flood losses here are trivial.

Councilman Garland, toastmaster at a banquet incident to the convention here of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, is quoted as stating that he was unqualifiedly opposed to a flood wall costing approximately $30,000,000, voicing the opinion that "what we need most is something practical."

As to the "trivial" effect of floods, Mr. Burchfield cites annual damage of $1,000,000 or more, besides all the inconveniences, discomfort, interruption of business, menace to health, etc., catalogued in 12 questions, which he begins with "Is it trivial?"

Besides which Mr. Burchfield wants to know where Mr. Garland got that $30,000,000 cost idea, when "competent engineers who have studied the project place the outside cost for flood walls, both for the downtown business section and the North Side, at about $8,000,000."

The public will be interested in Mr. Garland's reply to the challenge of Mr. Burchfield, feeling at the same time that he could have been more politic by not being too inclusive in expressing what was only a private opinion, or, at most only a semi-official one, in what would be accepted as an official utterance. Presiding at a banquet of that nature Mr. Garland was clothed in the garments of an official, and what he said might reasonably be accepted as the view of the whole Council, whereas the public feels it was that of only one member.

However, Mr. Garland is a man of public spirit, and if he is shown to be wrong, it is not unlikely that he will be willing to acknowledge any mistake he may have made.

For many years the flood problem has been one of Pittsburgh's greatest. Many surveys have been made and many plans considered as to how best to solve it, and the plan of the Flood Commission is the result of such study, and one that meets public approval as far as the public has been able to express itself.

It is a plan that is for the best interest of the city even if only floods were being considered. Locked up as it is with the project for wharf improvements and the canalization of the Ohio River, its importance is far too great to have the improvement jeopardized by any ill-considered public statements.

Clark Promises Action On Brutality Charges

James M. Clark, director of public safety, commenting on Council's demand for a report on charges of brutality made against certain police officers by Alderman John J. Verona, says if he finds anyone proven guilty he will have to get out. Director Clark will be supported by the public in that position. Inhuman treatment of persons arrested will not be tolerated knowingly by the public. Mr. Clark says he has a standing order against brutality on the part of his police.

Director Clark must be a man who gets mad slowly. It is more than a week since Alderman Verona, in a letter to Mayor Kline, made very detailed charges of brutality against police officers whom he named. Did Director Clark attempt to ascertain if his order against brutality had been broken? If he did it would seem he should have been ready to give Council a report right away. But Mr. Clark seems to be a slow reader as well as being slow to wrath. He said he had not had time to read the letter thoroughly, but as soon as he did he would have his inspectors look into the matter, and if they sustained the charges the accused men would be brought before the police trial board.

Mr. Clark probably is the only man in Pittsburgh who did not read Verona's sensational reply to Mayor Kline when it was fresh and hot.

However, since he promises action, let us not be too impatient. Let us remember that even such a great Shakespearean scholar as Gene Tunney confessed he had to read one of the Bard's plays many times before he "got" it.

Here's Flying

And Not an Accident in Three Years.

BRITISH AIRSHIP BUILT FOR REGULAR SERVCE BETWEEN ENGLAND AND INDIA.

This interesting machine, looking like a big automobile, is in reality the British airship, Calcutta, a combination airship and boat to be used in regular "Empire Air Service" between London and India.

The two men in the air boat are Capt. Bailey and Sir Eric Geddes, who, like every other British statesman, is interesting himself in flying to maintain world power.

The Calcutta, one of a fleet for regular service between London, heart of the British Empire, and India, where the British govern 300,000,000 Asiatics, will make the trip, almost half way around the world, in less than seven days.

To the glory of the great British flying organization called "Empire Air Service" it can truly be said that no damage to any passenger has occurred in three years of flying, a wonderful record for the beginning of the flying age.

The British for centuries have "ruled the waves." Their fleet has been the greatest, their battleships the most powerful. When we allowed ourselves to be dragged into the late big war we had to rely on England's boats.

Now, the waves of water on which heavy ships float are no longer important as regards world power.

GREAT BRITAIN KNOWS IT. The AIR WAVES count now. And ships that rule the AIR will rule the WORLD.

That's why the British concentrate as they do on airship building.

We shall wake up and do the same thing LATER, after somebody has taught us a good lesson, probably.

YES—TIME DOES FLY!

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Astronautic Facts

"After an astronautic plane has left the earth and is no longer affected by its gravitation, will the plane itself take the place of an attractive body? Suppose a man wanted to leave the plane, if it were possible, in any direction, could he succeed, or would the plane attract him toward its center? Or with what speed would he have to shoot himself to overcome the gravitation of the plane? At what speed must a body be thrown into space so that it would not return, and why?—H. Herdman, Weehawken, N. J."

REMEMBER the law of gravitation, which says that every particle in the universe attracts every other particle, with a force proportional to its mass and inversely proportional to the distance. There is no exception to this. The law means exactly what it says. It follows that your "astronautic plane," no matter where it may be, must exert a gravitational attraction proportional to its mass. But its mass being very small, the force of its attraction will be proportionally small.

Considering that it keeps the planets revolving around the sun, controls the revolutions of enormous stars, and in short binds the universe together, the force of gravitation is amazingly weak, when measured by the attraction of small unit masses. Read this:

"Two masses of one gram, one centimeter apart, attract one another with a force of about one fifteen-millionth of a dyne."

Now a dyne is a unit of force equivalent to a weight of about one milligram. Therefore the unit, or "constant," of gravitation only equals a weight of one fifteen-millionth of a milligram!

Now your weight of say 150 pounds is the total effect of the attraction of all the particles composing the huge globe of the earth, which weighs six sextillions of tons. Suppost the plane weighed one ton, its attraction, as you must see, would be excessively slight. The astronaut could, by a simple push, separate himself from it. But to separate from the earth he would need to impart to himself a velocity of nearly seven miles per second.

You ask why this is so? It is because the effect of gravitation is measured by the motion that it produces in the attracted body. The attraction which causes you to press upon the ground with a weight of 150 pounds, would, if the ground were suddenly cut away from under your feet, cause you to fall with such a speed that at the end of one second you would have dropped about sixteen feet. You would then be moving with a speed of thirty-two feet per second, and during every succeeding second that you continued to fall, thirty-two feet would be added to your speed.

This added speed of thirty-two feet-per-second-per-second is called the acceleration of gravity. But it holds good only near the earth's surface, becoming less and less as the body attracted is farther and farther from the earth. Now it is possible by the methods of the calculus to determine what velocity would be imparted to a body falling to the earth's surface from an infinite distance. It comes out, as said above, at nearly seven miles per second.

But, by the law of gravitation, since a body acquires a certain velocity in falling from a certain distance, then, if it is started back with that same velocity (barring the effects of atmospheric resistance), it will recede to the same distance. So, if a velocity of seven miles per second be given to a body on the earth, it will continue to recede to an infinite distance, i. e., it will be virtually set free from the earth.

Make Your Plans Today

IT IS not so important that you work hard while you labor, but that you begin your job soon enough.

Some of the best workers beat about the bush before they get down to the real job in hand.

Then they wonder why they are so rushed all the time.

Everything they do leaves them perspiring or panting before they have completed it.

Suppose you analyze your morning's work.

You knew the day before what would be required of you today.

Did you formulate any plans for it?

Did you set any time limit to your labors?

Did you consider what step should come first or did you leave it till it was time to start and then wobble in your decision, doing whatever happened to appeal to you as a start?

There is only one "right" way to do, and the others are "near right."

Of course, you work hard but more systematic plans beforehand and not waiting to start will get you through in good time and with satisfactory results.

Best of all, you will be exercising thought in your work, and that is what will help you most to progress.

Prayer for Gratitude

TOO soon the lesser gifts will go,
Brief leaves from life's great tree,
When first chill winds of autumn blow
In stirring minstrelsy.

The little joys will drop away,
The little loves will pass
With every flying day by day
As fades September grass.

But I can see them all drift out
Upon a vagrant wind,
And still with faith untouched by doubt
Know life is wholly kind.

If only I may clasp and keep
The gift of gratitude,
I shall not fail to sense life's deep
And all-enfolding good!

Great Passages from the Bible

"The Lord Is My Light"

(Psalm 27)

THE Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? the Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?

When the wicked, even mine enemies and my foes, came upon me to eat up my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

Thou an host should encamp against me, my heart shall not fear: though war should rise against me, in this will I be confident.

One thing have I desired of the Lord, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to enquire in his temple.

For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his pavilion: in the secret of his tabernacle shall he hide me; he shall set me upon a rock.

And now shall mine head be lifted up above mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his tabernacle sacrifices of joy; I will sing, yes, I will sing praises unto the Lord.

Hear, O Lord, when I cry with my voice: have mercy upon me, and answer me.

When thou saidst, Seek ye my face; my heart said unto thee, Thy face, Lord, will I seek.

Hide not thy face far from me; put not thy servant away in anger: thou hast been my help; leave me not, neither forsake me, O God of my salvation.

When my father and my mother forsake me, then the Lord will take me up.

Teach me thy way, O Lord, and lead me in a plain path, because of mine enemies.

Deliver me not over unto the will of mine enemies: for false witnesses are risen up against me, and such as breathe out cruelty.

I had fainted, unless I had believed to see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living.

Wait on the Lord: be of good courage, and he shall strengthen thine heart: wait, I say, on the Lord.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

IN THE cities, where there is quite a lot of people, the women have a lot of trouble about who their kids play with. It gets awful complicated if the kids play with some kinds that ain't of the same quality and accidentally find out that these here other kids are just as good as they are.

Well, this Johnny was getting a lecture from his mother. She says, "You know, Johnny, that we don't speak to the Johnsons. You ought to know better than to be playing with that George Johnson when I told you five or six times that we ain't speaking to such people."

"Well," says Johnny, "I ain't going to speak to him, mother. I just want to go out and play with him. I always bust his nose, just as soon as we get started, and then he'll know we won't have to talk."

Complimentary

A MAN who fancied himself as a motor-engineer bought a second-hand car, and had just completed one or two urgent repairs. He stepped back and surveyed his handiwork.

"There!" he exclaimed to a friend, "you'd never think she was second-hand now, would you?"

His friend cast a critical glance over the car before replying.

"N-no," he agreed; "it's more like something you'd made yourself."

Thinking of the Cost

"THERE ought to be only one head to every family," declared the earnest speaker in the club.

"That's true," agreed a worried-looking man, standing by the mantelshelf making figures on a piece of paper.

"You agree, do you?" asked the first man, with a smile.

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Thoughts while strolling: The little book shop where clerks wear lapel flowers. Who's responsible for caviar? And why? Neal O'Hara, the Boston humorist, who looks like Mayor Walker. An art gallery has an exhibition of carved white soap.

Ann Pennington's long hair. What's become of cuspidors with red rosebud decorations? The windowless gloom of large storage warehouses. Tea room sign: "We haven't a radio." Ring Lardner, a Niles (Mich.) boy, who made good in the city. Girls in kimonos motoring somewhere.

People in hotel waiting rooms who look thoughtful and nibble at the ends of pens. A velvet darkness. Silver streaks of rain. And a radiant sun again. Like a world in quick tears. Eve Le Galliene's ivory pallor. Those cafes known as "French"—with lump gilt mirrors, a cat and basement entrance with peep-holes.

That shaven hideousness on the necks of beautiful girls. Rarely see anyone in a theatrical costume shop. They have a ghostliness. The race track followers with large blonde wives. A taxi driver smoking a corncob pipe. An Arctic explorer who walks on the streets hatless.

Unfortunates going to park benches early to be sure of a place. Young blades who tug at their mustaches with a mysterious, musing air. The irrepressible press agent twins—Holzman and Dorfman. Lingerie shops with esthetic names.

Those Broadwayites who wear Texas hats and give the impression they own a couple of oil wells. Armenian rug sellers slinking in side street hallways. The reputed highest salaried show girl—$250 a week. Men who saunter about in tuxedos before dark.

Lovely, lawless maidens with grim smiles. Who give vague impressions of being in the "show business." Headwaiters take their posts. Orchestras tuning up. Day swoons into twilight. A huge sign bursts into fire. The barrier flies up. And Broadway is off for another night.

The Rialto has many ladies classed in the Broadway world as "good girls." They accept after-theater invitations from slight acquaintances, but have acquired a manner that commands a certain respect. Yet they are gentle grafters. Some pick up as much as $50 a week in "taxi money." When they leave late parties it is the custom of the host to give them taxi fare home. This ranges from five to ten dollars. As most of them are in the chorus, the extra money is so much plush.

The fluctuations in prices of orange juice in sundry hotels is a metropolitan phenomenon. In smart hotels the breakfast price ranges from 40 to 50 cents a glass. At the noon hour it goes to 60 and after 4 o'clock it sometimes volplanes to 80 cents. This is due, of course, to the cocktail demand during these hours and helps, no doubt, to pay for the wear and tear of cocktail rodeos. Many hotels say if they could eliminate cocktail drinking in rooms they could lower prices. One big hotel reports an average damage of $1,000 a week from the spotting of carpets and walls with drinks and the careless leaving of lighted cigaret stubs on floors and furniture.

Recent brides have suffered humiliation and embarrassment as the result of letters received during honeymoons from someone with a mental twist. The letters were couched in tender terms of intimacy and held an intimation there was something between them beyond ordinary friendship. The idea was to plant a suspicion in the minds of grooms and in several cases it worked. Several years ago a man was arrested for this offense. His excuse was his marriage had proved unhappy and he was just "getting even." A nasty way to pout.

"You fellows who write newspaper columns acquire an inflated value of your importance," writes someone in block letters. All right, all right. But there is a hot tip that out of 100,000,000 people in the U. S. we are among them. Doesn't that count for anything?

Hurry and Worry-Twins

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

Lord Chesterfield says that a gentleman is never in a hurry.

This remark sounds rather uppish, but there is some truth in it.

All violence, loud speaking and hurry are signs of weakness. "He that believeth shall not make haste."

If one is sure of himself and that his position is founded upon the truth, he knows that the stars in their courses are fighting for him and he doesn't have to bluff or bluster.

Lynching Negroes, burning witches, staging bloody revolutions, assassinating tyrants and all capital punishments are signs that we are not quite sure what to do.

You can hurt a man's feelings much more by what you say calmly than by cursing at him and shouting.

Hurry breeds nervousness.

The woman comes to the end of her day with her nerves a-jangle, her back aching and her head heavy, because all day she has hurried; she never had, or never took, the time to do things with system and care.

Hurry and worry are twins.

Many a boy ruins his career and handicaps himself for life by leaving high school before graduation, because he is in a hurry to get into business.

Many a foolish couple spend their lives in friction and unhappiness, because they got married in a hurry.

The engine breaks down, the bridge collapses, the wall topples, the manufactured product is rejected for defectiveness, because workmen were careless and in a hurry to get the job done.

Battles are lost because generals were in a hurry.

Laws are passed that do infinite mischief, because they were enacted in a hurry without due deliberation.

Lives are lost because the surgeon was in a hurry.

Most of the failures that have tumbled into the pit of incompetency got there by being in a hurry.

The opposite and alternative of hurry is not sloth or laziness; it is intelligent diligence.

Hurry is the penalty often for lack of forethought.

If you want to get there on time, start on time; don't wait until the last minute, and then hurry.

If you have a lot to do, and are bewildered with the many things before you, take awhile to sit down quietly, think it all out, set your tasks in order, make a program, use system, and then you can unhurriedly do one thing at a time, and accomplish vastly more than by trying to do three things at once.

Hurry nothing. No matter how much you may have to do, if you take time to do first things first, and use order and care, you will go further and fare better.

Haste makes waste, just as surely as it did in Ben Franklin's day. And the longest way around is still often the shortest way home.

In fine, if you would be (1) efficient, (2) skillful, (3) healthy, (4) unworried, (5) safe, (6) agreeable to others, (7) well bred, and (8) happy—don't hurry.

But keep moving.

OH, THESE WOMEN

By LEOLA ALLARD.

FROM Rockford, Ill., a lady writes me that she enjoys "Oh These Women," but she wishes she could hear something about "Oh These Men," and she tells me that she not only hears, but KNOWS that men are doing everything to improve their looks and figures. She bolsters up her statement with this:

"I myself WAS married to a man who wore corsets, so I know all about it. I tried to laugh him out of it, but it was no use. I came to look upon the fact with indifference, and he says his health improved when he wore corsets and long stockings."

She then explains that he certainly presented a trim figure, and was very neat in his corsets. He had no baywindow but a fine chest expansion.

She doesn't say she IS married to him. She says "I WAS married to him." But she does approve the corsets.

The lady suggests that in time we will see advertisements for pink and blue corsets for men, and for garters in flesh, pink and blue.

"Of course," she adds, "these things will be a little different from what the women wear in corsets, or used to wear, but men are getting so vain they are certain to come back to the days when the men wore wigs, muffs, laces and corsets, and their white satin evening coats were adorned with jeweled gins."

As a matter of fact men in the days when those things were the fashion were not effeminate. They were brave and fine and it must have been something about the clothes that made them more gallant, more romantic, better balcony singers, and perfect darlings at dueling over the ladies. And what love letters those boys could write!

There isn't any need for the ladies to mourn. Let them go back to corsets and wigs. We should care!

In Los Angeles, a woman who sells corsets says that for years she has had regular male customers, who are never without several corsets. She refused to say what color, but the guess is baby blue. At any rate figures make a difference out in the West where men are movie actors.

Men do wear face powder. Any wife will tell you that if her husband is ashamed to buy it himself, he will use hers. Few men travel without—not the old-fashioned talcum—but ladies' face powder, because it sticks better and makes their faces softer. The shine doesn't come back so easily.

And a Chicago department store with a men's store, says that the store sells more long woolen stockings to men than to women. Men fasten the long hose to their underclothing and keep warm in the winter without wearing heavy underwear or extra heavy overcoats.
